THE GREAT WAR.

CZAR HAS AT LAST BEEN HEARD FROM.

Not Unfavorable to Peace if He Can Get it on His Own Terms.

Hope Expressed at Washington that Mikado's Price Will Not Be Too High, and Influence is Being Brought to Bear Upon Him to be Generous in This, the Hour of His Great Triumph.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, June 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Startling information is conveyed in a private telegram from Manchuria. It says the Japanese have occupied Omoso, which commands the roads from Kirin to Ninguta, Vladivostok and Korea.

The Japanese must have crossed Tumen River far inland to evade the Russian outposts.

Capture of Omoso would imply severance of communications between Kirin and Ninguta and place Oyama within easy striking distance of the railway from Harbin to Vladivostok.

The correspondent of the Russkoe Slovo, telegraphing a couple of days ago from Kuntu Ling, said that the apparent withdrawal of the Japanese armies southward was believed to conceal preparations for the final onslaught.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The Czar has at last been heard from here and the result is not unfavorable to peace.

In his audience with Mr. Meyer, the American Ambassador, the Czar indicated a willingness to take under advisement the subject of peace and expressed a waram appreciation of the friendly words of Mr. Meyer, speaking as the personal envoy of the President. The reception of Mr. Meyer was characterized by the greatest cordiality and friendliness, and the Ambassador's cablegram to the President, giving a general account of the audience, is of a distinctly hopeful tone.

Mr. Meyer did not bring to the St. Petersburg government an offer of mediation, but a "friendly offer of good will," as it was described by Count Cassini, which apparently was gratifying to the Czar. Further than this, it is impossible to record the character of the cablegram.

Mr. Takahira, the Japanese Minister, called by appointment at the White House this afternoon and spent half an hour with the President. He was still unable to give the President the slightest indication regarding Japan's peace terms, but it is believed he was acquainted in a general way with the hopeful tone of Mr. Meyer's dispatch. With this as a lever, the hope is expressed here that the Mikado will meet the President half way in the earnest efforts he is making to assist in bringing about an early peace.

Early in the afternoon Baron Kaneko, the Japanese financial adviser, was received by the President and discussed the whole situation for some time. Baron Kaneko tonight said that Japan had not received, directly or indirectly, any request from Russia for a statement of peace terms. It was intimated that Japan would be loath to give any such statement until convinced that Russia was prepared to take up the question of peace with the intention of ending the war.

Later in the afternoon, Sir Mortimer Durand, the British Ambassador, saw the President, and tonight Baron Speck von Sternburg, the German Ambassador, was at the White House for nearly an hour. None of the callers would discuss their visits, and it can be stated that, with the exception of the call of Mr. Takahira, none of these visits was of great importance.

UP TO JAPAN NOW.

It is not expected that the situation will change radically in the next day or two. Until some indication comes from Japan of her attitude in the light of the spirit shown by the Czar, the negotiations can hardly be expected to progress. Meantime, powerful though friendly influence is being brought to bear on Japan to be moderate in her demands. It has been pointed out that Japan and Russia must always be close neighbors, and that if Japan is unreasonable now in her great triumph she might again be involved in war with Russia. What effect these representations may have on the Mikado is of course only conjectural.

Strong hopes were entertained here in the highest circles that London could be relied on for active assistance in counseling moderation to Japan. These hopes have not yet been realized, although information has been received that Great Britain will welcome peace. It is still hoped, however, that some assistance from that quarter may yet be forthcoming.

Berlin and Paris are both giving loyal assistance to the efforts initiated in Washington, and the result of Berlin activity is already being felt.

Further instructions have been sent to Ambassador Meyer at St. Petersburg, but their character is not known.

Count Cassini called at the French embassy today, where he had a long talk on the situation with Ambassador Jusserand. The Russian Ambassador has not yet made an appointment with the President and it is impossible to obtain any information regarding the cablegrams that have reached the embassy from St. Petersburg in the last twenty-four hours.

CZAR'S NEW FLEET.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Word has been received here that Russia will have a new fleet ready for service within the next six months. It will consist of four battleships and an armored cruiser—all fresh from the stocks—and the remnant of Rojestvenky's fleet—the second class cruiser Almaz and three destroyers—that escaped and found refuge at Vladivostok.

Whether or not the Czar is counting on the services of these ships to aid in prolonging the war is a question being discussed by Washington diplomats with some interest.

The vessels now nearing completion are in Russian shipyards and were laid down in 1903 and for the past year work on them has progressed night and day. The cost of each ship will be $5,500,000. Japan has power to destroy the battleships now building before they leave the stocks by sending a squadron to the Baltic Sea.

Two armored cruisers—the Gomobai and the Rossia—are also at Vladivostok. These were badly battered by Kamimura last summer when he caught them out in the Sea of Japan, with their sister ship, Rurik, which he sunk. They have since been repaired, but did not take part in the recent great naval battle in the Korean Straits.

STATEMENT OF THE TEMPS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PARIS, June 9.—The Temps this evening, while saying it doubts that official orders have been given to the ambassadors to open peace negotiations, remarks:

"It is unquestionable that peace is occupying the most serious attention of the Russian imperial government, which no longer assumes the attitude of declining to consider the question."

The paper urges that the present moment is a favorable time to treat for peace, whereas delay will permit Japan to enter Russian territory, thus bringing up lengthy and delicate negotiations.

PRICES UP IN LONDON.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, June 8.—Trading on the Stock Exchange opened buoyant on news of peace negotiations. Prices advanced sharply in all departments, led by consols. Americans shared in the general advance.

CZAR SOON TO HEAR A LOUD, GRUFF VOICE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, June 9, 1.50 a.m.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The voice of the delegates of the zemstvos and of the municipalities demanding in no uncertain tone the immediate convocation of a national assembly to pass upon the question of peace or war, to heal internal strife and to unite the people for the rejuvenation of Russia will be heard in the address adopted by the All-Russian Zematvo Congress at Moscow which a deputation headed by Count Hayden and M. Shipoff is bringing to present to the Emperor.

The document bids fair to become historical. The customary phrases of respect at the opening and the closing are omitted and it is otherwise unceremonious, employing direct personal pronouns.

The address arraigns the bureaucracy and reminds the Emperor that his pledge to convoke a national assembly is slow of fulfillment. It says the country is on the verge of civil war and even ventures to criticise a royal measure, contrasting the increase of the police power by the ukase issued last Sunday with a weakening of the administrative process which the country had been led to expect.

The address urges the summoning of a national assembly that the war may become national or cease and concludes with a solemn reminder of the sovereign's duty to God and the fatherland and a prayer for action before it is too late.

The address is a lengthy document from which the following are extracts:

"Sire, Russia has been drawn into a disastrous way by criminal abuses and the negligence of your counsellors.

"Our army is powerless and our fleet has been annihilated, but more menacing than this extreme peril is the prospect of a civil war waged by your people against all the vices of a dangerous and ignorant bureaucracy."

Proceeding, the address declares that the Emperor's reform intentions have been distorted and miscarried, while the police have been given unrestricted power.

"Martial law has been declared," the address says, "and the path to enable the truth to reach you is barred to your subjects. . . . Sire, before it is too late, for the welfare of Russia, command a convocation of representatives of the nation elected by equal franchise, and let these elected representatives decide with you the vital question of war or peace, thus transforming the war into a national one. . . . Let them establish an agreement with you for a renovated national organization. . . . Sire, do not delay. Great is your responsibility before God, before Russia in this terrible hour of national trial."

The address will not be published in the newspapers, but its contents will be sperad with the mysterious rapidity characteristic of Russia.

Throughout the address the word "majesty" is not used, and there is not a single conventional expression of loyalty.

There is intense interest to learn whether the Emperor will receive the bearers of so bold a message, couched in terms such as have never before been used between the Emperor and his subjects.

The address is buttressed with a stream of petitions from individual zemstvos and municipalities.

The doumas of nearly all the principal cities have addressed the throne praying that the representatives of the people be summoned at once.

NO MANIFESTO, AS EXPECTED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, June 8.—Ascension Day, one of the most important of Russian religious holidays, was not marked by the appearance of the expected manifesto on the subject of the projected national assembly.

MRS. ASAY'S FORTUNE.

Millionaire Kimberly's Beneficiary Must Wait Until Suit Against Estate is Settled.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Although Mrs. Elizabeth V. Asay, who was left $500,000 by the will of Millionaire Peter L. Kimberly, received disappointing news today, when she learned that the enjoyment of her fortune will be postponed until the suit of $750,000 against the Kimberly estate is settled, A great load was lifted from her mind when Deputy Coroner D. R. Jones announced that an investigation, which he had conducted, had shown there was no irregularity in the report of Kimberly's death.

Investigation was begun when word was received by Coroner Hoffman that a certificate of death, made out after Kimberly expired in Mrs. Asay's apartments, was faulty, and should be given the attention of the coroner's office. Heirs and executors of the Kimberly estate are to defend the suit for $750,000 filed in the Circuit Court by the Great Western Gold Mining Company of California. Kimberly is alleged to have been connected with a fraudulent transaction by which the mining company was mulcted out of $2,000,000. The company's officers, it is claimed, got $1,250,000 of this, while Kimberly got $500,000 and $250,000 in cash.

FAST TRAIN WRECKED.

Spreading Rails Cause a Disaster Near Flint, Mich., in Which Several Passengers Are Injured.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

FLINT (Mich.) June 8.—Fast through train No. 3 on the Grand Trunk Railroad, bound for Chicago from the East, was wrecked near Davison, ten miles east of here, today, by spreading rails. No one was killed, but several passengers were injured, among them:

GEORGE C. BUFFIN, Grand Rapids, Mich., very seriously.

MRS. JAMES H. SHERMAN, Topeka, Kan.

MICHAEL McMULLIN, ex-policeman, Boston, dangerously.

MRS. F. A. HENIG, Fort Sheridan, Ill., hurt about the head, and, it is thought, internally.

MRS. J. L. CHRISTIE, West Newton, Mass., en route to Oakland, Cal., left arm fractured and otherwise injured about the body.

The most seriously injured are in a hospital here.

OSCAR IN REVOLT.

King Will Not Meet a Deputation.

Norway's Peaceful Revolution is Progressing Without Hitch of Consequence.

New Flag Will be Hoisted and Saluted Throughout the Land Today.

Dr. Nansen's Name is Strong With the Republicans of the Country.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

STOCKHOLM (Sweden) June 8.—[By Atlantic Cable.] King Oscar has refused to receive the deputation appointed to present him the Norwegian Storthing's address.

NORWAY'S PROGRAMME.

COUNCIL OF STATE ACTING.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHRISTIANA (Norway) June 8.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Council of State, following the action of the Storthing in dissolving the union of Norway and Sweden, proclaiming that King Oscar is no longer King of Norway, and placing the reins of government in the hands of the Council of State, is proceeding with the reorganization of government in the manner indicated in the programme which had been more or less prepared before the final step was taken by which yesterday's peaceful revolution was accomplished.

The Department of National Defense has issued a decree to the army, acquainting it with the resolution of the Storthing and the assumption of the government by the Council of State and intimating that the army must comply with the new conditions, rendering allegiance to those now conducting the government. Minister of State Loveland has been appointed Foreign Minister, and the Council of State has decided to divorce the Foreign Office from the Departments of Commerce, Navigation, etc., with which heretofore it has been amalgamated. The Council also resolved to eliminate the emblems of the union from the war flag of Norway.

The new Norwegian flag will be hoisted throughout the country at 10 a.m. tomorrow. The Council of Defense has ordered the flags over all the fortresses and warships of Norway to be saluted with twenty-one guns.

DISCUSSED AT PARIS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PARIS, June 8.—The crisis between Norway and Sweden is widely discussed by officials and diplomats here. The Swedish legation points out that the Storthing acted before consulting the people. Dr. Nansen's name is mentioned as being strong with the republican element in Norway, in case King Oscar declines to permit a Prince of the royal family to become King of Norway. The Swedish officials maintain that no member of the royal family can accept, owing to their loyalty to King Oscar.

MINISTER GUDE'S OPINION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, June 8.—The Copenhagen correspondent of the Standard has had an interview with M. Gude, Minister of Sweden and Norway to Denmark, who is a Norwegian. He says that war is impossible, and was inclined to think that the choice for a new King of Norway would fall upon Prince Charles, of Sweden, King Oscar's third son.

WELCOME TO GUSTAVE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MALMO (Sweden) June 8.—Crown Prince Gustave, on arrival here, received a tremendous ovation from a crowd of 10,000 persons.

MINISTERS TO RESIGN.

KING MOVED BY LETTER.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHRISTIANIA, June 8.—[By Atlantic Cable.] It is announced that Dude, Minister at Copenhagen, who is a Norwegian, has decided to resign, and it is assumed that Grip, Minister at Washington; Von Ditten, Minister at Rome, and Baron von Wedel-Jarlsporg, Minister at Madrid, who also are Norwegians, will tender their resignations.

Mr. Paulsen, Premier Michaelsen's secretary, has returned from Stockholm, where he went to hand to King Oscar the letter announcing the decision of the Norwegian government. He says that the King opened the letter and read the first few lines. He then appeared to be deeply moved, and asked his secretary to read it aloud. At the conclusion of the reading, His Majesty vented his feelings in unrestrained terms, but soon became calmer, and spoke amiably to the Norwegian gentlemen present, ar suring them of his increasing affection for Norway and the Norwegian people.

The Aftenposten Stockholm correspondent says that last week the Swedish Foreign Office instructed the ministers at foreign courts to inquire as to the attitude the government to which they were accredited would assume in the event of the secession of Norway.

The Storthing this afternoon empowered the president of the House to forward to King Oscar the address adopted yesterday and covering memorandum.

Two Norwegian gentlemen who were appointed to attend Prince Gustavus Adolphus, eldest son of the Crown Prince, at his marriage to Princess Margaret Victoria of Connaught, will, pending instructions, remain here, instead of accompanying the Prince to London.

The prayer book of the Norwegian church has been modified in accordance with the change in the political situation, the prayers for the royal family being omitted.

The ecclesiastical authorities have issued a notice calling on the clergy at the first celebration of divine service after the deposition of the King, to offer an appropriate prayer for the Fatherland.

STOCKHOLM AND KING.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

STOCKHOLM, June 8.—Inhabitants of Stockholm, to the number of several thousand, assembled in front of Rosendal Castle this evening, and made a demonstration of their loyalty and affection for King Oscar. His Majesty, accompanied by Queen Sophia, Crown Prince Gustave and other members of the royal family, appeared on a balcony of the castle and were greeted by the national anthem, which was sung by the enormous crowd, accompanied by brass bands.

The King listened to a short address, to which he replied in a voice loud and clear, but shaken by emotion. His Majesty assured his subjects of his deep gratitude for their demonstrations of love, and in conclusion said: "Long live our ancient, glorious and loyal country, so good and so dear. Long live Sweden!"

Thunderous cheers greeted the close of the speech. The King then called for cheers for "our beloved grandson, Prince Gustavus Adolphus," (who is to marry Princess Margaret of Connaught,) which were heartily given. The national anthem was repeated, and a march past followed, which lasted until a late hour, the crowds incessantly acclaiming King Oscar as they passed under the balcony.

DR. NANSEN'S HOPE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, June 9.—Dr. Fridjof Nansen, the Arctic explorer, in a telegram to a london paper, says what happened in Norway could be no longer avoided.

"The crown," he says, "was compelled to veto the consular bill, or else it would have lost Sweden to him. We understand this without bitterness, as there is now no way back. Our hope is that the Swedish people will understand that this was the best solution of the difficult crisis, for the continuance of the quarrel between the two countries would be a perpetual danger and weakness."

SEEKING A RULER.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

COPENHAGEN, June 8.—It is reported that the Norwegian government, in view of King Oscar's apparently dednite refusal to consider the offer of the Storthing to place a Prince of the house of Bernadotte on the throne, has privately approached the Danish royal family to ascertain if an offer of the throne would be received by a member of it, preferably Prince Charles, son of Crown Prince Frederick. The general opinion expressed here is that such an offer would be refused.

According to reports from Stockholm, King Oscar may be induced to reverse his decision and to favorably regard the offer of the throne for a member of his house.

Authoritative information received from Norwegian circles represents the majority of Norwegians as opposed to giving the throne to a Prince of the house of Bernadotte. It is stated that if King Oscar should definitely refuse the throne for a member of his family and if the Danish royal family should likewise refuse to place one of its Princes on it, Norway will become a republic, and that this is favored by the mass of the population.

DENVER, June 8.—The 24th annual convention of the National Electric Light Association today elected the following officers: President, William H. Blood, Jr., Seattle; first vice-president, Arthur W. Williams, New York; second vice-president, E. Dudley Farrand, Newark, N. J.; secretary and treasurer, W. L. Elgin, Philadelphia. Executive committee, to serve three years: C. L. Edgar, Boston; John Martin, San Francisco; Frank W. Fruesuff, Denver. The delegates varied their work by holding a discussion of the different methods of advertising the electric-light business. A number of ways were suggested, but all agreed that newspaper advertising was the most beneficial. A number of papers on technical matters pertaining to electricity were read.

WILL PAY TAX TO INDIANS.

MUSKOGEE (I. T.) June 8.—Mayor Fite has dismissed the charges against the Indian police arrested by the city authorities, charged with assault in closing the stores of merchants who refused to pay the tribal tax. There will be no further arrests. Inspector Wright received telegraphic instructions from Secretary Hitchcock today to proceed with the collection of the taxes. This afternoon, Wright gave out the statement that there would be no further action taken until tomorrow afternoon, when all business houses where the tax is not paid will be closed. He has the entire Indian police force here to back up his orders. There seems to be a general understanding that the merchants will pay the tax.

ANTI-CIGARETTE LAW DECISION.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 8.—Judge James Leathers of the Marion County Superior Court today decided in the case of the State vs. W. W. Lowry, indicted for smoking a cigarette, that the anti-cigarette law passed by the last Legislature is unconstitutional except wherein it is in conflict with the interstate commerce law. Smokers may import cigarettes from other States and smoke them, but it is held unlawful to sell or give them away.

TURNS HYDE TO SHEKELS.

Equitable Situation May Lead Him to Sell Out.

George Gould is Approached as a Purchaser.

A. W. Krech Denies the Scandal Allegations.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Sun says: "It was learned on unquestionable authority, late tonight, that negotiations with George Gould to buy James Hazen Hyde's stock in the Equitable Life Assurance Society have been reopened, and that every effort will be made today to consummate the bargain."

NEW YORK, June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Facing a situation far more desperate than he has heretofore realized, James Hazen Hyde has at last been brought to consider the sale of his stock in the Equitable Life Assurance Society, and a strong syndicate, composed of the best-known financial leaders in Wall street, is being organized for the purpose of making him an offer. The acceptance of this offer will result in Hyde's retirement from the society and the severance of all connections built up for him by his father.

Some time ago Hyde was offered $5,000,000 for his stock, but this he refused, stating at the time that twice that amount would not induce him to leave the Equitable. His decision to consider the offer to be made by the syndicate is based upon his knowledge that, at this time, this may be the only solution of the problem that has developed in the last few months, and which threatens the property of the society. He is fully aware of what the report of State Superintendent Hendricks will contain, and knows that it will demand his resignation from the society. His refusal to accede to this demand will result in throwing the society into litigation with the State that will keep the deplorable condition of the society before the public for years.

The society is now making a wild scramble for cover. Tomorrow's meeting of the Board of Directors will undoubtedly be devoted to preparing to meet other raking denunciations in Hendricks's report by altering present conditions as much as possible, so as to conform to what will be insisted upon by that report. A specific resolution providing for an immediate reduction of the excessive salaries paid to officers of the society will be one of the first adopted, while action will be taken along other lines to clean house as quickly as possible, in conformity with the demands of the report.

The nominating committee named at the last meeting of the board Wednesday met today, Senator Depew, August Belmont and David H. Moffatt being present. While no action was taken, the discussion narrowed down to four names and tomorrow the committee will be in a position to place before the board the name of a candidate who will accept the offer to become "Overlord" of the Equitable, and bear the brunt of straightening out its affairs. The latest name mentioned in connection with this place is that of Alton B. Parker, but the name submitted will in all probability be that of Judge George Gray of Delaware. A representative of the Hyde forces went to Philadelphia and conferred with a friend of Judge Gray, who promised to give the nominating committee an answer from Judge Gray this afternoon. Judge Gray has been offered a salary of $100,000 a year, and will have all the powers now vested in the president, as well as other powers which, it is believed, will result in bringing about a restoration of public confidence in the society.

So far, nearly every candidate approached has insisted upon the resignations of President Alexander, Vice-President Hyde and Second Vice-President Tarbell before consenting to accept the position of chairman of the board of directors. Judge Gray, it is believed, has made no such conditions.

OTHER NAMES CONSIDERED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, June 8.—It is understood that among the names under consideration today were those of Paul Morton, who is soon to retire, as Secretary of the Navy, and Gen. Horace Porter, former Ambassador to France.

President James W. Alexander and Vice-President James H. Hyde were examined today by State Superintendent of Insurance Hendricks, whose inquiry into the affairs of the society is drawing to a close.

Among the developments of the day was the announced resignation of Robert T. Lincoln from the board of directors, the cancellation of a $50,000 policy by Melville E. Ingalls, recently resigned as a director, and a statement by Alvin W. Krech, president of the Equitable Trust Company and a director of the Equitable Life, that there was absolutely no truth in the published report that the inquiry of the State Department would show a new impropriety, involving $10,000,000.

KRECH'S DENIAL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, June 8.—Alvin W. Krech, president of the Equitable Trust Company, and a director of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, made a statement today with reference to a story printed to the effect that at yesterday's meeting of the directors of the Equitable, a member intimated that the report of the State Superintendent of Insurance would show a new impropriety involving $10,000,000. Krech said: "There is absolutely no truth in the statement. No mention of an impropriety involving $10,000,000 was made at the meeting of the directors Wednesday. I know absolutely nothing of a $10,000,000 scandal, or any other scandal in which the Equitable Trust Company of New York has the slightest connection."

August Belmont, Senator Chauncey M. Depew and David H. Moffatt, three of the five members of the committee appointed to name a chairman of the board of directors, were in conference at President Alexander's office today. It was said that Louis Fitzgerald and J. B. Forgan, the remaining members of the committee, probably will get to town later in the day.

GREENE COPPER PROFITS.

BOSTON (Mass.) June 8.—Gaten L. Stone, a director of the Greene Consolidated Company, says that the company's estimated profits in May were about $220,000 or about $45,000 in excess of the month's proportion of the dividends. This profit in May was earned, notwithstanding an abnormal expense for timbering of more than $100,000. The outlook now is for an output of 6,000,000 pounds monthly for the next few months, or a profit of well above $300,000 a month while 15 cent copper lasts.

EDITORIAL TALKS FULL OF GINGER.

Benn of Philadelphia Starts Fight Over Quay and Pennypacker Libel Statute—Carr of Indiana Demands Respect for Law in General.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

GUTHRIE (Okla.) June 8.—The action of James A. Benn, city editor of the Philadelphia North American, in injecting State politics into an address before the National Editorial Association here, today, has caused a fight in the Pennsylvania delegation, which may be carried before the association tomorrow.

The subject of Benn's address was "Muzzles in Pennsylvania," and his attack was directed against the late Senator Matthew S. Quay and his biographer, Gov. Pennypacker. His action took Quay's friends in the convention completely by surprise, but they assert that they will present a resolution tomorrow condemning Benn's course.

Benn, in his address, reviewed the organization of the Quay machine and the events leading up to the passage of the Pennypacker libel law. He blamed Quay for this severe law, claiming that it was Quay's Governor that instigated it. He closed by saying: "There never was a Quay or Pennypacker born who could form or invent a measure that would restrict the liberty of the press or hamper it in its constitutional right of public utterance. If the Quays of Pennsylvania desire unsmirched biographies, let them leave behind them records free from stain. If the Pennypackers of Pennsylvania or any other commonwealth in this union desire to effectually muzzle the press, they must hie themselves to some other land than that in the fundamental law of which it is written 'The freedom of the press ought not to be restricted.'"

President Screws delivered his annual address this morning. Among other addresses was that of J. W. Carr of Anderson, Ind., president of the Department of Superintendents of the National Educational Association, on "The Public School and the Public Press." He said, in part:

"Disregard for law is the most common, the most insidious and the most dangerous of all our national sins. It is so widespread and affects so many classes that if it is not kept down it will become a positive menace to society. It manifests itself in various ways and in all parts of our country. Children in many homes defy parental authority. Demagogues are all too frequently elected to office only to betray the people they are supposed to serve. Great labor organizations sometimes rush into unwise and unjustifiable strikes, resulting in loss of property, acts of violence and all too frequently terminating in bloodshed and murder.

"Some business men and so-called 'good citizens' resort to bribery and all sorts of finesse in order to obtain valuable franchises and other public utilities without adequate compensation to the people.

"Great corporations sometimes rise to opulence and power by resorting to espionage, bribery, oppression and crimes of various sorts.

"But in whatever form, whether as riots, or mobs, or whitecapping, or lynchings, or the evasion of the liquor laws, or perjury, or rebates to shippers, or tax-dodging, or vote-buying, or the prostitution of official position, or the purchase of legislatures, it is all one thing—disregard for law.

"Now, if this national disease is to be cured, we must go to the very root of the matter. Children must be taught obedience and respect for law and constituted authority. There must be better discipline in the home and in the public schools. I do not plead for the sternness, harshness and brutality of the old-time discipline, but even that is preferable to much of our soft sentimentality that causes us to be afraid to spank 'Johnnie' for fear he will 'die,' or will never love us any more. But 'Johnnie' will not 'die,' and he will grow the stronger in character and love because his parents and teachers have taught him a wholesome regard for law. The public schools will fail, miserably fail if there is not proper discipline in them. Chicago has banished the rods from the schools, but she has not done away with the policeman's club and the fixed bayonets of an armed soldiery.

"The public press can assist greatly in the maintenance of proper discipline in the schools. If the press insists that there shall be proper discipline; if it refrains from giving undue publicity in magnified form to every little case that arises; if it refuses to champion the cause of every callow youth who fails to pass in his studies, or has been spanked or suspended on account of his misconduct; if it declines to give the use of its columns to Tom, Dick and Harry, in order that they may air their grievances or get even with their teacher—such a policy will aid teachers and school officials, not only in the maintenance of proper discipline in the schools, but in the development of citizens that will respect and obey the law after they leave the schools.

"While the public press can assist teachers greatly in training children to respect and obey law, still it has a greater privilege and a higher duty to perform—it is to demand that adults obey the law, and that no class be privileged to disregard it. This duty and this responsibility can no more be evaded than the sentinel can evade responsibility for the welfare of the army while he is on picket duty in the presence of the enemy. I believe this problem to be of such importance that the history of our country will be affected by the solution that is given."

DROWNED LIKE RATS IN TRAP.

MANY LIVES LOST IN ACCIDENT TO BRITISH SUBMARINE.

Fourteen Find Watery Grave When Disaster Overtakes the "A 8" Off Plymouth Breakwater—Third Mishap of Kind Experienced by British Navy.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PLYMOUTH, (Eng.) June 8.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Submarine boat "A 8" was lost off the breakwater here this morning. She had on board eighteen officers and men, including her regular crew and men who were in training. Fourteen or the number were drowned. The others were picked up.

The disaster occurred while the "A 8" was proceeding to sea for practice, accompanied by another submarine boat and a torpedo boat. Three explosions were seen from the shore to occur on board the "A 8," which suddenly disappeared. Tugs and divers immediately proceeded to the scene.

The submarine boat lies in eighteen fathoms of water.

The first intimation of the disaster came from the boat herself, signalling that she was submerged and could not come to the surface. A signal was received shortly before noon which said: "All right up to the present time." Diving parties immediately proceeded to the scene.

Those who were saved were standing in the vicinity of the conning tower at the time of the disaster and were picked up by a passing trawler. They were Lieut. Candy, commander of the boat; Sub-Lieut. Murdock, a petty officer and a seaman.

The lost boat was of about 300 tons displacement and was launched in 1904.

A heavy explosion occurred over the position where the submarine boat sank and there is no hope of saving any of the men who were carried down with her.

The explosion at first reported was believed to have been caused by the escape of gasoline, similar to those of the "A 5."

One of the survivors says he was unable to explain the cause of the accident to the "A 8." He added that she suddenly dipped while the hatches were open and immediately filled and sank. The man added:

"Lieut. Candy came to my assistance when I was almost exhausted and kept me afloat until we were picked up by the trawler."

This is the third submarine boat destroyed within a little more than a year, the others being the "A 1," run down by a liner in the Solant, by which eleven officers and men were entombed in the bottom of the sea, and the "A 5," which sank off Queenstown after an explosion by which six of her crew were killed.

VON BUELOW'S INHERITANCE.

BERLIN, June 8.—Prince Von Buelow, the German Chancellor, received notice on June 5 that the amount of his inheritance under the will of the late Herr Godfrey, the Hamburg millionaire, is $1,375,000. This was the same day that Emperor William gave him his patent of prince. The Prince was a comparatively poor man, relying almost wholly upon his salary as Chancellor and the allowance attached to his position. Two reasons, it was formerly said, why Von Buelow preferred not to be created a prince were that the dignity of the rank required a large fortune to properly sustain it, and that he had no children to whom he could transmit the title. Herr Godfrey's entire property is valued by the executors at about $6,500,000, of which $2,500,000 goes to other heirs and $2,500,000 to charities.

KAISER SMILES ON FRENCH.

BERLIN, June 8.—Emperor William again took Gen. De la Croix and other members of the French special mission to the wedding of the Crown Prince to Doerbertz today to see the exercises of the troops there, and for the second time entertained the French visitors at breakfast. The Emperor engaged Gen. De la Croix in animated conversation. Although these attentions to the Frenchmen are noticed with interest by the diplomatic corps, no special political meaning is given to them because of the fact that they are fresh expressions of the Emperor's desire to be on better terms with France.

FIRE IN RIO GRANDE TUNNEL.

DENVER, June 8.—Word has been received at the general offices of the Denver and Rio Grande that a fire has broken out among the timbers in the tunnel at Ruby, twenty-four miles west of Grand Junction, and has temporarily tied up traffic between Denver and Salt Lake City. The tunnel is only 580 feet in length, and arrangements have been made for transferring passengers from one side to the other. The origin of the fire is unknown, and it is fast burning itself out. It will be several days before traffic through the tunnel will be resumed.

TO OBSERVE SUN'S ECLIPSE.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Rear Admiral Colby N. Chester, superintendent of the Naval Observatory, today hoists his flag on the cruiser Minneapolis, which, with the gunboat Dixie and the collier Caesar, will sail in a few days with the expedition which is to observe the eclipse of the sun August 29 and 30 for the government. Stations will be established at Bona, Algeria, and Valencia, Spain. One of these will be in charge of Capt. John A. Morris and the other of Prof. Bigelow of the Weather Bureau.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Congress party returned tonight from the Tonto Basin trip, tired from the 140 miles' ride, but happy, calling themselves "rainmakers" for upon them had fallen the only June rain known in Central Arizona for twenty years.

They were guests tonight at an elaborate reception, that developed much of good in the speechmaking line. Senator Flint declared himself Senator from California and Arizona. Congressman Mondell put himself on record as against joint Statehood with New Mexico. Though he had voted for Joint Statehood he would do so never again. Jones of Washington, who had been in the same boat, only said: "I know what you want, and I am with you." Cooper of Pennsylvania, who had voted for union with New Mexico, said about the same thing but in more diplomatic language. Senator Dubois of Idaho told how Senator Gallinger, in the chair, muzzled Beveridge when the joiners had a majority in the Senate.

Altogether, it has been a great day for good, and Arizona has made much political medicine. All the speakers praised the dam site and the country that dam would irrigate. But far more stress was laid upon their understanding of the political wants of the Arizona. It was agreed by all that efforts to push next session the measure for independent Statehood would be nothing short of suicidal.

PERSONNEL OF PARTY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) June 8.—The members of the Congress Irrigation Committee and others touring the West under the direction of C. J. Blanchard of the Reclamation Service returned this evening at 4:30 o'clock from a side trip to the site of Roosevelt reservoir, for which point they left here Tuesday morning.

The personnel of the party is: Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Blanchard, Washington; Senator Francis G. Newlands, Nevada; Senator Fred T. Dubois, Idaho; Representative Frank W. Mondell, Wyoming; Representative and Mrs. Alvin F. Cooper, Pennsylvania; Representative and Mrs. Weseley L. Jones, Washington; Judge and Mrs. James I. Parker, Interior Department; Mr. and Mrs. Harry T. Brown, Mr. Brown being Washington correspondent of the Portland Oregonian; Arthur Ruhl, Collier's Weekly; C. G. Rowley, Jackson, Mich.; Chairman of the Committee on Public Lands and Irrigation of the National Association of Manufacturers; Elwood Mead, in charge of irrigation investigations of the Department of Agriculture.

Senator Flint, M. J. Doran and W. H. Code, all of Los Angeles, the last named an engineer in the reclamation service, who arrived here yesterday, went to Mesa City this afternoon in company of the local Reception Committee, including Gov. Kibbey, who accompanied it to Roosevelt, and returning joined the Mesa gathering. A few minutes later they took the train for Phoenix. Arriving, they spent the hour before dark in street-car rides to the Territorial Capitol and other points. After dinner there will be a reception at the Hotel Adams, at the conclusion of which the party will take a special train for Yuma, Senator Flint, Engineer Sanders and W. J. Doran accompanying.

PROGRAMME AT YUMA.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

YUMA (A. T.) June 8.—The California delegation to greet the Congress Committe on Irrigation arrived at Yuma at 9:30 this evening. The Congress party will arrive here at 5:30 tomorrow morning.

The programme for the day includes a drive to the Blaisdell Ranch. Returning, a steamer will be taken to visit the Laguna dam site. Dinner will be given by the United States Reclamation Service.

The visit of the committe has caused no little interest in Yuma. A large number of representative citizens turned out to greet the California delegation on its arrival. Never at one time has there been so many prominent Californians in this city.

A singular incident occurred today upon the approach of the party to the overflowed Salton sink, some of the members at first taking it for the mirage. The water is overflow from the irrigation systems at Imperial and presents the appearance of an inland sea. It covers no less than 150 square miles and is still rising. A portion of the salt works at Salton is surrounded by water.

J. W. Erwin, lecturer of the California Promotion Committee, is gathering facts about this section which will be shown throughout the East.

MAESTRETTI'S TRIAL.

DEFENDANT IS EXAMINED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8.—The greater portion of today's trial of Frank A. Maestretti, Commissioner of Public Works, charged with subornation of perjury, was devoted to an examination of the defendant.

Maestretti admited that after the primary election in August he had talked with Charles Wyman, an election officer who had been arrested for ballot box stuffing, and asked him how his case would come out.

"I took an interest in Wyman because he was an old friend of mine," said the witness. "I did not instruct anybody or request them to swear falsely regarding the election."

District Attorney Byington took the witness on cross examination.

The jurors in the case will be kept in charge of the Sheriff until after they have rendered a verdict.

It is expected that the arguments in the case will commence tomorrow afternoon.

DEATH IN HOTEL FIRE.

BAD BLAZE IN OREGON TOWN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ROSEBURG (Or.) June 8.—The Overland Hotel at Myrtle Creek was destroyed by fire today. Miss Hattie Dement, one of the proprietors, was burned to death and several other persons more or less burned or injured, and a number of others narrowly escaped with their lives by jumping from the building, leaving their effects to the flames. The injured are:

WILLIAM MANCHESTER, badly burned about face and hands.

HENRY MANCHESTER, hands quite badly burned.

J. M. HOFFMAN, slight flesh cut on left side and severe burn on right hand.

F. SILVERSTONE, San Francisco, commercial traveler, badly burned and limbs sprained through jumping from a second-story window.

The origin of the fire cannot be learned, though from the statement of the night clerk and other employes, who state that there were no lights in the house, the belief is growing that the fire was of incendiary origin.

SLOPE BRIEFS.

Dies of Tonopah Plague.

SAN JOSE, June 8.—David C. Haig, one of the best-known builders of mining stamp mills on the Coast, who resided here many years, is dead at Hypolite, Nev., of the Tonopah plague. He leaves a family at his home in this city.

Sails for South Despite Fire.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8.—Despite the fire on the steamer State of California early yesterday morning, the vessel sailed for Southern California points on scheduled time today. The water used in extinguishing the flames was pumped from the hold and double shifts of crews were employed to make temporary repairs.

Murderously Assaults Rancher's Wife.

SALINAS, June 8.—A search is being made for Robert Freeman, aged 27, who is wanted on a charge of having committed a murderous assault on Mrs. McGowan, the wife of a wealthy rancher of the Pajaro Valley. Freeman escaped on a stolen wheel, which he sold at Watsonville. Descriptions of the man have been wired throughout the State.

New Santa Clara Valley Industry.

SAN JOSE, June 8.—The growing of truffles may become a new industry in Santa Clara Valley. An Italian truffle was found a few days ago on a mountain ranch a few miles from Mountain View. It is a fully developed specimen of the Italian variety, about as large as an ordinary orange, of a reddish-brown color, and when slightly dried weighed three and one-eighth ounces.

Pass Ordinance Against Mosquitos.

SAN MATEO, June 8.—The crusade against mosquitos in the central portion of the county has resulted in the adoption of a mosquito ordinance by the Board of Supervisors, which, is believed to be the first law of its kind enacted in the West. It defines mosquito-breeding places as nuisances, and provides for their abatement by health officers, the same as other nuisances, and fixes a penalty for its violation.

Strine's Successor is Chosen.

SACRAMENTO, June 8.—At a meeting of the State Text Book Commission, held yesterday afternoon, Superintendent of Public Instruction T. J. Kirk was instructed to send a message to Robert Furlong, formerly Superintendent of Schools of Marin county, offering him the position of secretary of the commission, at $2500 per year. It is believed Furlong will accept the position. He will succeed J. H. Strine, formerly of Los Angeles.

Goldfield Banker Charged With Theft.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8.—While every peace official in the State was searching for W. R. Hale, one of the officers of the wrecked Goldfield Trust and Security Company, he was living quietly at apartments in this city. When he left, it is charged he carried away a diamond ring, valued at $200, and a fleur-de-lis pin, worth $250. The stolen diamonds were the property of Mrs. Maggie Jameson, at whose home he was given shelter. Today, she swore to a complaint against Hale, charging him with grand larceny.

Vineyard Interests to Consolidate.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8.—A consolidation of vineyard interests in Fresno, Tulare, Contra Costa and Sacramento counties, having for its nucleus the properties of the Consolidated California Vineyard Company, is in progress, with a view to better handling and marketing of the product in eastern centers of population. The company has already in operation nearly 2000 acres of vineyard, producing all classes of California wines. The capital stock of the concern is $2,000,000, and the property is bonded for $500,000.

Drowned in Wreck of Launch.

MARSHFIELD (Or.) June 8.—James Castello, a pioneer of Coos county, whose home was at Bandon, and William Harris, of Port Orford, were drowned by the wrecking of a gasoline launch today while going to the deep-sea fishing grounds off the mouth of Coquille River. As the launch was crossing the Coquille Bar heavy seas apparently disabled the engine, and carried the frail craft onto the rocks of the south jetty. The launch was ground to pieces and Castello beaten to death on the rocks. Harris's body was not found.

PASADENA MAN ENGAGED.

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The engagement of Miss Katherine Louise Gilleland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Gilleland of Wilkinsburg, to Charles H. King of Pasadena, Cal., formerly of Pittsburgh, has been announced. No date has been fixed for the wedding.

OBITUARY.

Prince Leopold Von Hohenzollern.

BERLIN, June 8.—Prince Leopold von Hohenzollern, a cousin of Emperor William, who came to Berlin to attend the wedding of Crown Prince Frederick William and Duchess Cecilia, died suddenly tonight of apoplexy, aged 70 years. The Prince will be remembered in history as the candidate of the Spanish Cortes for the throne of Spain and as having been unwittingly the cause of the Franco-Prussian war. He lived at Sigmarien, in the original principality of Hohenzollern. He was married to the Infanta Antonia of Portugal. Emperor William called at the house of hereditary Prince William, where Prince Leopold died, and expressed his condolences.

HAMILTON'S GREAT MYSTERY.

Hamilton's great mystery—the Ely divorce affair—seems to be on the verge of solution. Miss Florence Ely has been found, according to seemingly reliable reports which were given out confidentially, to a few persons here who claims to know all the facts and developments of the famous case. Circumstantial evidence was unfolded which tends strongly to support the statement. Mrs. Clara Ely, mother of the missing woman, who disappeared with young Frank Ely on July 13, 1901, has gone to Buffalo presumably to meet her daughter or friends or relatives of the Ely's. Miss Ely is supposed to be in Buffalo, Niagara Falls or thereabouts.

MIX-UP AT ST. LOUIS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The trial of the petition of Edward A. Sprague for divorce from Mae Lillian Sprague on the grounds of an alleged confession made by her and implicating George Morton, a well-known railroad official, was begun in Judge Reynold's division of the Circuit Court today, after a series of sensational incidents. The case finally was taken under advisement, with permission granted to Mrs. Sprague to offer a defense not later than Monday. Included in the sensations were allegations of collusion between the two principals in the suit, condonement of the wife's alleged offense and the withdrawal of Mrs. Sprague's attorney, Jeptha D. Howe, from the case.

"HERESY OF CHICAGO."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EMPORIA (Kan.) June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "From the heresy of Chicago, good Lord, deliver us," said Dr. N. C. Schaeffer, the State Superintendent of the Public School system of Pennsylvania for sixteen years, in his address to the members of the Normal graduating class. The remark was made after the speaker had rapped soundly the "freak professors" of the University of Chicago, who held that education could be better advanced if the students were taught that education was principally play.

APPLETON (Wis.) June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Next Tuesday afternoon and evening, 5 per cent. of the population of Little Chute will be married and 350 Hollanders of the village, located four miles north of Appleton, already have made plans for a gala day. Sixteen young people of the village have yielded to the mysterious machinations of Cupid, and all will be wedded within a period of six hours.

CHEERED MISS ALICE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CINCINNATI (O.) June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The 3500 persons present, one-third of them women, stood up and cheered as Miss Alice Roosevelt entered the baseball grand stand this afternoon. Miss Roosevelt evidently understands the points of the game, for she watched each play with interest not to be mistaken. Orvie Overall, the California pitcher, was on his mettle, and Cincinnati won easily.

ME TOO
The "Tail Enders" That Follow Genuine Articles.

It is sometimes interesting to watch the curves imitators make to get the public to buy imitations of genuine goods.

Every now and then some one will think there is a splendid opening to fix up something like Postum Coffee and advertise the same way and take some of the business.

An imitator is naturally ignorant of food values and how to skillfully make a cereal coffee, on scientific lines.

Such men first think of preparing something that looks and tastes like the original, with no knowledge of how the grains should be treated to prepare them that so that the starchy part is transformed properly and the valuable nourishing elements made digestible.

Such imitations may be foisted on the public for a short time, but the people are critical and soon detect the attempt, then the imitators go out of business.

Something like 400 of these little factories have been started in various parts of this country in the past nine years, and practically all of them have gone the "long journey." Just lately a new one has come to life and evidently hopes to insert itself in public favor by copying the style of the Postum advertising in the papers.

This is a free country and every man who makes an honest product and honestly labels it, has reason for some recognition, but the public has the right to know the facts.

Postum is the one original and genuine Cereal Coffee, made skillfully and for a definite purpose. It has stood through all the wars of the imitators, has won the approval of the physicians and the people.

People who really seek to free themselves from the coffee habit and at the same time to rebuild the soft gray matter in the nerve centers and thus reconstruct the nervous system, broken down by coffee, can rely on Postum.

There's a reason.

WASHINGTON.

ORIENTALS FOR CANAL.

"Yellow Peril" Not Afraid of Yellow Fever.

American Labor Safe from Isthmian Trials.

Fire Breaks for Pasadena. Loomis-Bowen Case.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The President now has before him a proposition made by Minister Takahira of Japan to furnish any required number of Japanese laborers for Panama Canal work at 75 cents a day, transportation to and from the isthmus to be furnished by the Japanese government, and the United States to furnish board, housing and medical attention. This offer was made by Minister Takahira, after receiving data gathered by Consul Uyeno of San Francisco, who visited Panama in company with a Japanese army surgeon.

It is understood here that the Japanese laborers in question are now serving as soldiers in the Far East, and will be taken to Panama in army transports. Minister Takahira's offer is taken, of course, as indicating the confidence of the Japanese government that war with Russia will soon terminate.

So far as can be learned, the President is not inclined to accept the offer of the Japanese minister, on account of the opposition to the admission of Japanese laborers into the United States. If coolies were admitted to the canal zone, there would be no method under the present law of preventing them from entering the United States. Chinese coolies, on the other hand, may be employed at Panama and excluded from this country. Unless means are found of preventing the wholesale immigration of Japanese laborers into this country, it is not likely that they will be introduced into the canal zone.

NO PEONAGE POSSIBLE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Atty.-Gen. Moody has written a letter to the Secretary of War, giving his views on the general subject of peonage which it is intended will assist the Executive Committee of the Isthmian Canal Commission in making its contracts for the furnishing of labor in digging the canal, to avoid a condition of involuntary servitude under the authority of the United States. The Attorney-General quotes section one of the Thirteenth Amendment to the Constitution, which inhibits slavery or involuntary servitude, and then says that wherever the jurisdiction of the United States exists there the prohibitions of this article accompany it.

In the course of his discussion of the subject, Mr. Moody says: "It is stated that the commission proposes to import oriental labor under contract to perform labor on the canal. The condition of such laborers is not necessarily one of involuntary servitude, but it may be, and in fact usually is, a condition of involuntary servitude limited in duration. This is clearly shown by an examination of the relation of the laborer to his employer which has come to be described as coolieism in the various parts of the world where it exists."

After describing, by way of illustration, the onerous conditions imposed by the coolie law prevailing in India, the Attorney-General says that he entertains no doubt that these conditions are those of involuntary servitude, and in conclusion, says: "In the employment of labor upon the canal, the utmost care should be taken to exclude the conditions which have been indicated as those of involuntary servitude, or any other conditions of like effect or tendency."

EIGHT-HOUR LAW APPLIES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The opinion of Atty.-Gen. Moody, regarding the application of the eight-four law on the Isthmus of Panama was made public today. He holds that the act of August 1, 1892, which limits and restricts to eight hours the daily service of laborers and mechanics employed by the government of the United States or by any contractor or subcontractor upon the public works of the United States, applies to the employment of laborers and mechanics in the construction of the Panama Canal.

That act, however, the Attorney-General holds, does not apply to the office force of the Isthmian Canal Commission stationed on the Isthmus of Panama, or to any of the employés of the government who are not within the ordinary meaning of the words "laborers and mechanics." Also, that the scope of the act is not limited by the territorial jurisdiction of Congress.

In answer to the request of the Secretary of War for an opinion on the additional question of whether the provisions of the act mentioned apply to the hours of labor of "mechanics and laborers" employed in the construction, maintenance and operation of the Panama Railroad and steamship line, the Attorney-General decides in the negative.

As to whether the eight-hour law applies to that class of employés whose services are necessary before and after the regular hours at work, such as engineers, who must get up steam in the morning before the regular hours begin and clean the machinery after the day's work is done, the Attorney-General says: "It is believed that, giving to the words the meaning which is ordinarily accepted for them, and having in mind that the act should not be extended beyond its plain terms, the commission will have no difficulty in determining in each case as it arises, whether the employé is a laborer or mechanic, or whether his duties are such as to warrant some other designation of his employment."

LOOMIS-BOWEN CASE.

RUSSELL TO BE HEARD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 8.—After a conference with the President today, Secretary Taft, who returned last night from his Virginia trip, said that he had received a telegram from Mr. Russell, United States Minister to Colombia, announcing his arrival at Hampton Roads, and saying that he would reach Washington tomorrow. Secretary Taft said that, on the arrival of Minister Russell, he would call Secretary Loomis and Mr. Bowen for a conference in regard to the Loomis-Bowen case. Minister Russell is the last witness to be examined.

Secretary Taft did not indicate when he would make his report to the President. It is not known that the evidence to be given by Mr. Russell to all intents and purposes is now in the hands of Secretary Taft, so that his examination would be purely a formal matter.

Secretary Taft said he had no information whatever as to the progress of peace negotiations between Russia and Japan.

PASADENA FIRE BREAKS.

EFFORT TO SAVE FORESTRY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] For protection of forest plantations recently made in the mountains back of Pasadena, a system of fire breaks is being constructed. They follow the sharp "backbone" of the main ridges, and are strips on which brush is grubbed out for a width of from twelve to thirty feet, with connecting trails or secondary lines where needed. This is the first systematic and extensive work of the fire line construction attempted in these mountains, and the cost thus far has been very reasonable.

SLAVS SURPRISED.

Russian Fleet Was Steaming Peacefully Along When Togo Appeared on Scene and Began His Work of Awful Destruction.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

MANILA, June 8.—[By Pacific Cable.] From stories told by the Russians who escaped from the sea fight in the Korean Straits, it appears that the Japanese completely surprised the Russian fleet. The Russians were steaming peacefully along. There was no sign of the Japanese fleet and the Russian ships were not cleared for action, nor were the batteries manned. The attack came with a suddenness that made the unpreparedness of the Russians for battle a glaring mistake that never could be corrected.

Two lines of torpedo boats suddenly appeared and encircled the Russian fleet. The rapid-fire batteries were turned loose, but with apparently little effect on the Japanese boats. Over the approaching torpedo boats came a hail of ten-inch and thirteen-inch shells from the Japanese war vessels in the distance.

The torpedo boats immediately advanced at full speed, one division going in a westerly and another in an easterly direction. The Russian cruisers and battleships prepared to repel the attack. The cruisers manned their port batteries and the battleships their starboard batteries. No attempt was made to prepare the batteries on the other side of the ships and it was here the Russians blundered.

When the Japanese torpedo boats came within firing distance, the Russians opened fire. Then it was the Japanese executed a maneuver that threw the Russians into confusion. The two encircling lines met south of the Russians, but instead of continuing in that direction, they turned at a signal from Togo and at full speed charged between the three lines of Russian ships, one division passing between the cruisers and the line of hospital ships and transports and another division passing between the transports and the battleships on the other side.

The Russian ships were unprepared for an attack of this character, and for a time were helpless against the discharge of Japanese torpedoes. Hardly a cruiser or battleship remained unscathed. The Russians were completely demoralized, and during the last dash of the torpedo boats not a shot was fired to stop them.

In the meantime, Togo, with his battleships and cruisers, encircled the Russian fleet and with his big guns completed the work of destruction.

In the matter of the disarmament and internment of the Russian warships here, Rear-Admiral Train will probably take the breechlocks from the guns and disconnect the engines.

The Russian officers will be patrolled within the limits of the islands, while the crews of the vessels, on the given word of Rear-Admiral Enquist, will be paroled within the city limits.

WHY JESSEN DIDN'T FIGHT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

VLADIVOSTOK, June 8.—Failure of the Vladivostok squadron to put to sea and effect a diversion in favor of Ad Admiral Rojestvensky at the time of the recent battle is explained to have been due to the utter absence of knowledge on the part of Rear-Admiral Jessen as to whether Rojestvensky intended to circle Japan or attempt to force a passage through the Straits of Korea. Jessen at no time was informed of the Russian commander's plans, and was unable to coöperate with him.

Officers of the Russian cruiser Almaz and the torpedo-boat destroyers which reached Vladivostok, say the Russian fleet was constantly under Japanese surveillance after it reached far eastern waters, and whenever it was not at anchor suspicious ships were seen on the horizon. It was only May 23 that Admiral Rojestvensky announced that he intended to break through to Vladivostok, but he gave no orders and did not indicate the manner in which he proposed to accomplish his task. The Russian torpedo-boat destroyer Bravi owes its escape to taking the western channel.

CAPTURED SHIPS RENAMED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, June 8.—The Tokio correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says he now learns that owing to the rough sea Japanese submarine boats were not used effectively in the naval battle.

The same correspondent says that the captured Russian vessels have been renamed as follows: From Orel to Iwani; from Nikolas I to Iki; from Admiral Apraxin to Okinoshima; from Admiral Senavin to Minoshima.

SLAVS FREE IN CONFUSION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, June 8, 1 p.m.—Imperial army headquarters made the following announcement today:

"At 11:30 o'clock on the morning of June 7, a body of Russians, some 100 strong, advanced from the direction of Cumiaotsz, about a mile and a quarter east of Yinyipienmen, but were met and repulsed by us on an eminence lying north of that place. The enemy fled in confusion toward Nienyiling, seven miles northeast of Yinyipienmen. One soldier and two saddle horses were captured.

"With the exception of skirmishes between scouts on both sides, there is no change to report elsewhere."

VLADIVOSTOK NOT CAST DOWN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. Peterburg, June 8.—According to a correspondent at Vladivostok, the Russian naval disaster and the anticipated beginning of the siege of Vladivostok are in no way reflected in the attitude of the population. On the streets, there is the usual noise and bustle of the promenading crowds, while at night the circus, comic opera and dance halls are running at full blast. The correspondent closes his comment with saying:

"What is it? Disconcern or indifference?"

NEW YORK, June 8.—Lieut.-Col. Ager, Royal Engineers, arrived here today on the steamer Majestic, on his way to Manchuria to join the British army representatives with the Japanese force in the field. The Earl of Caithness also was a passenger on the Majestic.

RUSSIANS DISLODGED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TOKIO, June 9, 9:30 a.m.—Army headquarters has given out the following:

"A detachment of our force which advanced from Lianshuichnan two miles east of Chenchengtsu, dislodging one company of foot and fifty horse of the enemy, holding the hills north of that place, at 3 o'clock on the morning of June 7 ocupied an eminence east of Chapangan and four miles northeast of Chenchengtsu.

"At 6 o'clock on the same morning the enemy attempted an attack on Soufangtai, ten miles north of Changtu and on Taaotun, five miles northwest of Changtu, and on Shihtiuti, two miles north of Taaotun.

"All attacks were repulsed."

CURRENCY-STANDARD RULING.

NEW YORK, June 8.—A protest brought by Chicago importers in which the standard of currency of Greece was brought up, has been overruled by the Board of United States General Appraisers. In rendering decision for the board, Judge Somerville declared that no allowance can be made to importers on any importations for depreciated currency in the absence of a currency certificate issued by the American Consul. The importers claimed in their protest that the goods were purchased with the paper-currency paper of Greece and that it should have been taken by the collector at a discount of about 62 per cent., as compared with the standard coin, the drachma.

Example in Subtraction.

A teacher in a western public school was giving her class the first lesson in subtraction.

"Now in order to subtract," she explained, "things have to always be of the same denomination. For instance we couldn't take three apples from four pears nor six horses from nine dogs."

A hand went up in the back part of the room.

"Teacher," shouted a small boy, "can't you take four quarts of milk from three cows?"—[Harper's Weekly.

MERCHANTS WANT NEW CHINESE TREATY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, June 8.—The board of directors of the Merchants' Association today adopted a resolution favoring reciprocity treaties with the principal European nations and providing for the appointment of a committee to urge Congress to adopt them and to solicit the coöperation of other commercial bodies in the movement.

A resolution was also adopted declaring that "as the present foreign outlet for American manufactures, particularly cotton goods, is restricted, and as the market, which promises an immense expansion in the near future, China, is in danger, it is the sense of this association that existing laws of the United States, excluding Chinese subjects of a class whose immigration is not subjected to restriction by the terms of the treaty, are harsh, unreasonable, wrongfully violative of the sacred obligations of a treaty, and detrimental to the best interests of the people of the United States; and this association therefore earnestly urges upon Congress their repeal and recommends the negotiation of a new treaty with China, one which, while providing for the proper regulation of undesirable Chinese immigration, shall likewise permit freedom of entry and of domicile upon the part of Chinese not of the laboring classes, with whom the maintenance of friendly relations is of prime importance to the development of the business interests of this country."

LIVE WIRE KILLS MAN IN DISASTROUS FIRE.

ONE man, as yet unidentified, lost his life as a result of a fire which completely destroyed the plant of the Santa Fé Planing Mill Company, owned by S. C. Dodge & Co., Nos. 950 to 960 East Fourth street, at 2 o'clock this morning. The fatal accident was due to the carelessness of the victim. He was not caught in the fire and burned to death, but was struck by a live wire, and before the eyes of scores of people who were watching the firemen at work, he dropped dead in his tracks. Several members of the fire department also received severe shocks, but none of them was seriously injured.

The fire originated in the planing-mill office at the corner of Fourth and Carolina streets. The cause of it is not known. It was discovered by Charles Wood, a dairyman who was driving past the place, and he sent in the alarm. The first alarm was followed by half a dozen or more from boxes in that part of the city, even a box as far away as Ninth and Figueroa streets being pulled.

By the time the firemen reached the place the entire mill and the surrounding lumber yard was in flames, and it was possible only to prevent the spread of the fire to nearby structures. A grocery across the street owned by W. C. Longstreth was seriously damaged, the heat from the blazing mill being so great that the grocery was ignited.

While the firemen were working on the Carolina street side of the building, a man whose identity has not been learned, started to assist them to drag a line of hose. Just as he dropped the hose and started back, the cross-arm on an electric pole burned off letting the live wires drop to the street. One of the wires caught the man and he was instantly killed. It was with great difficulty that his body was taken from under the wire.

The loss will exceed $25,000, but it could not be learned this morning if there is any insurance on the property.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

The four charged with felony were all connected with the Empire Diamond Company, and also with its allied corporation, the Fidelity Funding Company. Mrs. Marietta Viola, who swears to the charges against them, declares that she has been victimized by a get-rich-quick scheme to the tune of $80, which she invested in the Empire Company.

The business session of the convention was brief, most of the time being taken up with concerts. Officers will be elected tomorrow.

SUNDAY REAL ESTATE "LINERS."
10 O'clock Saturday Nights.

The volume of "Liners" in the Sunday Times has become so great that it is found necessary to ask patrons to get their Sunday advertisements in earlier, especially Sunday real estate announcements, which in order to be printed must be in the office not later than 10 o'clock Saturday nights. The printing of all real estate matter, including advertisements, in a part by itself on Sundays involves somewhat slower press work, making it essential in order to get the paper out on time to stop receiving real estate ads. at 10 o'clock Saturday nights.

Dealers will confer a favor on The Times office if they will turn in Sunday copy on Fridays, when possible, or at least a part of it, and the balance early on Saturdays.

Sunday "Want" ads will still be received by 'phone and over the counter until 11 o'clock Saturday nights.

DEPENDS UPON TEAM OWNERS.

FATE OF CHICAGO STRIKE IS NOW IN THEIR HANDS.

Meeting Will be Held Tonight at Which Action Determining Future Stand Will be Taken—Shea Crowd Positively Refuse to Make Deliveries or Receive Goods.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, June 8.—The teamsters' strike has reached the point where its further progress and its further increase is dependent upon the action taken by the members of the Chicago Team Owners' Association. This organization has from the first declined to make deliveries to the boycotted houses, and has constantly urged the teamsters to arbitrate the question of making such deliveries.

The teamsters have positively refused to deliver or receive goods, and now, the last chance of securing any concessions from the teamsters having faded away, the members of the Team Owners' Association must either decide to deliver goods or allow the teamsters to have their own way in the matter.

Opinion among the members of the Team Owners' Association is strongly divided, and the result may be a split in its ranks. A meeting of the organization will be held tomorrow night and the action taken at that time will largely determine the future scope of the strike.

If the Team Owners' Association decides to makes deliveries and discharge all of its men who refuse to obey orders, the ranks of the strikers will be increased about 8000 men.

MUTUAL GOVERNMENT BEST.

LITHOGRAPHERS, EMPLOYERS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, June 8.—A committee from the eastern branch of the Employing Lithographers' Association has visited the annual convention of the Lithographic Artists, Engravers and Designers League of America, now in session here. Secretary Smith, in addressing the convention on behalf of the association, recalled the fact that the league's members are the highest-paid men in the business and declared that the employers' association is working to raise the industry to the highest standard and could be greatly helped by the coöperation of the workers.

"We are not fighting the labor organizations," he said, "and we want the men to realize that mutual government is best for both sides. As to apprentices, we want boys with a natural ability for it, as the best means of perfecting the industry and bringing lithography up to the highest standard."

The convention will end its session Saturday.

FEDERATION OF MINERS.

DENVER CONVENTION ENDS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SALT LAKE, June 8.—The annual convention of the Western Federation of Miners, which began here three weeks ago, came to an end tonight.

The convention today voted to continue the federation's permanent headquarters at Denver and to hold the next annual convention in Denver in June.

San Francisco also asked for the next convention. President Charles H. Moyer and Secretary W. D. Haywood were reelected, by unanimous vote. The old executive committee was retained in office. Its members will remain here in session for several days, and then will go to Chicago in a body to take part in the organization of the "Industrial Union," which will be launched June 27. The delegates tonight attended a reception and banquet tendered by the local federation of labor.

Sultan Indifferent to British Minister During Latter's Presentation of Credentials, Doubtless Depressed by Political Fog Prevailing at Tangier. American Capital Butting in.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

STILL IN THE FOG.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TANGIER (Morocco) June 8.—Gerard A. Lowther, British Minister to Morocco, presented his credentials to the Sultan today. The ceremony was attended by the customary picturesque Moroccan display.

Lowther, in his speech, assured the Sultan of the sincerity of King Edward and of the British government in the desire for the welfare of Morocco and their "earnest wishes for the maintenance of the power and authority of the sheriffian ruler." The latter reciprocated the wishes for a continuance of the traditional friendship between the two countries.

Throughout the interview the Sultan was impassive, almost indifferent. The political situation remains befogged and will not be cleared up until Lowther has a private audience with the Sultan.

It is reported that private offers have been made to the Sultan of a loan of $2,000,000, and it is alleged that the offer is supported by American capitalists, but a suitable guarantee remains the difficulty, since the customs are pledged to France for the next fifteen years.

London Fog Breaks and Reveals King in Uniform of British General at Aldershot Review.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, June 8.—[By Atlantic Cable.] For the first time since his arrival in England, King Alfonso this morning saw the sun, a bright summer day being provided for the most important function of his visit, the military review at Aldershot. The young King, wearing the uniform of a British general, and King Edward, in field marshal's uniform, accompanied by Queen Alexandra, the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Connaught and the Princess, drove to Waterloo Station through flower-decorated streets, closely guarded by soldiers, uniformed police and detectives, and lined by cheering crowds.

The two kings, on arriving at the station, drove to Lafans Plain, where they mounted chargers, and, accompanied by their staffs, proceeded to the parade grounds. About twenty-five thousand troops of all arms were closely scrutinized by King Alfonso, who apparently was keenly interested.

ATTENDS GALA PERFORMANCE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, June 9.—King Alfonso of Spain, who displays the tireless energy of youth, has passed another busy day of sightseeing, crowned with a gala performance of opera. In his honor, Covent Garden was transformed into a bower of red and yellow roses, the stage being thus completely framed in the Spanish colors. The whole auditorium was looped and festooned with roses, orchids, spring flowers and brilliant lights.

When the royal party arrived, at 9 o'clock, King Alfonso, leading Queen Alexandra, and King Edward leading Princess Louise of Fife, the beautifully-decorated royal box was crowded with members of the royal family, while in other boxes were Ambassador Reid, ministers, statesmen and naval and military officers. King Alfonso, who wore the uniform of a Spanish admiral, looked on a resplendent house, the gentlemen being garbed in court attire or uniform, and the ladies mostly in white gowns with dazzling jewels.

All stood while the Spanish and English anthems were played. Then came selections from "Romeo and Juliet," "La Vie de Boheme," and "The Huguenots," sung by Mme. Melba, Caruso; the Americans, Elizabeth Parkinson and Whitehall; and other leading artists.

HUMAN INTEREST IN SCHOLARSHIP CONTEST.

GREAT human interest attaches to some of the candidates who have been put in nomination in the Times Scholarship Contest for 1905.

One young man is the sole support of a family. He proposes to continue his labors during the day hours so as to receive his pay, as usual, and then to solicit for scholarship votes every evening. He will try to win a scholarship in a night school and a cash prize, so that he will have money with which to purchase books. In this way he hopes to fit himself for higher and more remunerative work.

A girl of 16 is interested in dramatics. Her family, though well-to-do, give her no encouragement. They are said never to praise her recitations. And sometimes they fail to attend the small entertainments in which she takes part. This apparent lack of interest may be prompted by that Puritanical idea which prevails in a few minds that women should not appear in public. But the bright and vivacious miss says that she will show her family and friends a thing or two. She will win a Times dramatic scholarship. She will study hard and attain such excellence and gain such a reputation as to force acknowledgement of her imitative endowments from her reluctant relatives. She will make them proud of her!

A boy of 14 who is no larger than the ordinary boy of 9, has called on the scholarship manager to learn how he may get a free scholarship to an industrial training school. The boy says the scholarship should include board, or a way must be provided for him to do chores for his board, while he attends school. The mother of this candidate takes in washing and therefore cannot maintain him while he is studying. The father was killed by a railroad train in Kansas when the boy was 7 years old. But one year of schooling has the boy had since that tragic event. For the last few months the little fellow has been in school in the small town in which he lives. With some show of pride he squared back his shoulders when he gave the information that he had been advanced through two grades in one term. He studies at home every night. Questioning brought out the fact that as soon as school is out every afternoon the dwarf "hurries home to turn the wringer for mother." And on Saturdays and holidays, when other boys are at play, this boy is at his mother's side at the washtub, or out delivering washing for her.

The stunted growth, stoop shoulders and set face tell a story of overwork. By a series of adversities such as befall few families, the boy life has been crushed out of this youngster. Nevertheless, the ambition and the courage are present and that boy is determined to fit himself to become a useful man. To the question "How can your mother get along without you while you attend an industrial school and live away from home?" the little man replied, with some show of satisfaction, "My older brother just got a position at $2 a day, and he will help mother from now on, so she won't have to work quite so hard. Brother and I have both worked since father was killed, to help mother, but now we can help each other get an education. When father was killed, brother had more schooling than I did. If I can win the scholarship it is my turn next year."

There are other candidates whose lives so far have developed no hard luck stories. But they have good and just claims for the educational opportunities which The Times offers, just the same. The public will be informed of these claims as the contest progresses.

Mrs. H. Sly, Ventura, Cal., has taken up a worthy cause. She has sent in a nomination blank and a letter, which is as follows:

VENTURA, Cal., June 6, 1905.

Scholarship Manager, Times Building, Los Angeles, Cal. Dear Sir: I wish to communicate with you about the free scholarship in The Times. I am very much interested in a young girl of 14 who is just finishing the grammar school. She is very anxious to study for a teacher. She is studious and ambitious to help her family, as their means are very limited. Her mother and an older sister by two years are supporting a family of seven. If this scholarship includes the literary course I should like Andrey Newton's name as one contestant. Hoping to hear at an early date, I remain yours sincerely,

MRS. H. SLY.

The Times replies to Mrs. Sly that a literary course scholarship is in the list of scholarships offered; as are scholarships in Normal and classical schools. And if candidates appear for technical and professional schools The Times will secure suitable scholarships to award them.

Young people between the ages of 10 and 21 years who wish to enter the Times scholarship contest in 1905, to begin June 26, should get a number of the nominating blanks filled out by responsible parties.

Traction Employees of Chicago's Street Lines Shocked by the Civil Service Order of Mayor Dunne.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mayor Dunne caused consternation in radical municipal ownership circles today, when he stated that, under municipal operation, traction employés, from conductor and motorman to track man who handles the crowbar and shovel, would come from the unclassified list of the civil service.

It has been the fear among traction employés that experienced men would stand little show without "political pull when it comes to municipal operation. Mayor Dunne's declaration is that these employes, while under civil service, would be in the unclassified list with ordinary laborers. In other words, a trim conductor with his natty blue uniform and brass buttons would have to be classified with the laborer who digs in the ditches of the waterpipe-extension bureau of the city service. No mental examination is required of this class of employés. They go through physical examination; their names are put in a box and the men who are put to work are drawn by lot, or by "political pull."

SHOWS ELECTRICITY HARMLESS.

LYNN (Mass.) June 8.—To demonstrate his claims that there is little danger in electrical force when properly handled, Prof. Elihu Thompson of this city has permitted a current said to have measured over a half-million volts to pass through his body, without displaying the slightest tremor or experiencing the slightest physical discomfort. The demonstration was made for the benefit of the members of the Commercial Club of Boston. Prof. Thompson adjusted a special apparatus to his body and a high-frequency current was used. Suddenly there was a flash from the finger tips and great sparks flew into the air, illuminating two incandescent lights held two feet from the fingers.

CONSERVATIVES CAPTURE CHAIR.

LONDON, June 8.—James William Lowther (Conservative,) deputy speaker and chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means, was unanimously elected Speaker of the House of Commons today in succession to William Court Gully, resigned. This is the first time since 1833 that the Conservatives have been able to put one of their own party in the chair. After the election, the house adjourned until June 20.

RAILROAD RECORD.

RAPID WORK IN BUILDING.

Western Pacific to Make Record Time.

Gould to Support Coast and Gulf Lines.

Chile Helping Pan-American Construction.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Contracts let for the construction of the Western Pacific road require the completion of 850 miles of road in the fastest time on record. The line is to be built to the western terminus on San Francisco Bay before June 1, 1907. Not a spadeful of earth has been turned. The system is to be completed and put into operation at the rate of nearly forty-five miles a month. To this end, the system must be built in sections. The bases of operation will be at points on the rival railway.

The Harriman line will transport men, material and equipment for the building of the Gould line. Over one hundred thousand tons of steel rails and over three million railroad ties must be carried into the field. The Western Pacific is designed to save the Missouri Pacific from the fate of the local railroad. Alone, the Missouri Pacific stands in constant jeopardy. The wisdom of the Gould plans is questioned in no railroad office. With his network of central lines in Missouri, Texas, Arkansas and Louisiana and with his strong Chicago lines, Gould can undoubtedly support both Gulf and Pacific routes. The cost of the latter is certainly heavy, but the need for it is imperative.

MORE OF THE SAME.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

DENVER (Colo.) June 8.—Vice-President and General Manager Charles C. Schlacks of the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, who is in New York conferring with E. T. Jeffery and George J. Gould regarding plans for the Western Pacific, has notified his Denver associates that work on the new line from Salt Lake City to San Francisco will be under way by September 1. According to the plans now being outlined by the Gould interests, trains will be running to San Francisco Bay June 1, 1907.

GORE CANYON CONCESSION.

UNCLE SAM WOULD ANNUL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

DENVER (Colo.) June 8.—Proceedings to annul the right of way granted the Union Pacific Railway for an extension of its road through Gore Cañon, nearly twenty years ago, have been instituted in connection with the case now before the United States court, wherein the Denver and Northwestern is called upon to show its authority for building through that same stretch. District Attorney Cranston filing the complaint today. The government claims that the provisions of the act under which the Union Pacific acquired possession of the tract had expired under the statutes, and asks to have the land restored to the United States.

MORTON'S INSPECTION TOUR.

SURVEYS HIS NEW FIELD.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, June 8.—Secretary of the Navy Morton, who is to retire from the Cabinet July 1 to become the head of the Metropolitan Subway Syndicate has arrived here to make his first survey of the field of his future operations. He will make an automobile tour over the routes of the underground lines which John B. McDonald, as chief contractor for the Metropolitan, expects to build. On his tour he will be accompanied by Mr. McDonald and other men interested in the syndicate.

Besides driving over the entire routes through Manhattan, Morton will make a tour of the Bronx, looking over the territory there which the proposed lines expect to develop, and will endeavor to get an idea of prospective connections with railroads and other lines. His investigations will probably consume several days.

RIO GRANDE WESTERN.

STOCK VOTED BY VAILE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SALT LAKE, June 8.—At a meeting held here today, a majority of the stock of the Rio Grande Western Railway was voted by J. F. Vaile, general counsel of the Rio Grande lines, and John B. Andrews, assistant to the vice-president.

William F. Colton, assistant secretary and cashier of the Rio Grande lines, who was secretary of the meeting, stated that the stockholders voted to accept a number of contracts that have a bearing on the construction of the Western Pacific Railroad, but that this meeting was preliminary to other meetings, that are to follow, including the coming meeting of Western Pacific stockholders at San Francisco.

After the meeting, it was rumored that a majority of the Rio Grande Western stock was voted today in favor of guaranteeing the interest on the $50,000,000 of bonds issued some time ago for the construction of the Western Pacific. This report, however, could not be verified.

CHILE'S BIG LOAN.

PAN-AMERICAN CONSTRUCTION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SANTIAGO DE CHILE, June 8.—[By South American Cable.] The government has presented to Congress a motion to raise a loan of $20,000,000 for the construction of railroads throughout the entire country. These railroads will form part of the Pan-American Railway.

"PENNSYLVANIA SPECIAL."

NEW EIGHTEEN-HOUR TRAIN.

PITTSBURGH, June 8.—The 468 miles between Chicago and Pittsburgh over the Pennsylvania lines was covered in 440 minutes today by a special train, a counterpart of the "Pennsylvania Special," the new eighteen-hour train between Chicago and New York.

SOLID TRAINS.

VENICE TO HAVE THEM.

The Los Angeles-Pacific is putting in a loop and ample sidetrackage at Venice, to be prepared for the formal opening of that seaside resort, July 4.

Connections are being made at Inglewood, so that the Southern Pacific and Santa Fé can both deliver their suburban trains to the electric road at that point, whence they will be drawn by electric locomotives to and from Venice, a distance of nine miles. Through trains will then be handled without change of passengers from Riverside, Colton, San Bernardino and Redlands direct to Venice.

Track is being laid on the Soldiers' Home line from Sawtelle west toward Santa Monica as rapidly as the grading can be pushed in advance. This branch is to be in operation within four months.

EXCURSION OF EDITORS.

E. B Clark, editor of the Riverside Press, president of the Southern California Editorial Association, and Edgar Johnson of the Fullerton Tribune, secretary of that organization, are in the city arranging for the annual excursion and convention of the Editorial Association. This year the excursion will be to Salt Lake City over the new Salt Lake line, and with a possible extension of the trip to Portland. The party will leave Los Angeles the latter part of June, and the executive sessions of the association will be held at Salt Lake City. It is expected that about seventy-five persons will attend.

LOCAL RAILWAY NOTES.

A Grafton party, consisting of twenty-five excursionists left last night in a special Pullman over the Salt Lake for the Yellowstone, Portland, Seattle and Alaska.

The Salt Lake will make a special Fourth of July round-trip rate of one and one-third fare between all points west of Daggett, and a one-fare round-trip rate between all points east of Daggett, all tickets good to return July 5, and on sale west of Daggett from July 1 to 4 inclusive, and east of Daggett from July 2 to 4, inclusive.

Returns to the passenger department of the Santa Fé show that more than 2000 passengers were carried on the special excursion trains to Capistrano last Wednesday. There was neither hitch nor accidents.

Walk-over Shoes $3.50 AND $4.00
FOR MEN AND WOMEN

"When Walk-Overs go on, troubles go off"

Walk-Over shoes of today are the culmination of thirty years' experience in shoe-making—a continual striving to make shoes better-looking, better-wearing, more comfortable and less costly—to supply millions of people at a small profit, rather than a few people at an enormous profit.

The argument that a good shoe can't be sold at less than $5.00 is daily refuted by the Walk-Over shoes, which are made and sold all over the world at the rate of twelve thousand pairs a day.

The New Store

The Second Walk-Over store at the corner of 4th and Spring streets has already become a popular place with the shoe-buying public. All the 68 styles and 250 foot-forms for men and women are shown here.

SURPRISE FOR THE KNIGHTS.

Scott Declines the Honor Forced Upon Him.

Officers Re-elected; Gather Next in New Haven.

Voyage to Catalina, and a Brilliant Banquet.

Elected by acclamation to the position of deputy Supreme Knight of the Knights of Columbus, Joseph Scott yesterday afternoon resigned the honor. The choice of Mr. Scott and his resignation produced the culminating scene of the annual election of officers; of the entire session of the National Council, in fact.

Mr. Scott's name was placed before the council with an unanimity and warmth that would have been gratifying to any man. He had asked for nothing, and when his name was mentioned by speaker after speaker, he rose and asked that the council should elect some other man.

Taking the floor, Mr. Scott said: "If, sir," he said in a voice that at times broke with emotion, "that, like all of my Knights of California, I have worked as hard as I could to make this gathering a sucess. We have all striven to make your visit to Los Angeles and to California a most happy one. But the underlying principle which actuates all true Knights of Columbus is one of self sacrifice. I would not have it go out to the world that I had labored in behalf of the order which we all love, in the spirit of wanting a reward. I am willing to work in the ranks; to do all that lies in my power for this order."

Again there was a demonstration, and one Knight after another rose and insisted that Scott be chosen. Brushing aside his objections, the Council elected him. Then he took the floor again and repeated his request and his objection, and finally the delegates were persuaded to his way of thinking. Still there were many negative votes when the roll call was made.

THEY'RE RE-ELECTED.

Otherwise the election of officers passed without incident, barring a close contest for positions on the directorate. The Supreme Knight was reëlected by acclamation, as were many of the other officers. Those chosen are:

Supreme Knight, Edward L. Hearn of New Haven.

Deputy Supreme Knight, James A. Doherty of Chicago.

National Secretary, Daniel Colwell of New Haven.

National Treasurer, P. J. Brady of New Haven.

National Advocate, P. L. McArdle of Chicago.

National Physician, Dr. W. J. McNamara of New York.

Trustees (four elected), George F. Kenkel of Detroit, James A. Burns of Rome, N. Y.; John G. Ewing of Terre Haute, Ind.; D. B. Lucey of Ogdensburg, N. Y.

GOES TO NEW HAVEN.

A cordial invitation was received from the governor of Colorado, the mayor of Denver, and various trade and representative organizations of Denver, to hold the next National Council in Denver. Birmingham, Ala., presented a similar bid for the council. After a general discussion it was decided to hold the Council in New Haven, Ct., for the reason that the new Knights of Columbus building in that city will be completed in time for the next meeting. The building, which will cost about $125,000, will be dedicated by that gathering.

LIKE OUR WELCOME.

Three resolutions were adopted by the Council:

Resolved, by the National Council of the Knights of Columbus, that our hearts go out in fraternity and loving kindness to our brother Knights of Los Angeles and California, and extend all to the worthy Past State Deputy, Brother Joseph Scott, for the cheer and warmth of the Knightly hospitality they have so lavishly shown us.

Resolved, by the National Council of the Knights of Columbus that we deeply appreciate the welcome extended to us on behalf of the Catholics of Los Angeles and of California by the Most Rev. George Montgomery, the Right Rev. Thomas J. Conaty, and the Very Rev. Charles J. O'Reilly, and we return to these distinguished men our heartfelt thanks for their courtesy and cordial words.

Resolved, by the National Council of the Knights of Columbus, that we extend to the citizens of the commonwealth of California and of the city of Los Angeles, and to the Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles, our sincere thanks for the generous and wholehearted hospitality shown to this body, so cordially extended to us by the Governor, Alden Anderson; Mayor of Los Angeles, Owen McAleer; United States Senator Frank P. Flint, and the president of the Chamber of Commerce, J. O. Koepfli."

Resolutions were also adopted thanking the press of this city; deploring the persecutions perpetradted on the Indians of Colombia by the government, indorsing the work of the Catholic Indian missions, and heartily commending the action of President Roosevelt in his endeavors to right the wrongs of the Indians, and his fairmindedness in appointing Archbishop Ireland and Charles J. Bonaparte to the Indian Commission; deploring the conditions existing in Russia, and urging all Catholics to unite united in defense of the faith; concurring with Bishop Harkness of Providence, R. I., on the death of Father John J. Harty, one of the most beloved workers in Rhode Island. Appropriate resolutions were also adopted on the deaths of Joseph A. Blount, late Deputy of Alabama, and M. Hanson of Chicago, national organizer.

Adjournment was then taken to the next annual meeting.

BADGE FOR CHIEF.

At the morning session Joseph Scott presented the Supreme Knight with a diamond badge, "as a token of the love, respect and esteem" of the Los Angeles council.

Nearly all of the forenoon session was taken up with a consideration of the report of the Committee on Resolutions. After a long discussion the Board of Directors was instructed to consider the advisability of adopting a new rate of assessment, in connection with the step rates now in operation. The board is expected to report to the next National Council.

Another proposition that elicited much discussion was the plan favored by the New York delegates to unite with the Federation of Catholic Societies. The plan was voted down.

The only four Knights still living who took part in the foundation of the order and were charter members of the council. The National Council as a mark of respect to these men—Daniel Colwell, the National Secretary; William M. Geary, Dr. M. C. O'Connor and C. T. Driscoll, all of New Haven—voted to make them life members, except as to having a vote on insurance matters.

The Right Rev. C. J. O'Reilly, Bishop of Baker City, Or., was a visitor at the morning session. He paid a high compliment to the effective and earnest work of the Supreme Knight, Edward L. Hearn, speaking particularly of the Supreme Knight's work at the time that he first visited Oregon.

Norfolk, Va., is already in line to secure the meeting of the National Council in 1907. In that year the Jamestown Tercentary Exposition will be held, and the Virginia Knights are particularly desirous of having the National Council with them.

Just before noon, amid great enthusiasm, a check for $162 was ordered sent to Shepherd Brown Shipley, the Pullman dining-car conductor whose presence of mind averted a bad wreck at Caliente Sunday morning.

Three gavels were presented for the use of the Supreme Knight. He used the orange-wood gavel presented by the Los Angeles Knights. The gavel made from the wood of the Franklin elm at New Haven, Ct., will be taken east. The Supreme Knight has presented to the Los Angeles council the gavel made from the wood of the Independence oak tree and brought to California by James M. Flaherty of Philadelphia. It bears the inscription "Philadelphia, 1776; K. of C., Los Angeles, 1905."

LOS ANGELES WAS THE HOST.

VISITING KNIGHTS GUESTS AT ELABORATE BANQUET.

Social Function at Turnverein Hall Last Night a Feature of the Present Convention—Eloquent Speeches by Men of National Prominence. Magnificent Testimonial to Scott.

Visiting Knights of Columbus to the number of 500, were entertained last night by Los Angeles Council No. 621 of that order, in an artistic banquet given in the halls of the Turnverein Germania.

Seven tables, running the entire length of the hall, accommodated the guests, while on the stage a horseshoe table that extended from wing to wing seated the distinguished officials and those who responded to the toasts upon the programme which followed the serving of the banquet.

The gorgeous floral decorations, the stately palms and clinging ferns, through whose delicate fronds were entwined the Stars and Stripes of a score of huge American flags, the profusion of gorgeous blossoms setting off the tables, and the blaze of a myriad of electric bulbs, combined in a most harmonious setting for one of the most successful social functions incident to the memorable gathering of the Knights of Columbus in Los Angeles.

Between 500 and 600 guests sat down to the long tables, and as the last courses were served the doors of the galleries were opened and the ladies were admitted to the upper floor, their entrance being heralded by the orchestra, which struck up the familiar tune of "There's Just One Girl." Instantly every man in the house was on his feet, with faces upturned to the balconies and napkins waving in time to the music, while over half a thousand male voices joined in the chorus of, "Just One Girl," which the band was compelled to repeat half a dozen times.

It is no secret that the Knights of Columbus are strong with the eloquent, impressionable and gallant sons of Erin, and the toasts which followed the banquet were rich with the golden oratory of those in whose veins flow strains of the Emerald Isle.

Richard J. Dillon acted as toastmaster, and won the hearts of the ladies by his well-worded references to them. In more serious vein, however, he called attention to the primal tenets of the creed of the Knights of Columbus, sincerity in religious and moral training, loyalty and patriotism to God and to country, concluding with upraised goblet and rounded period: "I pledge you, ladies and gentlemen, health and long life to that distinguished, able and righteous man, who from the seven hills of Rome rules our church and our hearts, and to whose teachings we reverently bow, Pope Pius; and to that man of men, who knows no fear in the performance of his public duties, under whose beneficient administration we enjoy the fruits of peace and prosperity, that noble American, Theodore Roosevelt."

Replying to the toast, "Our Country," John S. Leahy of St. Louis said: "In the name of Missouri, I pledge the health of California, and to you gentlemen from Plymouth Rock and the East, I ask you to take off your hats to the West, Our Country! As well ask me to drain the waters of the Pacific in a single hour as to do justice to that great subject in a few moments. As we traveled westward, and even farther westward, on our way to your peerless city, there was not one of us looking out over the broad unpeopled expanses of this great country of ours who could not have voiced the feeling that destiny holds for us a population of three hundred millions of human souls. And it is for us to say what shall be the heritage we will bequeath to that vast posterity. May we preserve for them intact the priceless treasures which we enjoy of Peace, Justice and Liberty. Then will they be blessed indeed."

As a practical safeguard for these features of the national life, the speaker earnestly recommended that every true citizen take an active part in politics, throw the politician out and put the thoughtful statesman at the helm.

"If in this beautiful city there could have been believed to exist one scintilla if bigotry of intolerance toward the Catholic church, the unjust accusation is most fully dispelled by this gathering tonight."

In conclusion, Mr. Leahy paid an eloquent tribute to Joseph Scott, who is universally accorded the credit for having brought the Knights to California, and such a tempest of cheers and applause shook the hall that the toastmaster simulated indignation and declared that the next speaker to mention the name of Joseph Scott would be compelled to leave the hall.

Rt. Rev. Archbishop Montgomery responded to the toast, "From Within," taking advantage of the opportunity of welcoming the Knights in anticipation to San Francisco.

Rt. Rev. Bishop Conaty, speaking to "Heart to Heart," delivered one of the most eloquent and stirring addresses of the evening, winning for himself and his eloquent words thunders of applause.

Supreme Knight Edward L. Hearn of New Haven, answered to the subject of "Our Order," touching earnestly upon the aims and purposes of the great association of the Knights of Columbus, and the part which it plays in the life of the patriotic Catholic citizen.

State Deputy J. C. Pelletier of Boston, provoked his hearers to much mirth by his inimitable handling of the subject "Down East."

W. K. Lucey of Ogdensburg, N. Y., treated "Back East" a little differently, but in much the same vein, and it remained for James J. Fitzgerald of Louisville, to swing the post-prandial weather vane toward the Gulf of Mexico, in his, "The South."

Patrick J. McArdle, Deputy Supreme Knight, of Chicago, contended with all of the traditional assurance and enthusiasm of the residents of the Windy City that the West was nursed by the waters of the Great Lakes and cradled in the boisterous zephyrs that blow from off the turbulent Michigan.

E. V. Berrien of El Paso, stood sponsor for the "Southwest," and C. P. Connolly of Butte, for the "Northwest." John G. Mott of Los Angeles, broke clear away from the Mayflower crowd, the Wall Street magnates and the pork packers, and came away "Out West," and George A. Connolly of San Francisco, full of the cheering waters that flow down through the Golden Gate, rose to a veritable Mount Lowe of eloquence and stood plump out for "California," first, last and all the time.

D. P. Toomey, of Boston, editor of the official organ of the association, appeared as counsel for the "Press," and ably defended his client, and surely won his case if the acclaim of the popular jury could be taken as counting for anything.

Charles F. Lummis, editor of "Out West," answered to the subject of "From Without."

Following the toasts, Rev. Joseph P. McQuaide made a public presentation of a magnificent testimonial of appreciation to Joseph Scott. This was in the form of a hand-illumined volume in old English script, an example of the artistic penmanship of J. Harrison Cole of Los Angeles, containing a large photograph of Scott as a frontispiece, followed by a brief but eloquent tribute of appreciation, and concluding with the signatures of all of the officers and delegates of the Knights of Columbus present at the conclave.

TRIBUTE TO SEA.

KNIGHTS' VOYAGE OF DISCOVERY

Knights went out on a voyage of discovery yesterday.

Early in the morning Sir Knights and their ladies, to the number of fully two thousand, made a rush to the Salt Lake and Southern Pacific stations and crowded aboard trains for San Pedro; then they "went down to the sea in ships."

Then it was that the Knights and ladies began their discoveries: Firstly, that 500 or even 100 persons cannot at one time occupy the space necessary for standing room for only ten persons; secondly, that while the broad, blue expanse of a seemingly placid sea may look indeed "Pacific," it yet has the power of pursuading tribute from even stately Sir Knights and comely ladies—yes, and even from the goodly number of reverend fathers who mingled in the company of the voyagers. The horrible realities of mal de mer became a vivid experience to scores.

But this only added merriment to those of staunch stomach, and many and ludicrous were the situations evolved. On the steamer Hermosa companies of jolly musically-inclined folk took delight in passing from group to group of the sufferers and in sweetest voice singing to them: "All the world is sad and dreary, everywhere I roam."

One of the leading Sir Knights declared as he made a rush for the side rail: "This isn't any seasickness—I never have it. It's a bilious attack—always get that way on water—water's bad for the system, don't you see?" And then speech left him.

At San Pedro both the Cabrillo and Hermosa were crowded to the limit. In fact the Falcon had to follow later to convey the remnant of the great crowd. The excursionists in their eagerness to get aboard the steamers made a serious crush at the Southern Pacific wharf and there were several slight accidents.

The Hermosa left San Pedro dock first—about twenty minutes ahead of the Cabrillo; but the larger vessel passed her in mid-waters, and the League of the Cross band struck up "Good-bye," Dollie Gray, We Must Leave You."

On both boats fine musical programmes, both vocal and instrumental numbers, were given.

In addition to the discoveries enumerated above, the Knights of Columbus also discovered—which thousands before them have done—a charming island, Santa Catalina, appealing to them alike through its inate beauty, and its traditions and history. To the heart of the practical Catholic, be he priest or layman, those things are dear which speak of the early efforts of men with the faith of Mother Church to discover new lands and bring them under the dominion of the Cross.

As the visitors landed at Catalina Island the bell from the tower of the Church of the Star of the Sea rang out a welcome; and during the stay of the Knights on the island many of them climbed the winding roadway to the little church in the hills—a miniature of old Mission San Diego—in order that they might kneel a few moments in prayer before its altar.

On the island there was no special programme. The hotels and restaurants were taxed to supply meals for the hungry crowds. Then they scattered out to enjoy the attractions of the glass-bottom boats, aquarium, swimming contests, etc.

The steamers left the island on the homeward trip between 3 and 4 o'clock; but the people did not reach Los Angeles until almost 9 as the Southern Pacific Company failed to handle the crowds with facility.

Passengers from the first steamer were held in San Pedro until the arrival of the second one, and then there were not nearly enough cars to accommodate the people. Every car was filled with standing passengers. It was the one break in the arrangements of the day to mar the pleasure of the visitors.

OFFICIAL ORDERS.

PARADE AND DEGREES.

For the great parade on Saturday night the line of march will be as follows:

From Central Park down Sixth street to Spring; down Spring street to Fourth; Fourth street to Main; down Main street to the Cathedral, where the members of the Knights of Columbus will be received by his Lordship, Bishop Conaty. They will then proceed along First street to Broadway; along Broadway to Tenth street, where the Fourth Degree members will proceed to Armory Hall.

At Armory Hall the doors will be locked at 9 o'clock, and no one will be admitted thereafter. Candidates will find entrance on Eighth street.

MANY KNIGHTS.

RECREATE AT CHUTES.

More than 3000 visitors were entertained by the Chutes management yesterday afternoon. At 12 o'clock noon, for the first time in many months, the big gates were shut to the general public, and only Knights of Columbus and their families were allowed within the amusement grounds.

Children were in the majority. The children were everywhere, and the delights of seeing a real menagerie unwatched by hard-hearted keepers, and the pleasure of having a real free circle swing, and a roller-coaster that you didn't have to give any dimes to, was a joy that seemed almost unbelievable. Assistant Manager Ferguson, who kept a jovial eye on the juvenile proceedings, says he could not count on the fingers of both hands the energetic and undaunted small boys who rode the big circle swing at least thirty times.

The Chutes, the Zarrows, with their sensational performances on the bicycle, the shooting gallery, the theater and the other varied attractions of the Midway were all kept in a state of fevered business by the enthusiastic guests of Manager Koch and his assistants.

Among the older folk more sedate pleasures absorbed the interest of the afternoon, and the chief factor of these was the Italian band, headed by its fiery, artistic-haired director, Nicola Donatelli. There were many who have seen the great leaders of the world, and are familiar with their eccentricities, but to others the emotionalism of the Latin school was an entirely new thing, and quite the whole show. Donatelli's programme included a brilliant group of classics, such as the overture to "Orpheus," the familiar and gorgeous sextette from "Lucia," the "Pilgrim's Chorus" from "I Lombardi," the coronation march from "Le Prophete," Chopin's "March Funebre," and as a concluding offering, the great fantasie and finale of "Carmen."

Among the guests entertained by Mr. Koch were Count Bozenta and his wife, Mme. Modjeska, Rev. Grogan of Ventura, the faculty of St. Vincent's and a number of the visiting eastern clergy.

POCKETS PICKED.

MAN ROBBED IN CROWDS.

J. M. O'Neill, a capitalist of Philadelphia, who is one of the visiting Knights of Columbus, was robbed in the crowd on the wharf at San Pedro yesterday. His wallet, which he carried in his hip pocket, was taken, and it contained two certified checks for $50 each, and about $98 in greenbacks and coin.

FLOODED BASIN OF THE GRAND.

CONDITIONS NORTH OF GRAND RAPIDS ARE IMPROVED.

At that City the River is Rising. Many Residences in the South End Completely Surrounded by Water—Six Thousand Men Out of Employment.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P. M.]

GRAND RAPIDS (Mich.) June 8.—Reports from the flooded basin of the Grand River north of this city indicate that the worst is over. The river is beginning to fall rapidly. At Ionia it has fallen two feet in twenty-four hours, and at other points a corresponding fall is noticed. All the rivers flowing into the Grand River are subsiding. The loss to farm property may reach $1,000,000.

RISE AT GRAND RAPIDS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A. M.]

GRAND RAPIDS (Mich.) June 8.—The Grand River is still rising here. The only encouraging news comes from up-river points, where the water is reported to be stationary or falling. Many residences in the south end are completely surrounded by deep and swift currents. Workmen are struggling frantically to keep the north-end dike from going to pieces, and it seems to be about an even chance whether they will succeed.

A special to the Evening Press says that communications have been partially reëstablished with Whitehall, which has been isolated for sixty hours. The conditions on White River, above the town, are worse than had been expected. The damage to crops, bridges and dams will reach hundreds of thousands of dollars. Three large dams at White Cloud, Hesperia and Perry were completely washed away.

About one hundred concerns, large and small, are closed today because of the flood. Six thousand men are out of employment. In the south end of the city today, every house on Earl street, Letellier, South Front, Court, Olive street, West Wealthy avenue and Telford street, is partially under water, and the flood is threatening to overflow a still larger area. The railroad situation is improving.

Mrs. Sue M. Simpson, accused of treason by Mrs. Bretteli, president of the Women's International Label League, at Chicago, was expelled from the organization yesterday by a secret vote of 29 to 31.

Evolution of a Word.
The evolution of "diplomatist" from the Greek verb for "to double" is very curious. "Diploma," a doubling, was specialized, as a folded paper, and particularly, in Roman times, an official passport or license. Thus "diplomatic science," down to the end of the eighteenth century, meant the science of manuscripts and documents, which explains a modern writer's strange remark that "there is not a shadow of diplomatic doubt thrown over the integrity of the Third Gospel." Dr. Murray's Dictionary assigns the translation to the modern meaning to Leibnitz's "Codex Juris Gentium Diplomaticus," (documentary code of international law,) and the title of a similar French work. "Diplomatic" came to be considered as meaning "international-documentary," and then the "documentary" dropped out.—[Pall Mall Gazette.

SHOWS THAT IT IS WIDE AWAKE.

SOUTH PASADENA TELLS OF ITS MANY VIRTUES.

Men of Prominence from Three Cities Gather at a Banquet of the Progressive League and Are Convinced that the Organization is Properly Named.

Los Angeles and Pasadena came together last night at a banquet given by the South Pasadena Progressive League.

The spread was at the Hotel Capitola, and marked the first milestone of the league. Most of those who participated in the event are business and professional men of Los Angeles, resident in South Pasadena, but there was also a goodly number from Pasadena, representing the same circle in that city. There were more than a hundred in all.

The affair throughout was a most pleasant one, but the good things to eat prolonged the post-prandial feast until so late an hour that only residents of South Pasadena were able to see it out.

O. R. Dougherty, a pioneer of the place, told of its early trials and triumphs, among other things, of the fight for the name that he was determined it should bear. The objection to South Pasadena as a name for the postoffice was so great that the Postoffice Department refused to accept it and the village was named Hermosa. Then the ruse worked of changing it to the present name. One thing that went far toward that end was the donation of a piece of ground for a railroad station, and in the deed Mr. Dougherty stipulated that the station was to be called "South Pasadena." Mr. Dougherty advised strongly against the proposition to disincorporate, and also urged that they hold on to their water system.

Byron Oliver as toastmaster made some happy allusions to the unequaled loveliness of South Pasadena as compared with its bigger neighbors. The programme was as follows:

Welcoming words by the president, Leo Longley; invocation, Rev. C. W. Iler; toastmaster, Byron L. Oliver; "The Guests of South aPsadena," O. R. Dougherty; "Why Southern California Prospers," J. W. McKinley; "What Has Been Done," O. W. Orcutt; "Local Loyalty," Rev. G. W. Coultas; "The Pasadenas," Mayor W. R. Waterhouse; "The Utility of Good Streets," Frank A. Cattern; "South Pasadena, the Key City," J. E. Carson; "The Commercial Value of Esthetic Taste," Theodore Martin; "Social Features in Communal Unity," D. Z. Gardner.

It was fully determined that South Pasadena is the place, all right, and if anybody doubts it they should have heard the speeches. Socially it was one of the happiest occasions possible to imagine, and will undoubtedly do much toward drawing residents of the little city more closely together. The spirit of unity is coincident with the spirit of improvement, and the world is to be shown.

Last night's Reception Committee was composed of G. W. Glover, H. R. Thomas, G. W. Lawyer, H. R. Postle, G. W. Wilson, Noble Harter, and the Banquet Committee was John Sharp, R. R. Stephens and Walker Jones.

BRUTAL ATTACK ON CONGRESSMAN.

HON. S. C. SMITH ASSAULTED ON BAKERSFIELD STREET.

Editorial Criticism of Policeman Tibbet in Statesman's Newspaper Caused that Officer to Use His Fists Because He Could Not Stand Exposure of His Record.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BAKERSFIELD, June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Hon. S. C. Smith, Congressman for the Eighth District, was assaulted last night by Policeman B. M. Tibbet, on account of an editorial which appeared in the Echo, which called into question Tibbet's qualifications as a guardian of the peace. Mr. Smith was talking to some friends on Chester avenue, when Tibbet came up and called him aside, saying he wanted to speak with him. Tibbet asked Mr. Smith what he meant by criticising him in the columns of his paper and the latter replied that he did not care to argue the matter with him on the street, and that he had already heard what he had to say.

Without warning, the policeman struck Mr. Smith in the face, knocking him against a building, and followed up the blow with several others. Several people rushed forward and Deputy Sheriff Baker seized Tibbet around the waist just as he was about to strike another time. Tibbet was taken to jail, but was released on bail.

Mr. Smith was only slightly injured and went to Los Angeles to meet the Congressional Irrigation Committee.

The editorial to which the peace officer took exception is as follows:

"The board walked rough-shod over its ordinances, and forced a known incompetent and personal enemy of Marshal Davis on the force, against the vigorous protests of the latter. . . . Everyone knows that Tibbet did not stay on his beat and that officers generally knew that he did not aid but conspired to frustrate, the plans of his chief."

Tibbet appeared before Justice Millard this morning and pleaded guilty to a charge of battery. The complaint was sworn to by Deputy Sheriff Baker. The plea of guilty was accepted and judgment suspended pending an investigation of the facts by the court.

CHILDREN AT MURDER TRIAL.
MOTHERS ARE ADMONISHED.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]
LIBERTY (Mo.) June 8.—Women, many of them accompanied by children, today crowded the courtroom where Mrs. Aggie Meyers is being tried for the murder of her husband. Judge Alexander admonished women to keep their children out of the courtroom in the future.

Frank Hottman, already under sentence of death for his part in the murder, was brought from Kansas City today to testify for the State.

Mrs. Meyers was composed and unemotional today, although bloodstained garments were brought into the courtroom and identified by detectives who investigated the case at the time, and who told of blood stains found at the Meyers home.

Frunk, Leo Hess, Ivan B. Kahn and William Klatscher.

Quackenbush no Counterfeiter.

H. Y. Quackenbush, the veteran expressman whose stand is at Fifth and Spring streets, has been acquitted of the charge of counterfeiting by the Federal Courts. Quackenbush is known to scores of people as an honest old fellow, and was made the victim of a smooth stranger recently, when the man had a spurious $10 note to dispose of. In all innocence the taker offered it out again; it was accepted, and turned down in another place. The arrest of the expressman followed, but his examination before the United States Commissioners was a mere matter of form; they were soon satisfied of his innocence.

Naval Reserves' Stag "Feed."

After an hour of snappy drilling at the armory on New High street last night the Engineer Division, Naval Reserves, forty strong adjourned to McKeese's Café on South Spring street for an informal banquet. The affair was in charge of Lieut. A. H. Woodbine, who presided, and Ensign Mannell. Lieut.-Commander M. Ray Costerisan was toastmaster. The Division is in a prosperous condition now and good results are looked for by those in command.

Document from Utah.

The Chamber of Commerce received yesterday a beautifully engrossed parchment from the City Council of Salt Lake, addressed jointly to the local Chamber and the City Council. Local Elks also received a telegram from Salt Lake Elks, saying that the Salt Lake lodge would extend hospitality to all visitors from Southern California next week, and especially to members of the order. On Wednesday evening a reception at Salt Lake will be tendered to fraternity guests.

BREVITIES.

The volume of "Liners" in the Sunday Times has become so great that it is found necessary to ask patrons to get their Sunday advertisements in earlier; especially Sunday real estate announcements, which in order to be printed must be in the office not later than 10 o'clock Saturday nights. The printing of all real estate matter, including advertisements, in a part by itself on Sundays involves somewhat slower press work, making it essential, in order to get the paper out on time, to stop receiving real estate ads at 10 o'clock Saturday nights. Dealers will confer a favor on The Times office if they will turn in Sunday copy on Fridays, when possible; or at least a part of it, and the balance early on Saturdays. Sunday "Want" ads will still be received by phone and over the counter until 11 o'clock Saturday nights.

The ladies' rest room on the top floor of the new wing of The Times' Building is open daily from 9 to 5. Ladies from town or country will find this a convenient place to write, rest or read. Stationery provided for correspondence. Both 'phones available. Take elevator in business office. All are welcome.

Make your home at Hotel Rosslyn, 433 So. Main st.; free bus to and from depots; meals 25c; 21 meals $5.

FARMING ON FIRM BASIS.

David Lubin's Hope for His Proposed International Chamber of Agriculture.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ROME, June 8.—[By Atlantic Cable.] David Lubin of Sacramento, Cal., who proposed to King Victor Emmanuel taking steps to bring about the establishment of an international institute of agriculture, speaking about the institute today said it would tend to give stability to political, social and economic conditions of the people and ultimately would aid in the maintainance of an equitable exchange in the value of agricultural products throughout the world.

While the institute, he added, does not intend to remove the middle man, it intends to direct the hand of the manipulator and brush it aside by freeing agriculture from chance and by placing it on a firm basis.

DEATH OF DR. BUSH TAKES "FORTY-NINER."

ANOTHER pioneer dropped out yesterday with the death of Dr. Charles W. Bush, who had lived in Los Angeles since '61.

He was one of the Forty-niners who came across the plains in ox wagons.

Dr. Bush was born in Stroudsburg, Pa., near Deleware Water Gap, Nov. 16, 1824, the grandson of a Revolutionary soldier, one of the traditions of their family being of a meal that his mother cooked with her own hands for Gen. Washington.

Dr. Bush was one of a family of ten children; he got his medical education in Ohio, at the Line Sterling College, and later at the Western Reserve University. In 1849 he and his brother joined a large party of argonauts, coming by way of Salt Lake and Humboldt Sink into Sacramento. They were seven months on the way. For a time they mined on the Yuba and Feather rivers.

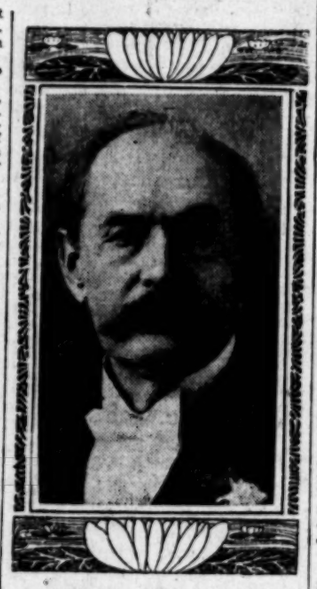
In 1852 they went back to Ohio by way of Panama, walking across the Isthmus and hiring Indians to carry their trunks. Dr. Bush practiced medicine in Iowa and Ohio a while, but soon returned to California.

In 1861 he came south to Los Angeles, four years later joining in the Kern River rush. He became county physician at Havilah, but eventually returned to Los Angeles.

In 1872 he was elected a California State Senator, serving two terms. He was made chairman of the Hospital Committee and was author of the first medical practice bill drafted in California, a bill which was afterward copied verbatim in Illinois.

Dr. Bush was one of the few pioneers who saw the future of Los Angeles, making investments that made the end of his life one of ease. For many years he had lived in his old bachelor home, No. 349 Buena Vista street.

He never married and the heirs to his considerable fortune are his brother, John E. Bush, who lives in Ohio, and his niece, Mrs. E. Herbst, and her daughter, Miss Edna Herbst.



DR. CHARLES W. BUSH.

Dr. Bush was past master of Pentalpha Lodge, No. 202, F. & A. M., past high priest of Signet Chapter, No. 47, R. A. M., past patron, Order of the Eastern Star.

The funeral, which will be conducted by the Masons, will be arranged later.

"BELT" BLOW, SEVEN HURT.

Not One Escapes Uninjured in Trolley Wreck.

Careless Dash and Crash on First Street.

Cars Crushed in Middle at a Crossing.

Disregarding right-of-way rules governing crossings, Motorman E. A. Means of the First-street Westlake line shot his car ahead at Belmont avenue and West First street at 9:40 o'clock last night and crashed into the middle of an Interurban "belt line" car. The heavy steel coach of the belt line was crushed like an eggshell by the force of the impact, and hurled over on its side.

Seven persons were painfully injured, and not a single passenger or trainman on either car escaped unhurt. That several were not killed seems miraculous, for the collision was one of the most severe in many months on the city street railway lines.

The most seriously injured are:

MRS. J. C. QUINN, No. 342 Westlake avenue; face cut and internal injuries.

MRS. J. H. STEVER, No. 1635 Rockwood street; cut about head and face, and shoulder wrenched.

MRS. H. T. SCOTT, No. 759 Merchant street; back sprained.

H. T. SCOTT; bruises.

C. H. MOORES, No. 671 Coronado street; cut over eye.

E. C. ROYER, Interurban motorman; bruises and injured arm.

E. A. MEANS, Los Angeles Company motorman; cut by glass and stunned by flying beams.

LOOKS LIKE CARELESSNESS.

The accident appears to have been the result of gross carelessness on the part of the crew of the Los Angeles Railway Company car. Two coaches of this company's First-street line to Westlake Park met at Belmont avenue, just as a northbound belt line car of the Interurban Company stopped at the crossing. According to the right-of-way rules, the Los Angeles cars have the crossing, but after one car has cleared the Interurban Company has the right-of-way. The westbound Westlake car passed first, and then the Interurban car started. All too late, Motorman Royer of this car saw that a wreck was inevitable, for like a rocket the eastbound Westlake car swept down the hill from Burlington avenue and approached the crossing at high speed.

SWIFT CRASH.

Fortunately only one passenger, Mrs. Stever, was on the belt-line car, and she escaped to the rear end before the crash came. Before any of the passengers on the other car could realize that a collision was imminent, the Westlake car struck the big red car squarely in the center. So sudden was it all that none of the trainmen had time to jump. The red car was lifted from the rails, its side crushed in, and thrown over. The front end of the Westlake trolley was smashed, but the body and running gear withstood the shock well. The car listed badly in the direction the other was traveling and nearly toppled over.

PASSENGERS HURLED TO FLOOR.

Only about ten passengers were on the city-bound car and none occupied front seats. In the inclosed portion all were thrown in an indiscriminate heap on the floor and none escaped bruises. Outside flying timbers and glass, cut or maimed the other passengers and trainmen.

The Westlake car, No. 122, was in charge of Motorman Means and Conductor Smith, and the other was in charge of Motorman Royer and Conductor Mitchell. Eye-witnesses say the Westlake car was running at a rate of at least twenty miles an hour when the smash came.

The police patrol wagon was sent to the scene and those unable to resume their journeys were removed to their homes. Two wrecking crews worked several hours before the debris was cleared away.

AFTER OIL AT CARLSBAD.

According to a dispatch sent out from Carlsbad, the Lakewood Oil Company is the name of a corporation just organized to drill in that field. Nothing is known as to who may be backing the movement, but local men who have interests there will be pleased at the prospect of having the district proven beyond doubt, as now it is purely speculative, whatever may be the surface indications. At present there seems to be "nothing much doing" locally

HE ESCAPES SIBERIA, SENT ON CHAIN GANG.

DRIVEN from his home to be an exile in Siberia, driven from that wild country by the cruelty of the guards, driven now from his miserable refuge down the Los Angeles River bottom, back to the familiar surroundings of a prison; the experience of Alexander Alexander.

He was arrested yesterday, and that is his story as nearly as the officers can make it out without an interpreter.

He was found living in a wretched hovel. His appearance frightened some of the neighbors, who reported him a vagrant to the Sheriff.

He tried to tell his story to the arresting officer.

For some political crime, some suspicion, the nature of which was not adaptable to his particular brand of broken English, he was torn from his family and his friends and herded in with a great gang of prisoners bound for Siberia.

He tried to tell how they had walked for many days, men of all kinds and descriptions, herded together, under guard. Some of them were not used to hard exercise and fairly dropped by the wayside.

Eventually they got to the mines. Alexander Alexander was there for a long time, but finally joined one of the bands formed for escape. Many were caught and taken back, but he, alone, finally managed to get by the guards and into a land of freedom.

He managed to eke out a living, no one seems to know how. Fact, is he did not have enough to eat half the time, probably.

The children who had to pass the roads near there were afraid of him. He was the bogy man of the neighborhood. Some with a zeal for public spirit swore out a complaint against the old fellow, accusing him of being a tramp.

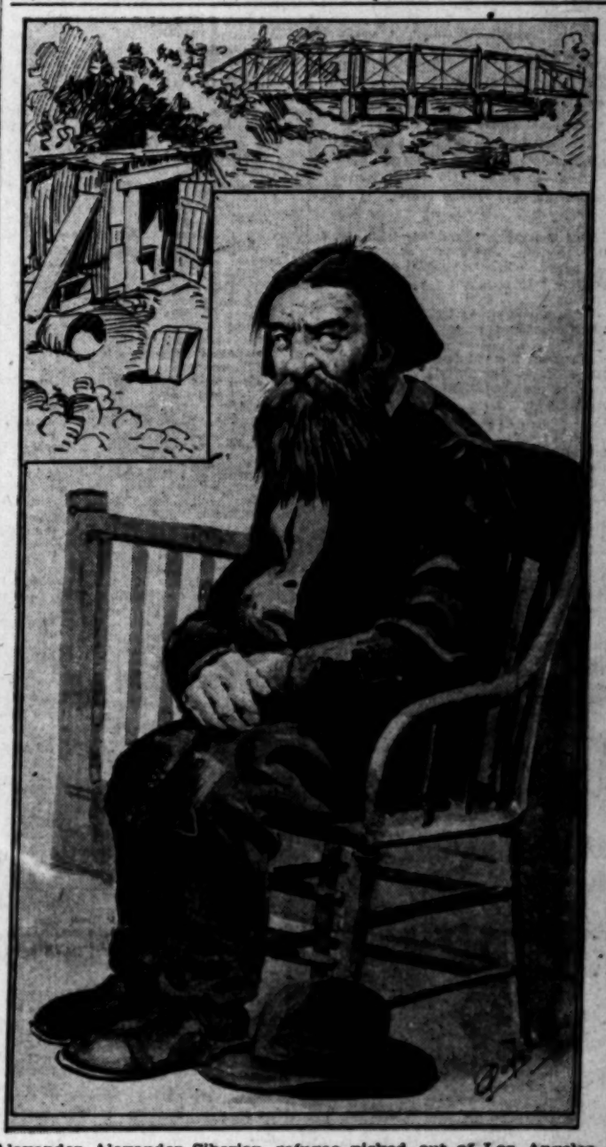
Yesterday Deputy Sheriff Franklin served the warrant. The old man made no resistance; he was too used to jails and chains.

He was brought up in the Justice Court; pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to sixty days in the chain gang.

Today he will go out again as a prisoner.

If he could manage to put it into English the story of his wanderings here, a broken-spirited man, until he finally brought up in Los Angeles, would be a terrible story.

As it was, he got himself this little shanty, squatting on the public land, safe except in the flood storms.



Alexander Alexander, Siberian refugee, picked out of Los Angeles river bed.

First hot luncheon ever served in grammar grade of the public schools—Yesterday's innovation at Custer street building.

HOT SOUP FOR THE CHILDREN.

NO MORE COLD LUNCHEONS IN ONE PUBLIC SCHOOL.

Custer Street Grammar Grade Pupils Treated to a Pleasing Innovation Which Promises to be Adopted in All the City's Educational Institutions.

At last it has come—noon luncheon for the grammar schools, and the Custer-street Child Study Circle should go to the head of the class for making the first practical effort in this direction.

This particular circle has about two working members, the president, Mrs. Ella M. Bobst, and the principal of the school.

These two have carried the whole matter through and yesterday eighty children were seated about the eight flower-trimmed tables in the large hall of the building.

It was a sight for one's eyes, eighty bright young faces; tables neatly set forth with white cloths, shining new silverware, dainty cracker bowls, vases of sweet peas, and paper napkins, and the generous bowls of steaming soup.

That soup! Why, it was chicken soup, and the kind that poor little Oliver Twist said could be diluted and furnish at the very lowest computation, five hundred paupers with regulation diet.

The president of the Circle made the soup herself. There were five and a half gallons and even with that it didn't quite reach and Mrs. Bobst will have to make more today.

Only soup has been attempted as yet; soup and plenty of crackers, but how much better than a cold luncheon! Why, in Sweden the government sees to it that public school children are supplied with hot luncheons. It pays, they think, in the good health of the community.

The children at Custer-street school each pay 5 cents for their soup and crackers. Every morning before school they buy their tickets and present them at the tables at noon.

Yesterday M. C. Bettinger, Assistant Superintendent of Schools, partook of the hospitality of the school. Another guest was Mrs. Jefferson Gibbs, who is first vice-president of the Mothers' Congress of California, and is always interested in the children.

Pretty girls from the eighth grade cooking classes served the tables. They wore white caps and aprons. These girls take turns in assisting Mrs. Bobst every day and do it willingly.

The scheme is very new. Permission was granted by the Board of Education last Monday. Tuesday the first luncheon was served, for Mrs. Bobst believes in immediate action.

FRENZIED FINANCIER GEE GOOEY'S SCOOP.

GEE GOOEY, a wily Chinese frenzied financier, has made himself rich for the rest of his life by enduring a sentence of deportation. Chinatown has just awakened in agony and alarm to the real explanation of Gooey's scorn of the dread "chock chee."

All the other Chinamen who are illegally in the United States live in terror of their lives, hiding like rats from a cat when the Chinese inspectors are seen.

Gooey worked on a Chinese vegetable farm at the southwest border of the city; he was smuggled into this country two years ago, and has lived here certificateless ever since.

But the inspectors found him out at last.

One day one of the farm hands dropped his hoe and came racing wildly for the ranch house where Gooey was at work.

"Run," he said in Chinese, "run, for here comes the chock chee man."

"Pooh!" said Gooey. "Pooh! That for the chock chee man. Rats!"

Or whatever a Chinaman would say in Chinese for those scornful words.

When the inspector came up, Gooey gave him a taste of his scorn while the other chinks looked on almost paralyzed with amazement at his daring. The result was that the hapless Gooey was taken into court and ordered to be deported. He's just started.

Yesterday it came across the other Chinese with a rude jolt, the perfidy of Gee Gooey.

It seems that prior to his arrest he had borrowed money far and wide in Chinatown, owed many large (large for a Chinaman) sums. His horse and wagon were mortgaged; everything else was mortgaged two or three times.

Gooey himself is on the high seas on the way to China, doubtless chuckling to himself and wondering how his friends are going to fight it out. He hasn't much money to the American way of thinking, but what he has will make him independent for the rest of his life in China.

Yesterday the Chinese began a fierce fight for the possession of the remnants he left here.

Worthy Yung Lung served a formal demand on Constable Cline for the horse and wagon now in official hock.

Sad to say, Yung Lung and Ah Lew Suey have fallen into a violent dissention because of it. After the deportation of Gooey, the horse mysteriously disappeared from the corral where Gooey lived, and appeared at Lew Suey's place at Whittier. Yung Lung is unkind enough to say he stole it. Lew Suey says himself that he took the horse on a judgment had against Gooey immediately after he left.

They are all seeking lawyers now to sue Gooey; but a lot Gooey cares.

LITTLE JACK HORNER SITS IN A CORNER.

LITTLE Jack Horner sits in a corner of the blackest, gloomiest, scariest dungeon of the County Jail eating chunks out of the dark.

That is where he went, from being the most petted prisoner in the jail, yesterday, with a sickening swoop.

Jack proved himself a base deceiver.

He was serving a term on the chain gang a while ago, and it palled on his esthetic nature; he picked the locks of his handcuffs and ran away. When they caught him again on East Seventh street, it looked to Jonathan like the dungeon for him.

He could see himself eating bread and water in the "black hole" in the bottom of the jail. It occurred to him that they might soften a little toward a sick man. Before they got him safely back to jail, he was so sick the officers were scared into blue fits.

They didn't dare to put him back in the tanks. They let him stay upstairs in the top trusty tanks until Death should bring its merciful release.

Every time one of the jail officers came by, Horner was found fairly gasping and pawing the air, like a sick chicken in the last agonies of the roup.

He seemed otherwise pretty healthy, and of the special little dainties that the jail cook got up for him he made short shrift. The way he waded into good grub made them think, perhaps, he had tape-worm complications.

Sometimes they almost got suspicious of him, but when they heard him gasping for breath they instantly reproached themselves for a cruel mistake.

At the bat of an eye, old Jack could lay over on his back and gasp like a high-pressure engine with a hole in the boiler. It is not too much to say that he is one of the best old long-distance gaspers in the business.

But vanity in the end made him fall. One of his old pals came to see him yesterday. One of the turnkeys heard him boasting of the way he had the jail officials buffaloed.

"Chee! But this knocks wolkin' for a living," he said. "I git me grub sent in special. I have me luxur'us quarters, and I don't have no wolk with no shovel and no cannon-ball attachments in th' gang."

"How do 'y do ut?" asked his visitor, suspiciously, he having "been there himself."

"All there is to ut is make a wheeze wit y'r mout," said Jack. "I discovered it m'self."

The turnkey gave Jack a glance of deep reproach, and reported downstairs.

Capt. White, the jailer, did Jack the honor to personally escort Mister Horner down three flights of stairs into the dungeons. It is so black down there that you can wad the dark into hunks and play handball against the chill steel walls.

Twice a day a turnkey comes by and silently pokes in a hunk of bread and a tin cup full of water.

Mister Horner doesn't gasp any more.

SUDDENLY RICH.

Poor Woman Working in Laundry Awakens to Find Herself Worth Three Hundred Thousand.

When the little laundry worker, Mrs. Viola J. Webb, read The Times yesterday morning she found herself worth $300,000.

It was her share of the estate of her uncle, Peter W. Kimberley, the disposal of whose $10,000,000 fortune was told of in The Times yesterday in a dispatch from Chicago.

The Webbs now live at the Hotel Roosevelt, a little system of flats on Figueroa street between Third and Fourth streets. Up to a few months ago, she worked at the Excelsior Laundry, while her husband was in temporary financial straits.

Her husband is now in Portland, where he has obtained employment.

Mrs. Webb has two children, a son of 18 and a pretty young daughter, aged 16.

Her father, who has been a poor farmer in Iowa, has inherited $2,000,000 by the same will.

Mrs. Webb is a worthy woman and deserves the good fortune that has come to her.

PUBLIC SERVICE—OFFICIAL DOINGS

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Pool selling at race meets held inside the city limits is legalized in an ordinance programmed to pass the Council this afternoon.

The Sixth Ward is to get the garbage crematory.

The referees in the Arnaz estate filed their report yesterday, and this practically ends the friendly litigation over the large and valuable holdings between this city and Santa Monica.

Frank Hovey, the attorney who became involved in some sensational litigation and had to surrender his certificate to practice, was yesterday reinstated by the Appellate Court in a most ample opinion handed down.

AT THE CITY HALL.

MAY LEGALIZE POOL SELLING.

MOVEMENT TO LIFT BAN FROM PARIS MUTUALS.

Proposed Legislation Would Permit Betting and Sale of Liquor at Agricultural Park During Race Meets—Ordinance is Programmed for Adoption This Afternoon.

Pool selling at race meets held inside the city limits is legalized in an ordinance which was last night programmed to pass the Council this afternoon.

It is the first attempt of the present Council at relaxation toward the "open town."

A permit for selling liquor at Agricultural Park during the coming race meet of the Los Angeles Harness Horse Association is slated to pass the Police Board next Tuesday.

For two years and a half, with but a single lapse from grace, the city has prohibited, by ordinance, the sale of pools on horse races, even though the races be run within the city limits.

It was the adoption of this ordinance that drove Black & Fitzgerald's poolroom off East First street and created Ascot Park. The one exception was the repeal of the ordinance during the harness meet held two years ago at Agricultural Park.

Another harness meet is to be held at the park from July 3 to July 8. It will be under the direction of the Los Angeles Harness Horse Association and it is on application of the officers of this association, all local men, that the ordinance repealing the present prohibitive pool-selling statute is to be passed.

Mayor McAleer, himself an ardent lover of horse flesh and owner of some blooded trotters, has agreed to sign the ordinance in case it passes the Council. He is also favorably disposed toward the proposal to permit the sale of liquor at the park during the meet.

The original anti-pool-selling ordinance was adopted two years ago, on motion of then Councilman McAleer. He led the fight in the Council against permitting pool-selling during ninety-day meets inside the city limits. But he also made the motion on which the ordinance was suspended during the harness meet.

Inasmuch as there is to be another race meet at Agricultural Park this fall, it is doubtful whether the Council will reaffirm the present anti-pool-selling ordinance after the July amateur meet is over.

"The danger of ninety-day meets held by professional race track men does not exist at the present time," said a city legislator last night. "Brooks now has his race track at Ascot Park and only amateur race meets will be held at Agricultural Park. That is the kind of sport we desire to encourage. All the horses entered for the July meet are owned by local men and the element of professionalism will not exist."

The ordinance as drafted yesterday permits only the sale of "auction pools" and "Paris Mutuals."

The liquor selling, which the Police Board will be asked to grant, will be good only during the week opening July 2.

FORT HILL PARK.

COUNCIL IN QUANDARY.

Residents and property owners living near "Fort Hill Park," otherwise known as the old city cemetery, yesterday made an appeal to the Finance Committee of the Council to provide a burial place, somewhere else for the bodies now interred in the old cemetery and to take such other action as will convert the cemetery into a park, in fact, as well as in name.

S. A. Waldon representing the Second Ward citizens told the committeemen that the last Council passed an ordinance, which was intended to be the initial step toward providing a "breathing space" and beautifying Fort Hill, and providing a playground for the children attending the High School. He said that this could not be accomplished unless the present Council takes steps to complete the good work started by it predecessor.

While the Masons, Odd Fellows and other fraternal societies have removed their dead to other cemeteries, a number of bodies, probably 600, still remain in the old burying ground. The citizens think these bodies should be removed, but Councilmen are considering whether it would be a desecration of the graves to convert the cemetery into a park without removing the bodies. New York and a number of other eastern cities have converted old cemeteries into parks without removing the bodies interred there and no serious objections have been raised.

The Finance Committee referred the petition to the City Attorney for a report as to whether the land is all city property and whether there are any reservations affecting the disposal of it.

Lucky Chain Gang Guards.

Granting a petition from the guards of the chain gang, the Finance Committee of the Council yesterday afternoon recommended to the Council that the salary of each guard be increased $15. There are four of them and the new rates gives them $75 a month each.

GOES TO SIXTH WARD.

GARBAGE CREMATORY SITE.

After a tour of inspection of the sites offered for the location of the new garbage crematory, the Board of Public Works yesterday afternoon decided that the most available offers came from the Sixth Ward.

Just which of the Sixth Ward locations will be selected, the board will not divulge. The Second, Sixth, Seventh and Eighth wards were represented in the bidding. Members of the board say that they are in favor of locating the crematory somewhere south of Ninth street, and that as the Sixth Ward has a larger population than any other it is only just and proper that the crematory should be within its boundaries.

The probable location will be in the neighborhood of the Hauser packing plant.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

RESTORES HIM TO PRACTICE.

APPELLATE COURT REMOVES BAN PLACED ON ATTORNEY.

Frank W. Hovey Found to Have Been Victim of Conspiracy Which Resulted in His Disbarment in Maine and Similar Trouble Here. Now Fully Vindicated.

Frank W. Hovey, the attorney against whom charges were preferred by the Bar Association and who surrendered his parchment pending an adjudication of the matter, has again been admitted to practice by the Court of Appeals for this district. In the lengthy opinion, written by Justice Smith, Mr. Hovey is completely vindicated, and the report of Justice M. T. Allen, at that time judge of the Superior Court, and acting as commissioner under appointment from the Supreme Court, to hear the evidence in the matter, is adopted as part of the opinion.

In its inception Hovey's case was of rather sensational interest, for he had been prominent in law and politics in the State of Maine and political spite and malevolence was at the bottom of the charges made against his name. After hearing all the facts Judge Allen scathingly rebuked the bar of York county, Me., and denounced certain attorneys there as blackmailers.

Prior to coming to California, Hovey had been District Attorney and had also served in both house of the Legislature. After a year's residence in Los Angeles he was disbarred in Maine without any notice being given him of what was impending. Then it was that his certificate here was canceled and he returned East in January of last year and jumped into the fight he was making for his good name. After a full hearing the disbarment proceedings were reversed but the Maine bar, on a technicality, prevented his reinstatement on matters in connection with his father's naturalization.

Returning to this State, Hovey sought re-admission to the California bar, but although his application was supported by prominent members of the Los Angeles bar and the bar of the State of Maine—the Grievance Committee of the local Bar Association still saw fit to oppose Hovey's admission, and last June he passed his examination and renewed his fight for admission.

In the opinion now rendered, the Appellate Court pays high tribute to the character of the evidence taken in behalf of the applicant in the State of Maine, and some of the extracts are from noted men. State officials, bank officers, mayors and judges of the Supreme Court of Maine all speak in their depositions in high terms of Mr. Hovey, both as to his legal ability and his character.

WIFE INSANE.

HUSBAND DYING.

With the hereditary taint of mental unrest in her blood, a somewhat overweening belief in her own importance as an English woman of good birth, and a strong touch of the Bohemienne in her manners, Mrs. Lizzie Saal demeaned herself yesterday before the lunacy commission as if the investigation was of little importance to her.

Born at Norwood, near London, Eng., Mrs. Saal came to this country in 1881, and is now 25 years of age. Her father is confined in an insane asylum, and about four years ago she, too, was a temporary inmate of the State Hospital at Patton.

The Saals live on Banning street. The husband is dying from a complication of heart disease and dropsy, and his wife suffered from what the physicians said was a fibroid tumor. About the time that she was to be operated upon her mind again began to give signs of giving way. For hours she would lie in bed reading and smoking cigarettes. Curious desires and beliefs filled her clouded mind, and sometimes she would go about the house in a state of nudity, and at other times she would don the clothes of her husband and masquerade to her own evident satisfaction. It was realized that for Mrs. Saal's own sake as well as for the sake of her husband, she ought to be placed where she could be properly cared for, and Judge York ordered that she be committed to the State hospital.

DIVIDE THE RANCHO.

ARNAZ FAMILY'S SHARES.

The referees in the Arnaz estate reported to Judge Bordwell yesterday, and in all probability that report will be the basis upon which the heirs in the estate will receive their inheritance.

The Arnaz lands lie between Los Angeles and Santa Monica and comprise about 700 acres of fine agricultural land, which is valued at about $140,000. Some time ago a suit was brought by the Senora Maria C. de Arnaz against Louis G. Olivares, Pragades Arnaz de Valla and several others, for a partition of the estate. It was a friendly suit and Judge Trask appointed John Wilfskill, John B. Amestoy and John B. Sanchez as referees to view and agree on a partition of the lands.

Originally the Arnaz lands formed a part of the Rancho Rincon de Los Bueyes, and the widow was left an undivided seventh of the entire holding. In order to partition the estate it has been necessary for the referees to lay out a public road, so that all the heirs may have access to and from a public road. This has been done, a basis of agreement reached, and it only remains for the court to make the necessary order, based upon the terms of the report.

JACKSON FREE.

HAD RECEIPT IN FULL.

Walter Jackson may again delight the hearts of the lady friends who were so much interested in him and his wife, while he was the manager of the Hotel Munn. Yesterday the charge preferred against him of embezzling the funds of the hotel was dismissed and Jackson was set free, and all because a slight mistake had been made.

When Jackson was called upon to make an accounting and get out it was because he had not been acting straight with him employer, who had trusted him implicitly. When the books were gone over it was found that he had embezzled several hundred dollars. Jackson gave a note for $200, and it developed yesterday that Mr. Munn gave, in return, a receipt in full satisfaction of all discrepancies that might be found to exist in the books. In the face of any such receipt as that it was hopeless to prosecute Jackson, so the case was dismissed in Justice Pierce's court.

CITY ENJOINS.

TRACK WORK STOPPED.

Judge Trask has granted a temporary restraining order prohibiting Contractor A. N. Davidson from proceeding with the work of laying tracks on Tenth street, between Vermont and Western avenues.

The application for an injunction was made by City Attorney Matthews, on the ground that the defendant had no right or franchise to enter upon any part of Tenth street. In a long answer, Davidson admits working on Tenth street, but asserts that he has a franchise that was granted to him by the City Council on February 6, last, for which he paid $700, and that on the following day he filed his bond for $10,000 to faithfully carry out his contract. He urges that the franchise is of great value, and believes that great profits will accrue from it.

The contractor asks in turn that the city be perpetually enjoined from interference with the franchise, or the construction and operation of the railway under said franchise. The hearing in the injunction suit has been set for 10 o'clock this morning before Judge Wilbur.

CRUEL WALTER TRASK.

SPOILED FITCH'S FINE SPEECH.

There was a very fine speech in an action for damages tried in the Superior Court yesterday that never was made, owing to the heartless conduct of Attorney Walter Trask.

The closing argument was to have been made for the plaintiff by Col. Thomas Fitch, the "silver tongued" Tom Fitch. The prospect drew many persons to the courtroom. Every one or two Superior Court Judges came in about Fitch-time.

The arguments began with Col. Fitch's colleague—a sensible talk on the facts; it was plain he was leaving it to Fitch to make a brilliant close.

When he closed, Mr. Trask was to follow with the argument for the Pacific Electric Railway Company. Mr. Trask turned in his chair with a smile and said, "We don't care to make any argument; case submitted without argument." Which was the end of Col. Fitch's great speech. It never was made.

The case was that in which J. R. Cocke was suing Mr. Huntington's company because he considered that he had been abused by one of Mr. Huntington's conductors on May 29 of last year. Cocke and a Miss Daley had been to the horse show and were returning to Long Beach. Cocke wanted the conductor to accept two tickets from his book but the conductor refused, explaining that the tickets were not transferable and drawing Cocke's attention to the provisions printed on the back of the coupon book. But Cocke was insistent and refused to pay for Miss Daley or allow her to pay for herself. Then the conductor asked him to arise and permit the lady to get out from her seat, insisting that she must leave the car. Cocke swore that the conductor used violence when he demurred at Miss Daley being put off the car, but the conductor and motorman as well as a passenger on the car denied that he did more than place his hand on his shoulder in motioning him to arise. The difficulty was finally adjusted but some days later the same trouble arose when Cocke and two children were traveling. This time he was handled a bit roughly, and he thereupon brought suit to recover $5000 as damages.

The case went to the jury in Judge Monroe's court at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and less than an hour later a verdict for the defendant was rendered.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

DODDS GETS HIM. Harry Nickers and J. Powers were before Judge Smith yesterday to answer the charge of burglary, and later in the day Nickers returned into court and pleaded guilty, and was then released on probation. He is only a lad, and his employers promised if the court let him go to take him back to work. Probation Officer Dodds is to have him under his care for a year.

TOO CONFIDING. Minnie Way was granted a divorce from George W. Way by Judge Bordwell yesterday, on the ground of adultery. The parties married in Wisconsin in 1880, and the husband was alleged by his wife to have misconducted himself with a young woman who was a guest in the house. Mrs. Way was telling her husband what a sweet and good girl their visitor was, when "hubby" volunteered the statement that she wasn't as good, perhaps, as she seemed. Then, his wife averred yesterday, he made a statement to her upon which the divorce action was based.

IN A COLLISION. B. H. Forbes and Mrs. Clara Forbes have begun suit against the Los Angeles-Pacific Railway Company and the Los Angeles Railway Company to recover $20,500 as damages for personal injuries. Mrs. Forbes was on a car on April 30 that collided with a car belonging to the other defendant company at Sixteenth and Flower streets. She was thrown to the floor and suffered what are averred to be permanent injuries.

INTERURBAN SUED. Annie F. and C. F. Stearns are suing the Los Angeles Interurban Railway Company for injuries alleged to have been received by Mrs. Stearns through the negligence of the defendant. She was riding in a carriage on Temple street, between Fremont avenue and Figueroa street, when a car ran into the carriage, and Mrs. Stearns was thrown to the ground. Damages are asked in the sum of $3000.

HEAVY CLAIM. Ira Curtis Ikner is suing the Los Angeles-Pacific Railway Company to recover $20,000 for personal injuries. On the 14th of March the plaintiff was on a car and desired to alight at Sunset boulevard and Lake Shore avenue. While standing on the step in readiness to alight, it is claimed that the step gave way and Ikner fell to the ground and three of his ribs were fractured.

IN POLICE COURT.

BELL GETS TEN DAYS.

When Frank Bell appeared before Justice Chambers yesterday to be sentenced for having thrown a knife at A. A. Stabin, his father wanted the boy turned over to him.

It appears that the father has not been any too careful of the boy and allowed the latter to do as he pleased, and Justice Chambers told him so. The judge argued that the offense which might have made the boy a murderer was one that needed punishment, for the good of the boy and others of his kind. He was sentenced to ten days in jail, and advised to get out of town when his sentence has expired, in order to break away from the associates with whom he has been leading a hoodlum life.

TALKS WITH TRAVELERS.

E. W. Cronch, a New York engineer visiting in Southern California, tells of the strange pranks that the great metallic works in and about the metropolis have played with commercial electricity.

Said he, at the Broadway Van Nuys yesterday evening: "The wierdest freak that has come to the knowledge of electricians in recent years is the magnetic influence of Bartholdi's colossal statue of Liberty, holding her great torch far above the ship-masts as they pass in procession before Bedloe's Island.

"For many weeks manipulators of wireless telegraph instruments noticed that when ships came within a certain zone all messages seemed to be lost; the most powerful batteries were used, but to no effect, and the receivers remained as silent as before. Finally it was traced to a certain location in the Bedloe vicinity, and then some clever engineer mapped the exact space in which the electric currents seemed to disappear. He found that about the top of the statue of liberty everything appeared to be in a neutral zone; the production or receiving of telegraphic currents was a practical impossibility. Experiments further have proved that Bartholdi's image is an actual magnet, a deflector of vast proportions, taking everything in like a grim and colossal humorist of inanimate nature—the one shining example of woman able to keep a secret.

"In another place, the steel girders of a huge rising sky-scraper became magnetized, and an Irish workman was nearly paralyzed with terror, on dropping his hammer, to see it quietly stick to a perpendicular piece of iron instead of falling through 200 feet of clear space to the earth below. Investigation proved that this particular section of steel was insulated, and had become locally charged, producing stranze and decidedly uncanny electrical effects in the day-time and at night.

"In one part of the New York harbor district an iron bar, projecting a few feet above the ground, presumably above a 'dead man' holding a guy wire for a light pole, became magnetized in the strongest fashion. Knives and even large pieces of iron stuck to it with unrelenting tenacity; every property it exhibited was that of a powerful natural magnet, and while the children on their way to school stopped to play with it until they won strings of tardy marks, reporters of the yellow papers wrote it up in awesome fashion as a genuine eighth wonder of the world. By and by a young electrician, working to discover a leak in a power line, dug down through the sand that hid the base of the pole, and instead of discovering a log found a buried light cable, very badly insulated, and running practically parallel and but a few inches away from his power line. He patched up the insulation, put his power line in a box, and the natural wonder became a very ordinary iron bar.

"Seriously, electricity is becoming a tremendous factor in every line in New York city. It is the most wonderful thing in the metropolis and its vast system of varied works—and therefore one of the industrial wonders of the world.

"Strike electricity from the lists of New York industrial circles, and you would leave work as dead as it would have been two generations ago if deprived of steam.

"Electricity is becoming the universal motive power in the city, the source of light and heat, a remedial agent, a recognized factor in hospital work, a fertilizer in gardens and hot-houses, the power that pulls elevators and works laundry mangles, and the heat-source that in some instances does our cooking.

"With all this, electricity is becoming safer, because in most instances it is not handled in unmanageable voltages, and because its manipulators are learning more about it. Its source is a problem, and for the solution engineers are turning more and more to nature, as in the case of the conservation of Niagara's waters. The sentimentalists may raise all the racket they wish about the ruination of a work of nature, but if that is going to make fuel and light and heat any cheaper in a State where snow and winter's cold bears heavily upon the weak women and little children of the poor, I say for Heaven's sake let it be ruined, and let human flesh and blood be a little more comfortable and materially happier."

GREAT PITCHERS' GAME.

ONE RUN IN TENTH.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8.—Nine innings were played today without a run recorded on either side. Oakland was blanked in their half of the tenth, and the locals broke the monotony in the last of that innings by making two hits, which produced a run. It was a pitchers' game, with both sides furnishing fine fielding. Score:

KNIGHTS-S.V.C.

BASEBALL GAME TODAY.

This afternoon at 2:30 on St. Vincent's field will occur the hotest sporting event of the Knights of Columbus' convention—nothing less than that much-talked-of ball game betwen a picked nine of local and visiting delegates, and the crack St. Vincent's College amateurs, who have just won the intercollegiate championship of Southern California at baseball.

The game looks somewhat one-sided, but in view of the fact that a former St. Mary's College crack, James Flynn will pitch for the Knights, and that a number of other "past greats" of the diamond are in the Columbian lineup, which is to be captained by Ed Moriarty, the former St. Vincent's star, quite a game is expected.

The game will have social as well as sporting features. The college and gymnasium will be thrown open to the visiting Knights, and the Ladies' Reception Committee will serve refreshments. There will also be music by the League of the Cross cadets band.

Following is the baseball lineup:

Knights.		S. Vincent's.
J. Flynn	pitcher	Lane
W. Moriarty	catcher	Campbell
E. Moriarty	first base	Fitzwilliam
F. Byers	second base	McDonnell
Phil Kerr	third base	McCann
M. Sheehan	shortstop	Lamer
William Truax	center field	Peck
W. Seibert	right field	Phillips

Umpire—Phil Wilson.

SWIMMING.

BIMINI TOURNAMENT.

The Bimini Athletic club gave a very successful entertainment last evening at the bath-house west of the city, about 400 spectators being present to witness the various swimming contests. The programme was a very long one and the twelfth event, which was to be a relay race for four teams, had to be postponed until next Thursday night, owing to the lateness of the hour.

The programme and the results, with first, second and third place men, follow:

Fifty-yard race, scratch—Kyle of San Diego, Higgins of Los Angeles, Miller of Los Angeles. Time: 31 1-5.

Fifty yards handicap in heats—First heat, Cline, 38s.; second heat, H. Baker, 36s.; third heat, C. Roach, 38s.; fourth heat, A. Miller, 36 2-5s.; fifth heat, McBain, 42 1-5s. Final, Baker, Roach and Cline. Time: 36 3-5s. Miller won, but was disqualified for starting before his count.

One hundred yards in heats—First, Kyle; second, Loomis; third, Whalen; fourth, Brahm. Final, Kyle. Time: 1:28 3-5.

The other part of the programme consisted of swinging rings by Miller and Connors; trapeze work by Loomis, Clark, Higgins, Arms, Cox and Connors; tandem diving by Cox and Higgins; high and fancy diving by Cox, Connors and Arms and Mrs. Nolan and a form exhibition by Prof. Nolan.

Some of the best swimmers in this collection will pick out teams to compete in the big events to be held at Venice on July 4, where all the good swimmers of the southern part of the State will meet.

GANS AND NELSON.

FORMER READY WITH FORFEIT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] If Joe Gans and "Battling" Nelson are not soon matched for the lightweight championship of the world, it will be no fault of the Baltimorean. Word reached here today from Al Herford, Gans's manager, that if Nelson is sincere in his recent offer to fight Gans, forfeits will be covered at once for a twenty-round contest, 133 pounds at the ringside, in the East or California, within two months.

GOLF PLAY.

CLUB TOURNAMENT.

The Los Angeles Country Club will hold a club tournament on its course tomorrow afternoon and Sunday. The conditions will be thirty-six holes, choice score, handicap medal play, and each contestant must play two rounds of eighteen holes before Sunday evening. Each player may select from his score on the two rounds his best score on each of the eighteen holes, and four prizes will be awarded on the choice score for eighteen holes.

STRIKER ARRESTED.

Unionist Walker-out Accused of Bulldozing Man Who Took His Place, Willing to Work.

William Farr and a gang of union men couldn't stand prosperity at the California Industrial Company's rolling mill, Fourth street and Santa Fé avenue, so they struck because the management would not concede a slight change in hours. The change amounted to just two minutes, but the labor-union men, as usual, insisted on having their way. Failing to bulldoze the manager, they walked out.

William H. Wells, a puddler who refuses allegiance to union bosses, was given the place in the mill, made vacant by Farr, and then that worthy became wrathy. Every known method of intimidation and bulldozing was used by Farr, until Wells sought protection from the authorities, and swore to a warrant yesterday, charging Farr with disturbing the peace. He was arrested by Patrolman Randolph, and was released on bail of $25 to appear in Police Court this morning.

Pen Points

Evidently the thing that turned the trick in Norway was the Storthing.

Russia should quit when she can no longer fight. That time hasn't come yet.

The more the affairs of the Equitable are brought to light, the darker they look.

Vice-President Fairbanks is beginning to show the earmarks of destiny. The "cranks" are trying to get at him.

The Norwegian incident is referred to as a coup d'etat, but it is more in the nature of a habeas corpus.

That Iowa minister who threatens to preach the gospel in his shirt sleeves, doubtless expects to hand out some warm talk.

King Oscar, being a poet, can easily get square with Norway by showing in rhyme that the secession was without reason.

In using a coup d'etat the main thing to consider is whether you can, by use of the coup, coop the other fellow up.

They say that's a good show Portland is putting up. Every Californian who has the price and the time ought to attend it.

It may be, too, that having read King Oscar's poetry, and not liking the feet, the Norwegian's could no longer follow in his steps.

The Chinese even threaten to boycott our kerosene. That will make the Standard Oil Company mad, but China is getting so reckless now that nothing can scare her.

The Russian paper Novoe Vremya says President Roosevelt is "contaminated" by British influences. That's a slick way of throwing two insults with the one throw.

Those who rob a life insurance company are hardly fit to be classed with grave robbers. They not only show no respect for the dead, but they also distress the living.

Too often men go to war first and ask what it is about, afterward. There ought to be strings put on those fellows who sit on thrones, or behind them, making trouble at will and without due consultation with the people.

Some people who are in the habit of keeping cases on the game, will doubtless figure it out that Bryan's new lecture on "Man" was naturally suggested by Grover Cleveland's recent remarks on women.

At first Norway wanted to be a republic, but later she asked for a King. Of course, the Norwegians ought to know what's best for them, but there was a thrill in that idea of another republic being born among the glorious sisterhood—a thrill that we hate to lose.

Some Philippine law students are congratulating the Japs on the ground that their victories "establish oriental prestige." So? We may be compelled to have Mr. Taft deliver a course of lectures to those brown men of ours if this kind of wild talk keeps up.

The attacks of Tom Lawson on Standard Oil and Amalgamated, although they have been renewed, will not attract a renewed interest in a game which the public has come to regard as being so much like three card monte that no living man can tell the difference.

In the grand game of grab, the Kaiser is winning the most points, which is why the other grabbers are so sore. Pretty soon, however, the game may break up in a row, with the guns popping across the table. Then we shall have a few more new heroes, a lot more graves, and widows and orphans too many to count.

Not long ago anybody could do anything to China that he wanted to, and the Chinese would never kick. But now look at them! They're perkin' right up, boycotting us, and talking the sassiest kind of pigeon English at us. What's doing it? How do you account for it? Ask the other yellow man—the Jap. There's the answer.

A Western Pennsylvania brewery has given the local constable an order for 1,000,000 glasses of beer. The order is not transferable, and the man has figured out that it would require 208 years to exhaust his privilege by drinking fourteen glasses a day. He says that's a gentleman's limit and anyone who oversteps it makes a hog of himself.

For an institution that was on the verge of being busted by all kinds of busters, big and little, the Standard Oil Company seems still to be at least able to sit up and take nourishment. It is now engaged in the gentle act of swallowing up all the railways—surface and subway—and all the gas and electric plants of Greater New York. Two Frenchmen of the metropolis, who are named respectively Ryan and Brady, appear to be steering the fodder to the jaws of the anaconda with unerring and inevitable success.

BUSINESS.

After a futile effort at lifting prices, stocks at New York settled to a lower level than before. The Equitable Life controversy is having an effect on the market, as possibly threatening unfavorable and far-reaching results in investment circles.

From general selling; the Chicago wheat market turned extremely strong, owing to a decline of wheat conditions in Kentucky. July closed at 86 1-4@86 3-8.

A PLAN WORTH STUDYING.

A The plan which prominent citizens of Los Angeles are proposing to initiate for controlling the liquor traffic offers a possible solution of this all-important question. This question was by no means finally settled at the recent election. The verdict of the people, in that election, was emphatically declared in opposition to prohibition. The only alternative to prohibition (which the people have refused to stand for,) is regulation, and the only feasible system of regulation includes high license, reduction of the total number of saloons, and strict police surveillance.

These requisites would all be supplied by the adoption of a plan based upon the Gothenberg system, which has been found so effective in Sweden and other Scandinavian countries. Of course, some modifications of the Gothenberg system would be necessary in order to adapt it to conditions and requirements in Los Angeles. These would be a mere matter of detail. The general features of the system would prevail, and there is little doubt that if properly established it would prove effective in Los Angeles.

The good effects of the proposed plan would not be felt all at once. The world was not made in a day, and the evils which have grown up in civilized governments cannot all be eliminated in a day nor in a year. But the beneficent effects of the proposed plan of regulation would be cumulative, and they would tend gradually toward the elimination of the evils of excessive drinking. In fact, the tendency would be to reduce the consumption of alcoholic beverages to the minimum, and to substitute for them light, non-intoxicating beverages. This is surely "a consummation devoutly to be wished."

Among the many benefits of the Gothenberg plan, which we can appropriate for our own good by adopting a similar plan, may be mentioned the following:

1. We can restrict the liquor traffic within a limited area.

2. We can practically do away with the "treating habit," which is confessedly one of the principal evils of the liquor traffic.

3. While private profits from the sale of liquor would be practically abolished, the property of saloon keepers would not be confiscated, but would be paid for at an appraised valuation.

4. A material reduction in the amount of liquor sold and consumed would be effected, almost from the beginning.

5. All liquors sold would be guaranteed to be pure. This would be of incalculable benefit. The consumption of adulterated liquors tends to ruin the health of the consumer and to the enfeeblement of his offspring.

6. Liquor could be sold only for cash, thus doing away with the "credit system," which undoubtedly tends to increase the consumption of liquor.

7. All the profits on the money invested in the traffic, above a fair and legitimate percentage, would go to the making of needed improvements—the building of fine boulevards, bridges, etc.

8. The plan proposed would place the liquor traffic under strict control and supervision, would greatly decrease the amount of drunkenness, would steadily promote the growth of temperance sentiment, and so would tend inevitably toward abstinence.

If, as appears to be the case, Los Angeles can secure all these advantages by the adoption of a modified Gothenberg system, the plan is worthy the most careful consideration of every intelligent man interested in the city's welfare. The plan will naturally be opposed by extremists on both sides; but this fact is no sign that it will not be adopted by the majority of citizens when brought fairly before them for adoption or rejection.

The extremists—the habitual drunkard on one side and the fanatical prohibitionist on the other—are few in number compared to the great mass of sensible, clear-headed citizens. The latter will surely win in any cause which they espouse. If they can be convinced that the Gothenberg plan, with such modifications as may be deemed necessary, is the best plan for Los Angeles to adopt for controlling the liquor traffic, these sober, sensible, judicial-minded citizens will see to it that the plan shall be adopted.

PAUL MORTON'S SUCCESSOR.

It sounds not a little strange to announce that a scion of the great Napoleon is to occupy a seat in the Cabinet, but President Roosevelt has given out that he has appointed Charles J. Bonaparte of Baltimore to succeed Paul Morton as Secretary of the Treasury. Mr. Bonaparte is grandson of Prince Jerome Bonaparte, King of Westphalia, and youngest brother of Napoleon I. His grandmother was the beautiful Elizabeth Patterson, daughter of a wealthy shipowner. He is a graduate of Harvard University and of Harvard Law School, and has been in professional life since 1875. Eminent as a lawyer and publicist he has been a consistent advocate of civil service reform for many years and is now president of the national organization having that object in view.

Though of royal lineage, Mr. Bonaparte does not pride himself on his aristocratic origin, but on the other hand is a man of native republican instincts, thoroughly believng in the sovereignty of the individual. The President and the New Secretary have been friends and closely associated in reform work for many years. When the Machen irregularities were coming to light the President named him as special attorney to ferret out the frauds suspected to exist in the postal department, and the work was so well done that Machen and his confreres are behind prison bars.

A contemporary remarks: "Bonaparte never figured as an aspirant for office, and whatever official honors he has held have been thrust upon him in recognition of his unquestioned integrity and high ideals about public administration. He has entered the fray for or against the Republicans in Maryland as his judgment of political righteousness seemed to dictate."

Mr. Morton retires on July 1 to assume the financial management of the New York Subway Traction System of which August Belmont is president. As he had previously been tendered his former official position in the Santa Fé System, it looks as if he had been lured rather than pressed out of the Cabinet where his associations have been pleasant, and his counsels respected.

WHY THE ROBIN'S BREAST IS RED.

[By the author of "My Maryland."]

The Savior, bowed beneath His cross,
Clomb up the dreary hill,
While from His agonizing brow
Ran many a crimson rill.
The brawny Roman thrust Him on,
With unrelenting hand,
'Til, staggering slowly 'mid the throng,
He sank upon the sand.

A little bird that warbled near,
That memorable day,
Flitted around and strove to wrench
One single thorn away.

The cruel spike impaled its breast,
And thus, 'tis sweetly said,
The robin has his silver vest
Incarnadined with red.

Ah Jesu! Jesu! Prince of Peace!
My doler and my sighs,
Reveal the lesson taught by this
Winged Ishmael of the skies.
I, in the palace of delight,
Or caverns of despair,
Have plucked no thorns from
Thy dear brow,
But planted thousands there.

MEN AND THINGS OVER THE SEAS.

The Spread of Islam.

Some religious papers are expressing regret over the fact that Mohammedanism is far outstripping Christianity in the missionary field in Africa. So overwhelming is the tidal wave of Islam that the indigenous races of Africa, from the Mediterranean to the Zambesi, will soon all be under the banner of the Phophet, small groups around Christian missionary stations alone excepted. While Christianity gains converts from heathendom by slow and laborious efforts, Mohammedanism sweeps over a whole region in a day, so to speak, and gathers every adult pagan into its field. The reasons are not far to seek. In the first place, the faith of Islam is propagated by men of kindred race, speaking similar languages and following similar customs to those in vogue among the communities ready for conversion. Secondly, the untutored mind of the idol-worshiping African can grasp the essential principles of Mohammedanism far more quickly than those of Christianity. "There is no God but Allah, and Mohammed is his prophet"—this formula is the only confession of faith required. Thirdly, Islam does not break up the almost universally prevailing system of polygamy. Fourthly, and perhaps strongest reason of all, the Mohammedans absorv into their social life men of every race and color, absolutely without disability of any kind, on terms of perfect equality.

What Mohammedanism Offers.

In Mohammedan communities of mixed races the jet black negro often occupies a place of higher distinction than the olive-skinned Arab, and there is no barrier whatever to intermarriage and to the most intimate daily relations of every kind. Contrast this with Christianity; the negro knows quite well that even though he were to become a Christian he cannot really enter the family of white men. There is no career open for him there, no society, no tolerance for the immemorial customs of his race, call them vices if you will. So it is not to be wondered at that, when he has the alternative offered to him, he becomes a Mohammedan rather than a Christian. And, be it remembered, once a Mohammedan always a Mohammedan, for the conversion of Mohammedans is just as rare and as difficult as the conversion of Jews. Pride of faith is the very essence of the religion, and this spirit enthuses the newly-admitted just as strongly as those born into the Moslem faith.

A Great Moslem School.

The Mohammedans carry on their propaganda in an unobtrusive but most effective way. At the great mosque known as the University of Cairo there are ten thousand students constantly in attendance. Not only do they come from every nook and corner of Africa, from Morocco, from Nigeria, from the Soudan and from Zanzibar, but there are students from Persia, Afghanistan, India, the Malay archipelago, China and other far-away countries. After two or three years the student has learned to recite the Koran and is acquainted with all the ceremonies of the mosque, also with the laws that are an essential part of the Moslem religion. He returns to his native land, most likely after making the pilgrimage to Mecca, and henceforth he is the most honored among the honored. Such a man among the heathen can make converts by the thousand where the white Christian missionary, a stranger in a strange land and living in an atmosphere of isolation, finds it the hardest of tasks to secure even a handful of followers. This is regrettable, but the truth has to be reckoned with, from the standpoints both of religion and of world politics. For the fact is undoubted, as we have recently seen in Morocco, that there is a strong and rising feeling of resentment in Moslem lands against even the semblance of interference by Christians. Indeed, the "revolt of Islam" may be counted at this moment as a very much nearer danger than the "yellow peril."

Fanatic Afghans.

In this connection it will be noted that the recent British mission to Afghanistan one of the strongholds of Moslem fanaticism, has renewed the defensive alliance between the two countries, but has accomplished nothing more. There are still to be no railways, no telegraphs, no intrusion of Europeans into this land of resolute exclusiveness. No doubt this suits the British programme admirably well, for the aim is to keep Afghanistan as a true buffer state between India and Russia. The persistent construction of Russian railroads in Central Asia right up to the borders of Afghanistan keeps India in a state of constant anxiety and alertness. But so long as the encroaching wedge is not actually in Afghan territory, Great Britain can simply sit tight. It is said, however, that among the defenses of the northwestern frontier of India there are rails, ties, rolling stock and locomotives, all ready to the last spike and the last ton of coal, so that on the first advance of Russia toward Herat a line would be rushed out from British India to Kandahar. The outpost fights for the defense of India would thus be on the central plateau of Afghanistar with the difficult and dangerous passes of the Hindoo-Koosh Mountains as the second line of defense.

The Impasse in Morocco.

Germany has temporarily blocked the way of French reforms in Morocco. Her interference has been enough to rouse all the latent fanatical resistance of Mohammedanism to Christian encroachment of any kind. This had been weakened by rebellion and misrule, so that the psychological moment for French intervention semed to have arrived. Now it will be postponed awhile. But the tour of the King of Spain, first to France and then to England, has sounded a strong note of international amity, showing that these three powers, the signatories of the treaty that gave France political preponderance in Morocco, are determined to hold together in carrying out the agreed-upon programme.

ON JOURNALISM.

[Mail Order Journal, Chicago:] It is due to the foresight of President George A. Gates of Pomona College, Claremont, Cal., that the brilliant and masterful address on "Journalism" delivered to the students by Gen. Harrison Gray Otis, owner and editor of the Los Angeles (Cal.) Times, has been preserved in printed form.

The address is so comprehensive that it touches upon all phases of journalism, the kind that contributes all the strength to a great newspaper such as the Los Angeles Times has become through the genius, as a newspaper man, of Gen. Otis; and contains what will be of greatest import to studious newspaper men—those ideals to which the sincere journalist cleaves who has always in mind what kind of a newspaper, in character and principles, will serve conscientiously the greatest public good.

This address, though in the first instance delivered to students only, now that it has been preserved in printed form, will serve the useful purpose of a text-book to ambitious journalists who have set their eyes upon the distant day when they will own their own newspapers.

An Unknown Land.

Among the visitors at an art exhibition were two old ladies from the country. They were examining with great interets a bas-relief of a young Greek shepherd, beneath which were inscribed the words, "Executed in terra cotta."

"I wonder where Terra Cotta is," ventured the elder of the two, turning to her companion.

"Well, now, I ought to know," hesitated the other, "but I can't seem to place it just now."

"Ah, well," rejoined the first speaker, as they passed on, "it must be a dreadful place if they execute harmless young boys like that there."—[Philadelphia Ledger.

MISTER GURLEY IS NOT SURLY.

THOUGH HE HAS GOOD RIGHT TO BE—READ THIS STORY.

Then Shout, "Glory! but I'm Glad I am not He!"—Transportation Vacation With the Salt Lake (Utah) Jaunt, He's Dispensing—and Commencing to Grow Feeble, Old and Gaunt.

Acting Secretary Gurley of the Chamber of Commerce may not realize it, but nevertheless he is blessed in the possession of a bald head. Only one other man of affairs in the United States, John D. Rockefeller, carries about with himself so hairless and gleaming a pate. Were it otherwise follicular sprouts to the top of him, they would now be turning white with a rapidity startling and a completeness beyond any arrestive agency short of aniline dye.

For Gurley, Esq., is handing out the tickets to such lucky ones of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce as shall depart from this city tomorrow night at 7 and 8:15 o'clock for the tabernacle metropolis of the Mormon commonwealth of Utah—200 in all, with an extra hundred of "outsiders" thrown in to reinforce dignity and encourage hilarity on the trip.

"Whom the gods would destroy they first make mads." It is prayerfully hoped that Fate finds no applicability in this adage to the immediate future of Gurley. But mad he is these days and mad he has title to be. Because he is an intelligent human and acting secretary of the Chamber of Commerce are not good reasons why 20-odd (hyphenated by courtesy) male persons should pounce upon him as though he were a Pullman car porter in disguise and a railway guide en masque. Yet they do. Poor man! Round about his buzzing head writhe such melancholy mottoes of finality as "Hic jacet Gurley," "Pax vobiscum," "Requiescat in pace," and othags of weird and mournful mein.

Jeems Jones, having after strenuous deliberations been nominated to represent on this jaunt the well-known firm of Skyhi, Flyer & Boost, grasps in frenzied clutch of joy the bright-green ticket issued by the Salt Lake Company through Gurley, and gaspingly begs to inquire of said Gurley in one automatic double-action breath whether it will rain next week in Salt Lake or should he take an umbrella, no doubt a lower berth has been reserved for him will he have to pay for that berth and how much surely the company or the chamber or somebody in Salt Lake will expect to refund his fare the amount what time the train ought to reach Las Vegas will there be two engines across the desert or only one what would be a proper tip to the porter if there's going to be any porter to call him in time to see the sun rive above the canyons on Sunday morning ought he get his boots blacked before he starts or will the railroad do that for him by nothing on the way what does it cost to eat in the dining car should he take his overcoat along and how many clean shirts what is the best barber shop in Salt Lake at which he can one put up without overrunning the firm's allowance for expenses anybody but a Mormon going let in to see the Temple why should acting secretary let him have a free ticket then whereinhell do I get it anyhow why is the second section going to pull out behind the first section Saturday night and how am I to be sure his wife won't take the regular train at 7:30 o'clock on the quiet?

Thus, before Jeems Jones can cinch up to another breath and continue his wild inquisitiveness, C. Reginald Beggs comes waltzing up with hand outstretched for the gaudy green and the spirited announcement that he representa Bowgoh, Ponder & Safe; and Mr. Gurley has to go it all through again. "The remarkability of some of the inquisitivenesses perpetrated in my personal presence within the boundaries of the last forty-eight hours," sputters he, "would make an infidel swear."

For Gurley's sake the following paragraph is appended.

Twelve Pullman sleeping-cars, three dining-cars and one or two baggage cars with two Pullman parlor cars to be picked up at Las Vegas, will carry the Southern Californians to Salt Lake. The first section of the special, to be pulled by the Salt Lake's heavy type of Pacific locomotives. In addition to the 200 Chamber of Commerce members, the excursion party will include 120 men—State, county and city officials, and eight delegates from Glendale, five from Long Beach, three from San Pedro, two from Ontario, five from Pomona, five from San Bernardino and three from Colton. Salt Lake City will be reached about 10 o'clock Monday morning.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

An Indignity to Our Regular Soldiers.

PASADENA, May 31.—To the [Editor of The Times:] The widow of a former army officer, who lost his life in the Philippines, last evening attended the memorial service held in the First Methodist Church of Pasadena, a service commemorative, she supposed, of all who had died in their country's wars, whatever their rank, and whatever their title. She cherished the belief, which, I am fain to believe our national government indulged, that we should, that Memorial Day is a day set apart to honor the memory of all good and faithful soldiers. But she found that those who conducted the service last night in Pasadena had entirely different ideas. They declared that Memorial Day is a day sacred only of the Civil war soldier, and exclusively of the volunteer. The regular soldier is not to be mentioned. At the close of a long speech concerning the Civil war volunteer, and including an incidental mention of the naval victories at Manila and Santiago, but with a scrupulous avoidance of any reference to the successes of the regular army in Cuba or elsewhere, one speaker did say that we should consider Memorial Day a day on which to remember all our dead, whether father or mother, husband or wife. But unless we view this brief hour as a gracious permission to include the regular soldier in our memories, he was not referred to once. And, why should he be! The same speaker undoubtedly realized that the regular soldier is a political pull, and seldom does he vote. He does not elect men to congress, pay ministers' salaries. He is apt to be off in some out-of-the-way place, serving his country without favors, and asking no favors; and at the any time in a Philippine jungle, and no politician be the better for it.

The regular does not expect public recognition. He knows better. Long years of fighting the Indians on the plains, of protecting defenseless settlers, and guarding pioneer roads without glory and without gratitude, have taught him what not to expect. Few, save the regular, think now about those Indian wars—of less than thirty years ago—few, save the regular, and his wife, or widow. But there are some who, as they cross the continent in the luxurious Pullman of today, and see the prosperous towns and peaceful villages that dot our land from the Mississippi to the Rockies and the Coast, do not forget that all this prosperity, all this present security is owing to the regular soldier, who lived long years in isolated frontier posts, dispensing with all the comforts and many of the necessities of civilization; who scoured the plains, after hostile Indians, in the dead of winter and under the blazing summer sun; and who too often lay at last face downward on the sod, scalped and naked.

The public, however, has forgotten all that. Indeed, the public never cared much about it; unless the public happened to be some settler whose wife and children the regular had died to save. And now the public cares still less what the regular may be doing. Once in a while one sees in a five-line paragraph in one corner of the daily paper, that there has been fighting in the Philippines, and some soldiers have been killed. But one is not interested. No one is interested, save here and there a desolate woman, and a few fatherless children. Not worth mentioning on Memorial Day, certainly. In fact, we rarely speak of the Philippines nowadays, unless some political issue be involved, or a junketing trip be contemplated. And the regular knows it. He knows as he marches through the fever-breeding jungle and the pestiferous swamp, as he sits in his lonely barracks, eyes straining into the darkness in a vision of his far-off home; as he dies a hero's death, while countless savages hack him to pieces; he knows that the public cares not at all what happens to him.

But he does not know—he did not know—that his glorious record in the Civil war, a record unrivaled by any volunteer; his brilliant achievements in the Spanish war; his long years of noble self-sacrifice in the Indian campaigns; and his present unnoticed heroism, none of them entitle him to be so much as spoken of on the one day in all the year when the soldier is remembered—on Memorial Day.

It remained for the two speakers at the Pasadena Memorial service last night to enlighten the regular soldier in that respect.

It remained for the honorable United States Senator from California [Perkins] to inform the regular, in the only reference he made to him, that the regular army was nothing more nor better than a police force, and that the safety, the honor, and the glory of our country depended entirely on the volunteer. It remained for his clerical colleague to debase the high purpose of a holy day by casting slurs on an ex-President of our country; and lastly, it remained for both the evening speakers to notify the regular soldier, by exclusive praise of the volunteer, and by pointed ignoring of him, that the regular soldier of the United States Army has no part or share in his country's Memorial Day.

[The Times gives place to the above severe, though patriotic arraignment, in justice to the gallant and faithful regular soldiers of the United States, but, in the belief that the unpatriotic sentiments condemned by the orator are not held by right-feeling citizens generally. The man who could withhold due credit from or deny due honor to the regular army is no true friend of the volunteers, for both have wrought and fought side by side in all our wars in defense of the flag, and both are entitled to the everlasting gratitude of the Republic—Editor Times.]

FATAL DRINK IN THE DARK.

Gordon McLean Gulps Ounce of Formaldehyde.

Reaches for Mineral Water, Gets Poison Bottle.

Rich Man Dies Quickly in Family's Presence.

Gordon McLean, a prominent and wealthy mining man of Arkansas, came to sudden death on Tuesday evening by taking a drink of formaldehyde in transparent solution, in place of mineral water, both having been put up in mineral-water quart bottles.

GORDON McLEAN.

The family, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. McLean and their daughter, six years of age, and Mrs. Work, a sister of Mrs. McLean, had returned from a trip to Arizona on Saturday evening last, stopping a day or two at a hotel till their residence, No. 1012 Beacon street, should be ventilated, as on departing for Morenci three weeks ago they had had their dwelling fumigated with formaldehyde to clear it of moths.

On Tuesday evening the party left the hotel and went to their residence, arriving about 7 o'clock, just at dusk. They sat for a few minutes in the library chatting, when Mr. McLean went to the bathroom for a drink of water.

Almost immediately afterward he called out to his wife that he had taken formaldehyde in place of mineral water, and for her to come quickly.

The family hastened to the room, and then Mrs. McLean ran across the street and summoned Dr. D. K. Dickinson, who met her at the door. He grabbed his case and ran over, reaching Mr. McLean within five minutes after he had taken the deadly dose.

Mr. McLean appealed to the Doctor, saying: "Doctor, do something for me quickly!"

Antidotes were administered and the stomach pump applied, but so quick was the action of the poison, paralyzing the action of the heart, that Mr. McLean was unconscious within six minutes, and ceased to breathe in less than twenty minutes. Although other physicians were telephoned for immediately, Drs. Davis, Brainard and Cobb, none of them arrived until after the death. And even so, everything possible had been done by Dr. Dickinson.

The bottle of formaldehyde was labeled, but the label was hidden by the brown wrapping of druggist's paper. It was just dusk, and his haste to quench his thirst Mr. McLean placed his hand on the poison bottle, thinking it a bottle of mineral water. He poured a draught of the colorless liquid into a tumbler, tilted back his head, and swallowed a gulp of the fatal stuff. Before the taste warned him of his fearful mistake an ounce of the poison had passed his throat. Then he cried out for help.

Mr. McLean was born in Nova Scotia in 1842, and came to Morenci when 20 years of age, finding work in the mines at once. From a mining hand he worked his way up to the superintendency of the entire group of mines controlled by Phelps, Dodge & Company in that locality. He was also president of the water company which supplies the towns of Morenci and Newton, president of the Improvement Company with its fine hotel and other enterprises, director of the Gila Valley Bank & Trust Company, and a large owner in the Arizona Copper Company.

He was a "prince among men," with a faculty for making firm and fast friends.

Mr. and Mrs. McLean and their little daughter were devoted to each other. The wife is utterly prostrated with grief.

The funeral will be held from the residence on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock the Rev. W. D. Landis officiating.

In the twenty years of his active career in Morenci Mr. McLean had amassed a large fortune, all of which is left unencumbered to his wife. He leaves a mother, brother and sisters in Arizona, and one sister who resides at the Hotel Afton in this city.

YOUNG MEN'S NIGHT.

Happy Mark Put on the University Commencement Programme by One of the Literary Societies.

A special event in the commencement programme of the University of Southern California was the open meeting of the Aristotelian Literary Society yesterday evening in the college chapel.

The young men of the college who are members of the organization presented a programme differing from former offerings, and the occasion was made memorable by the funny hits and amusing sketches given.

The young men took part in a varied programme of music, dialogues and readings that was immensely enjoyed.

Guy Dyar told of a young man who waited and waited for his girl, who was upstairs dressing for the opera. Messrs. Crist and Hubbard described the attempt of a "cub" reporter to interview a "notoriously" famous man. The audience went into spasms of delight during this production. Charles Scott told about a journey "Up and Down Old Brandywine." The musical part of the programme was sustained by the Prior brothers' quartette and Walter Bridwell; the former sang and the latter played several violin selections. Miss Hazel Hill was accompanist.

The culmination of the entertainment was the graduation of the three senior members of the society, who are leaving the college halls as graduates of the school.

They are Guy Dyar, Charles H. Scott and Waldo Cristy, and to each was delivered a parchment as a member in good standing and as a token of appreciation from the society.

Much interest attaches to the recital to be given this evening by the students of the School of Oratory at the University Methodist Church. An interesting programme is promised.

MINES AND MINING.

YUBA RIVER GOLD MINING.

LOS ANGELES CAPITALISTS AT WORK IN NORTH.

Big Dredging Operations for the Precious Metal in Progress at Marysville — Many Men Working and Thousands Paid Out—Farm Lands to be Exploited.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

MARYSVILLE, June 6.—Los Angeles capital is making itself felt in this section of the country. Three of the big dredges built to remove gold from the bottom of the Yuba River are complete and in operation. One of them is at work in the vicinity of Yuba City and the other two are throwing out vast quantities of sand from the river ten miles above Marysville.

Six more dredgers are under process of construction, and as soon as they are finished eight more will be commenced. At the point where the dredgers are being built quite a little village has sprung up. It is known as Hammon City. At the present time 225 men are employed and as the dredgers are completed the force will be increased. It is expected that by the close of the year fully 700 men will be at work, for all the dredgers will be in operation and men will work in shifts of eight hours each. As the majority of the men employed on the dredgers will be skilled workmen, the pay roll will mount up into the tens of thousands each month.

For months representatives of the Los Angeles syndicate have been prospecting this section of the country. Things must have been to their liking, for bonds have been taken on large tracts of farming lands in Sutter and Yuba counties, and the knowing ones say that the bonds will be taken up when the time arrives. In portions of Sutter county it is certain that gold exists in large quantities under soil that has borne wheat and fruit crops for many years, and it is purposed to recover this gold with dredges, or steam shovels.

On Sucker Flat, adjoining the town of Smartsville in Yuba county, the prospectors have also been at work and the results of their operations were gratifying. Some years ago a great deal of gold was taken out of the ground in this vicinity by the hydraulic process. It is said by experts, however, that the quantity already taken out is small indeed when compared with what still remains in the earth and it is proposed to recover this gold by up-to-date methods.

Los Angeles men are certainly planning to cover a large section of country and they are spending immense sums of money in their preliminary work.

BUILT UP HER HEALTH

SPEEDY CURE OF MISS GOODE

She Is Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and Writes Gratefully to Mrs. Pinkham.

For the wonderful help that she has found Miss Cora Goode, 355 E. Chicago Avenue, Chicago, Ill., believes it her duty to write the following letter for publication, in order that other women afflicted in the same way may be benefited as she was. Miss Goode is president of the Bryn Mawr Lawn Tennis Club of Chicago. She writes:

Miss Cora Goode

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I tried many different remedies to try to build up my system, which had become run down from loss of proper rest and unreasonable hours, but nothing seemed to help me. Mother is a great advocate of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles, having used it herself some years ago with great success. So I began to take it, and in less than a month I was able to be out of bed and out of doors, and in three months I was entirely well. Really I have never felt so strong and well as I have since."

No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular menstruation, backache, bloating (or flatulence), leucorrhœa, falling, inflammation or ulceration of the uterus, ovarian troubles, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences, and be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Her experience is very great, and she gives the benefit of it to all who stand in need of wise counsel. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Said a Manufacturer recently:

"We believe we have the finest product in our line, but our growth is limited because the trade is already overstocked and we must regulate our output by the demand."

Whose demand?

The dealer can be induced to order small quantities of a good thing, but he has no time to force their sale. This happened to be a grocery specialty and the grocer is busy selling the things his customers ask for. In any busy day there is little time for argument or for missionary work, and, if there were, why should he be expected to give it?

THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL could make these goods known to five million people and wanted by an interesting percentage of them.

The consumer's response to the manufacturer's convincing appeal will make the output limited by the production capacity —and by nothing else.

CAPITAL STOCK - - - - - - - - - - - - - - $100,000

PAR VALUE ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS PER SHARE

INCEPTION . . . . .

The directors of the Golden Bay Land Company have realized that a comprehensive organization was needed to place before the public a practical plan which would enable the small investor to reap the advantages resulting from a combination of capital. Owing to the rapid rise in values of desirably located realty, which demands an ever increasing amount of capital to handle, the investor of moderate means is being crowded from a very profitable field.

SOUND ORGANIZATION . . . .

The Golden Bay Land Company provides means for the small capitalist to retain his foothold, and also the assurance that his moneys will be invested so as to yield the largest possible returns consistent with absolute safety. The careful investor fears nothing in modern corporation management so much as the tendency to inflate and "water" securities. This company is, and must always be free from this danger. All its shares, with the exception of one for each director, are placed upon the market, and every dollar invested receives the careful consideration of expert knowledge and conservative judgment.

DIVIDENDS AND PROFITS . . .

The profits realized from the investment of funds received from the sale of shares, are applied first to the payment of 8 per cent. on the stock. In addition shareholders are entitled to ONE-HALF OF ALL EARNINGS distributed as dividends, in excess of the regular 8 per cent. dividend on the stock.

This, in itself, is sufficient guaranty of a sound and successful conduct of the company's affairs. Only the highest class properties will be handled. The directors have appointed the Guaranty Realty Company, of Ocean Park, as exclusive fiscal agents, thus assuring unusual facilities for keeping in touch with realty conditions and the trend of increasing values.

PROTECTION . . . . .

The Golden Bay Land Company's principal is safeguarded by its conservative investments and by the guarantee of the Guarnaty Realty Company, a corporation with a paid up capital of $50,000. There is therefore a two-fold security back of this stock.

EVENTS IN LOCAL SOCIETY.

All women in entrancing garden gowns and hats vied with each other and negro voices sang sweet plantation melodies beneath the spreading trees and bright flowers at a garden party given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. A. J. Chandler, Mrs. W. Britt and Miss Constance Britt, in the beautiful home of Mrs. Chandler, 1321 Vermont avenue. Over the grass were Indian rugs and gay Japanese parasols, and under the shade of a willow tree, a dainty tea table was spread, where tea was served from quaint 1830 fashion, with beruffled skirt and sleeves, all edged with satin ribbons and finished with soft lace. A toque of pale blue and white was a fetching finish to the costume.

Mrs. Jefferson Paul Chandler was handsomely attired in steel gray silk with trimmings of elegant lace and spangles. Her hat was of white roses. Mrs. Mary J. Schallert wore white with lace and blue panne velvet trimmings. Mrs. Jefferson D. Gibbs wore blue and white chiffon with lace trimming and black velvet ornamentation and a hat adorned with sweeping plumes. Mrs. Olin Wellborn was attired in a handsome gown of gray-shot lace with real face trimmings.

Mrs. Joseph Kingman was one of the daintiest of young matrons, attired in a lovely frock of pale pink accordion-pleated silk, and a hat of black straw trimmed with pale pink roses and plumes was effective.

Mrs. John W. Mitchell wore a pale green crêpe over silk and a hat adorned with tiny white roses. A pale pink parasol covered with rich Malta lace completed the fetching garden costume.

Miss Dorothy Parry-Jones wore a frock from England, made of lavender and white-flowered silk and trimmed with heliotrope velvet. Mrs. Charles Ensign wore blue and white organdie and pale blue hat. Mrs. Barrett of Hollywood wore a beautiful gown of white embroidered swiss made en traine, and with this was worn an exquisite half coat of real lace over silk and trimmed with billowy ruffles.

Mrs. Matthew Robertson wore black liberty satin trimmed with hand appliqué. Mrs. D. H. Barmore was attired in coffee-colored chiffon trimmed with brown velvet and wore a stunning hat of yellow roses and brown plumes. Mrs. Farwell wore pink and white organdie and a cloak of lace and chiffon. Mrs. Sheldon Borden was handsome in green silk with lace and hat of pink roses. Mrs. Frank Ing wore white and green with lace trimmings. Mrs. Valentine Peyton's gown was imported net embroidered by hand with lilies in green and white. Miss Eva Elizabeth Keating was Frenchy as ever in a frock of white organdie and pink roses, with a coquettish hat of lace and roses. Miss Pearl Seeley wore white and green silk with hat of pale green and plumes of white. Miss Edith Campbell wore white and pink chiffon with black picture hat and gloves. Miss Isabel Works was attired in pink and white gown with lace ornamentation. Miss Agnes Bethune wore white net and Miss Hazel Benton wore an elegant gown of white lace over pale pink. Mrs. C. P. B. Bartlett wore pale gray silk mousseline with lace trimming and touches of pink. Mrs. William H. Fuller was attired in a charming little gown of pale blue silk crêpe and wore a toque of the same dainty shade. Her sister, Miss Frances Nicholson, wore white chiffon and real lace. Mrs. Fielding J. Stilson wore blue and white silk and a coat of black lace. Mrs. A. L. Danskin was attired in black and white mousseline with lace trimmings. Mrs. Moye Stephens wore blue silk and lace. Mrs. William Read was attired in pale pink and blue.

Altogether it was one of the loveliest affairs of the whole week, and society congratulated the hostesses on this most delightful of "al fresco" affairs.

Sarah Goodrich. Presiding at the tea tables decked with yellow coreopsis and tall grasses were Mmes. Olin Wellborn, Ben Goodrich, Albert M. Stephens and A. L. Danskin. Young girls who assisted in serving refreshments were Misses Isabel Works, Lita Murrietta, Lila Hawkins, Evelyn McCauley and Agnes Bethune.

Beneath the trees were stationed members of De Nubila's orchestra, who discoursed sweet music, while farther on a quartette of negro singers sang sweet old plantation melodies.

Many new and stunning frocks were seen, making a dash of gay color over the greensward.

Mrs. W. L. Graves wore a particularly handsome gown of white French embroidered swiss over lavender silk, with beautiful lace and lilies. Mrs. Frank Flint was charming in a sweet frock of blue-figured mull made in Lovely Girl Recovers.

Miss Genevieve Vallette Oliphant, who as one of the "Oliphant Sisters" has been well known throughout the world for her sweet singing of the real old-fashioned hymns, and whose tender voice has perhaps thrilled many a hardened heart is slowly recovering after a severe operation. For ten days she lay at death's door at the Good Samaritan Hospital, but will be soon able to see her many friends. Miss Oliphant is a daughter of P. T. Oliphant of this city and a sister of Mrs. O. F. Coe. Miss Oliphant has studied vocal culture in San Francisco, New York and London and has sung before many great and prominent people beside having given music for many temperance and evangelistic meetings and is known widely for her sympathetic and birdlike notes.

The nurses and patients of the Good Samaritan Hospital tell a pretty little story of this young girl, who on the day of her operation came there and before going to the operating table sang sweet old hymns to the listening patients, many of whom turned away with tears at the sight of the fair girl from whose throat came the most liquid tones on the eve of her illness.

Miss Oliphant was on her way for a trip around the world with her sister, Miss Minnie Estelle Oliphant, when her sickness overtook her and she came home from England to undergo the operation which has made her well again, much to the joy of her many friends.

Luncheon of Fifty.

Wednesday afternon the California Badger Club enjoyed the third annual luncheon at the Hotel Leighton, over fifty women seating themselves at the beautifully decorated tables. Each one of the small tables were shining with golden petaled daisies and ferns, the colors of the club and seated about them were lovely women radiant in dainty spring frocks. Over the cloth were scattered pansies and tiny blooms.

Mrs. W. F. Pleas was a gracious toastmistress introducing each lady with a few clever remarks. Mrs. A. B. Gray responded to the toast "Forward," which is the club motto, and "A Few Suggestions" given by Mrs. H. W. Pettibone were particularly to the point. Poetic and inspiring was the toast, "A Winter in Wisconsin" as given by Mrs. Edward C. Dieter. Mrs. W. W. Neuer gave a "Dream of Fair Women," a jolly doggerel verse filled with clever hits and quips about everybody. Mrs. E. B. Bohan responded to "The Evolution of Woman's Clubs" and Mrs. Etta S. Young recited "My Ship" (Ella Wheeler Wilcox) and Mrs. Clarence C. P. B. Bartlett the successful president who has just refused to run a second term made a most pleasing and gracious speech thanking the members for their unity and kindness to her while in office. Mrs. Bartlett has served for the past year and has been a most efficient and capable president, and it is with much regret that the members give her up.

For Bride-elect.

Mrs. George R. Murdock entertained yesterday afternoon at her beautiful home No. 2627 West Adams street in honor of Miss Coral Simpkins who is to be married to Ray Cogswell on Saturday evening. The affair was in the nature of a variety shower and the bride received all sorts of pretty and useful gifts.

The home was converted into a bower of gay blooms. In the drawing room pink and white sweet peas were effectively massed and the library was abloom with yellow coreopsis and ferns. In the dining-room a pretty scheme in red sweet peas was carried out. The round table was ornamented with a cluster of deep red sweet peas and ferns and lights were shaded with red. Mrs. Murdock was assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Lillian Murdock, and by Mrs. L. Osborne and Mrs. J. S. Whisler. About forty guests were entertained.

Arrived in City.

Mrs. Mark B. Lewis of Birmingham, Ala., arrived in the city on Wednesday morning accompanied by her son, Harold and her baby daughter Mildred. Mrs. Lewis is the guest of her father, R. H. Howell of West Seventh street, where she will remain through the summer. Mrs. Lewis' many friends will be glad to know of her arrival as during her residence here she was one of the most popular of matrons. Noted for her beauty she was one of Los Angeles' most beautiful and successful Fiesta queens who held sway over all for a brief few days.

Collegiate Play.

Miss Parsons and Miss Dennen of the Girls' Collegiate School have issued invitations for the graduating exercises which are to take place on Wednesday evening at Cumnock Hall.

Perhaps the prettiest part of the graduating will be the play to be presented by the school on Monday evening in the rear garden at 6:45 o'clock. The play was written for the class by Miss Grace Atherton Dennen, and is said to be a clever little skit entitled "The Players."

Knabe

Pianos

Have won the highest attainable place in the estimation of those who have carefully studied them. Eminent musicians and all those ready to acknowledge marked superiority have recognized their superlative qualities and have paid them unstinted praise. This has been done only because the Knabe piano is a wonderful and original creatoin, imitating none but possessing many features entirely its own.

The Knabe of Today

The Upright Knabe is a universal favorite, and the factory is taxed to its utmost capacity to meet the constant and ever-increasing demand.

The Concert Grand Piano has received the choicest encomiums everywhere. DAlbert, Von Bulow, Hambourg, Sauer and others have repeatedly expressed their preference for this matchless instrument.

The Baby Grand Piano reproduces the features of the Concert Grand on a somewhat smaller scale, being one of the choicest products of the House of Knabe.

The Knabe "Mignon" Grand is probably the most perfect miniature grand piano in the world. Hambourg himself says he finds in it all the supreme merits of the Concert Grand.

We take other pianos in exchange, and make reasonable terms on the balance.

GUILT HINGES ON TICKET.

MORTON'S PRELIMINARY TRIAL AT SAN BERNARDINO.

Alleged Robber and Pepper Thrower Seeks to Establish Alibi but Has Failed to do so, Except for a Period Outside of Which the Offense Was Committed.

SAN BERNARDINO, June 8.—The preliminary examination of C. W. Morton, charged with being the red-pepper thrower who on the night of April 6 last robbed George Dreasher of $140, was commenced this morning.

Dreacher in court positively identified the accused. The defense, in an effort to prove an alibi, placed several saloon men and others of Manvel and Searchlight on the stand, who accounted for Morton's presence in Manvel and Searchlight from April 3 to the morning of the 5th, but from the afternoon of that day until the afternoon of April 7 he has been unable to account for his whereabouts.

The theory of the prosecution is that he came to San Bernardino on the afternoon of April 5, committed the robbery on the night of the 6th, and the same night caught a train back to Manvel.

His guilt or innocence now hinges on the identity of the person who on the afternoon of April 5 bought the only ticket sold by the Santa Fé from Manvel to San Bernardino.

This ticket bearing the purchaser's name is now in the office of the company's auditor, and will be produced by the District Attorney at the examination either tomorrow or Saturday.

ALLEGATIONS OF FRAUD.

The Verde Antique marble claims, situated in the Silver Mountain district, this county, have become a bone of contention between Frank A. Kimball and Herbert W. Tridley on the one hand and F. W. Keeney, S. E. Fulton et al. on the other, and a suit to quiet title has just been filed in which sensational charges are made, the plaintiffs, Kimball and Tridley, declaring that the defendants have located the Alamo Consolidated marble mine on the Verde Antique group and by fraudulent affidavits filed with the General Land Office have secured a patent upon the property. The group was originally located in 1889 by A. W. Anthony, and the Verde Antique Marble Company formed to develop the property, the incorporators expending upward of $50,000 on improvements. The defendants bought into the company, and now it is claimed that without consent of the plaintiffs they filed locations on all these improvements as the Alamo group, and made affidavit before the Land Office that the development work so far done has been performed by the Alamo Consolidated Marble Mine Company. Besides suing to quiet title, plaintiffs also pray for damages and an accounting to the sum of $5000 for marble which was disposed of by the defendants. These mines are reputed to be among the finest in this county.

NOT OUT OF DANGER.

Jack Krauth, who was dangerously stabbed by a miner named Muldoon at Daggett the other night, is still in a critical condition at the County Hospital. This morning Muldoon was brought to the County Jail, having been committed under $500 bonds to answer a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. The prisoner is known as "Muldoon, the Man Eater," on account of his fighting proclivities. After he stabbed Krauth the latter gave him a terrible thrashing, and his face is still black and blue from the punishment he received.

MINOR MENTION.

The Board of Education has set the date for the High School commencement for Friday evening, June 16, and the ninth grade commencement for Thursday afternoon, June 15.

Henry Ward has commenced suit against the Out West Mining Company to recover $422.95 alleged to be due for labor performed on the Jumbo and other mining claims located at the north end of Providence Mountain, about four miles easterly from Government Holes, on the desert. He also sued for attorney's fees in the sum of $200.

The home of Clark Craig was destroyed by a fire of unknown origin shortly after midnight last night. Craig is absent on the mountains, and his wife disappeared from her home months ago with her children, leaving a letter for her husband which indicated that she had eloped with her entire family, four or five youngsters. Craig claimed his brother was the incentive.

FAIR ONES ARE IN DISMAY.

OFFICIAL HAND IS HEAVY ON REDLANDS CLUBHOUSE.

Women's Gathering Place is Pronounced a Fire Trap in Certain Parts and Its Use is Interdicted Until More Exits Are Provided. School Year Ending.

REDLANDS, June 8.—Dismay has struck the hearts of the committee of Redlands clubwomen who are responsible for the handsome new Contemporary Club House, a structure completed last spring from Architect Benton's plans at an expenditure of about $25,000, and which the ladies flattered themselves overtopped, for just-rightness, anything in Southern California outside of Los Angeles.

But now appear on the scene those members of the Board of City Trustees who compose the Committee on Public Buildings, and officially pronounce the gallery of the big auditorium a fire trap, and interdict its use until more exits are provided, and those now in use straightened.

SCHOOL YEAR ENDING.

Class day exercises this year at the Union High School will take place in the auditorium the forenoon of June 16, and will be followed by a luncheon, at which the graduates will entertain the faculty. Perhaps the most interesting number of the morning programme will be the presentation to the school of the handsome upright piano which the class is leaving as a farewell gift, and which was purchased with the proceeds of the play, "The Merchant of Venice," given a few weeks ago at the Wyatt. In the evening a reception will be tendered the graduates by the juniors at the High School building.

Commencement exercises will be held the evening of the 20th inst. at the Wyatt, the address to be given by someone from out of town. The senior ball is scheduled for the following evening at the Contemporary Club House.

COLTON.

JUNCTION CITY NOTES.

COLTON, June 8.—The twelve young ladies and young men who compose the class of 1905, of the Colton High School have issued invitations for their commencement exercises, which will be held at the City Hall on Monday night, June 19.

Work on Colton's new hotel is progressing rapidly, and, in the hotel line as in other ways, this city has a brighter prospect for the coming fall and winter than perhaps ever before.

Miss Sara Hewton of Grand Forks, British Columbia, who was formerly a teacher in the Colton schools, expects to spend the summer with her sister, Mrs. James Barnhill of this city.

D. C. Johnson and family left this week for Des Moines, Iowa. They expect to return in about three months and locate in California.

HANCOCK TO BE TRIED SOON.

FULLERTON RECEIVES NEWS OF ALLEGED MURDERER.

Man Charged With Brutal Slaying of Dr. Engelke and Peter Edminston of Riverside on the Nevada Desert Years Ago, is to Have His Trial in About Ten Days.

FULLERTON, June 8.—A letter was received here today from the District Attorney of Lincoln County, Nev., saying that the trial of John Hancock, charged with murdering Dr. Engelke and Peter Edminston of Riverside, has been set to begin about the 19th inst. There will be one or two witnesses from Orange county and the things found on the dead men will be taken along to be used by the State in its case.

The District Attorney says he has a double guard over Hancock day and night to try to keep him from attempting to escape or trying to commit suicide.

FULLERTON JOTTINGS.

Andrew Graham, aged 70, stepfather of W. A. Barnes, of Fullerton, died at his home in Olive last night.

Rev. J. M. Taylor, pastor of the M. E. Church, has commenced the publication of a paper here to be known as the Pacific Pentecost.

Miss Clara Tripp of Los Angeles will have charge of the Latin and German department in the Fullerton Union High School the coming term.

SANTA ANA.

FOUND HIS HOUSE LOOTED.

SANTA ANA, June 8.—C. H. Taylor of Westminster, returned home last night from a two weeks' stay in Santiago Cañon to find that his house had been ransacked and denuded of much of its furnishings. Lace curtains, furniture, new singer sewing machine and many other articles were missing. Investigation today showed that the machine had been offered for sale at the People's Exchange, ten days ago by an unknown youth, who left it and he went to get a bill of sale, but never returned. Taylor is unable to give any clew as to who might have ransacked his home, but from the description of the person who offered the machine for sale, suspicion points to a young man who recently left for Oregon.

BOAT FOUND ADRIFT.

A new boat, drifting without any equipment of sails or oars, was discovered several miles out to sea from Newport Beach yesterday by Jerry Marenovich, a deep-sea fisher. The appearance of the craft indicates that it has been lost from some vessel or blown out to sea from some port further up the Coast.

NEW BEACH JOURNAL.

Articles of incorporation were filed today for the Huntington Beach Times Publishing Company with the following directors: W. T. Neland and O. H. Huber of Huntington Beach, S. H. Finley of Santa Ana, H. S. Hazeltine of Smeltzer and E. W. Hoag of Long Beach. The capital stock is $25,000 of which $17,850 is subscribed in equal shares by the five directors. The company has purchased the plant of the Huntington Beach News and will issue a paper to be known as the Huntington Beach Times. E. W. Hoag will have charge of the plant.

ORANGE COUNTY BREVITIES.

The Chamber of Commerce last night submitted reports for the improvement of East Fourth street, by paving it from French street to the depots. The Chamber voted to take up the task of interesting property owners in the movement and a committee is at work on the project today.

Prompt work of the Fire Department at 4 o'clock this afternoon saved a two-story house and barns of Stephen Ross, a mile south of town, on Main street, from destruction by fire. A blaze was accidently started in a field of barley stubble south of the house and was rapidly fanned by the breeze into what threatened to be a serious conflagration.

Carl J. Houser, an Anaheim youth of 19, who stole a bicycle and sold it to the constable at Los Alamitos, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of grand larceny in the Superior Court this afternoon. He was given the minimum penalty of one year. He will be taken to San Quentin tomorrow by Constable Ruddock of Fullerton.

RIVERSIDE.

SNUBBED THE CORONER.

RIVERSIDE, June 8.—Trouble is brewing between the Salt Lake officials and the Coroner. After the fatal collision, Tuesday, when the bodies of Carey and Seiser were removed from the wreck, they were ordered taken to Riverside before Coroner Dickson arrived on the scene. Dr. Dickson says he was not notified at all of the wreck until hours later, when a friend told him what had happened. It is supposed that Dr. Kendall, the Salt Lake Railroad physician, ordered the bodies removed. Dr. Dickson ordered the train crews of both trains to remain in town until after the inquest, but the order was not obeyed. The Coroner feels that the law has been violated, but inasmuch as the statute contains no penalty clause, he does not know what he can do about it. The matter will be considered at the adjourned session of the inquest.

INDIANS GRADUATED.

The first exercises in connection with the commencement exercises of the Sherman Institute were held this afternoon. Superintendent Hall had issued a number of invitations to the citizens of this city to witness the drill and other commencement exercises today and tomorrow. The programme today consisted of an exhibition military drill by companies of boys and girls; May-pole dance, by the kindergarten children; band concert; inspection of buildings, exhibit of pupils' work; mandolin and guitar concert, by Indian girls. The May-pole dance was one of the most unique features ever seen in this city, and the little pupils, in their neat white dresses, formed a pleasing picture as they danced around the great pole. The commencement exercises will be held tomorrow evening.

VISITING SUPERVISORS.

The Supervisors of San Bernardino county were the guests of the local board today. They were met at Arlington and conducted in automobiles to the various points of interest about the city. The morning was occupied in examining the County Hospital, Courthouse and Sherman Institute. After a luncheon the party inspected the West Riverside bridge.

FINAL CUP DEBATE.

The final debate for the Swing Cup between Corona and Riverside High schools will take place Friday evening at the High School building. The previous debates were won by these two High schools, and tomorrow night the contest will be decided. The question for debate is "Woman's Suffrage," Riverside upholding the affirmative and Corona defending the opposite side. The judges are E. H. Jolliffe of Ontario, Judge West and Samuel M. Davis of Santa Ana.

RIVERSIDE BRIEFS.

Last evening, in the guest chamber of the Glenwood, Edward P. Hopkins and Mrs. Myrta L. M. Correl, formerly of this city, were united in marriage by Rev. E. F. Goff of the First Congregational Church. Mr. Hopkins is the City Auditor of Pasadena.

Crawshaw, of the Bureau of Forestry is here, making an examination of the territory situated southeast of the San Bernardino Forest Reserve and northeast of the San Jacinto Forest Reserve with a view to determining the advisability of its being included in the forest reserve system, if it should be found valuable as an essential part of the natural water-shed, and as such, suitable to be placed within the forest reserve control the order will be issued. The estimated area of the land which is under consideration is 400,000 acres.

DENY THEIR GUILT.

Pat Forth and Ed Jackson, two well-known young men of this place, have been arrested, charged with burglary. They were captured at Camarillo two days ago and brought to Ventura on the charge of entering the residence of Mrs. Woods of that place in the absence of the family, where, it is alleged, they broke open a trunk. The boys had their preliminary examination before Justice Boling today. They said they went to the house to get a drink and seeing a canteen on the table through a window, they entered by the back door after knocking in vain for entrance. They drank from the canteen and departed. The court took the matter under advisement.

DID A WORLD OF GOOD

Made a Happy Man Out of a Most Wretched Dyspeptic.

The Tonic Treatment Cured Mr. Miller of Stomach Disorder, Heart Pains, Dizzy Spells, Weakness.

Easy to get, hard to get rid of; that is what most sufferers think of dyspepsia. They are astonished when their stomach begins to trouble them seriously. They can't think of any adequate cause. Everything was going all right, when suddenly it began to go all wrong.

They had been eating hurriedly and irregularly for a long time, to be sure, but they supposed their stomach quite used to that. Why should it give out all at once and make them restless and sleepless and faint and dizzy?

The situation is simply this. They have used up the strength of their stomach just as a man may use up his capital in the bank. Everything goes on just the same until the money is all gone; then, suddenly, he is in trouble if he does not know how to find more cash right away.

Some people know that the strength which the weak stomach needs, and for the lack of which the whole body is suffering, can be found surely and quickly in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a preparation known in medical circles as the greatest blood and nerve tonic.

"My indigestion," said Mr. Miller, "came in the first place from the fact that, a few years ago, I worked a great deal at night, and ate at any odd hour whenever the chance came, and always very hurriedly. One day I found myself a victim of terrible dyspepsia. It kept me miserable all the time for several years. Sometimes the doctor's medicines would help me for a little while, but they were never able to conquer my ailments."

"What was your chief trouble?"

"I always had a great deal of distress after eating, and when I got up from my sleep my stomach would be so weak that it would hardly take any food. I had very uncomfortable feelings about my heart, and was dizzy and, whenever I stooped over and then straightened up, my eyes would be badly blurred."

"When the doctor failed to cure you, what did you do?"

"I looked around to find a remedy that had actually cured somebody else, and I was lucky enough to stumble on the statements of several persons who had got rid of obstinate stomach troubles by using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I bought some and they did me a world of good. They acted promptly and did just what was claimed for them.

"Have they rid you of your ailments?"

"I have no more distress after meals; the bad feeling has gone from the region of my heart; the alarming dizzy spells have disappeared, and I am strong again. I take the pills occasionally yet as a tonic and am always ready to give them the highest praise."

The home of Mr. J. R. Miller is at Dayton, Va. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained at any drug store. They can be used with safety for any length of time as they contain no harmful drugs. A diet book of great value to dyspeptics can be had free by writing to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

We will examine you free and show you the proof of our cures here in the city for 11 years' successful work without one failure.

Weakness

This trouble—the bane of men of all ages—we cure. Our treatment is direct, effective, and the cure sure and lasting. We take pleasure in making clear to every man who calls for consultation the cause, the course and the outcome of his particular case. There is no charge for consultation.

Contracted Diseases and Blood Poison

These troubles are thoroughly understood by Dr. Harrison and his associates. For over 21 years they have successfully treated this class of troubles. Experience, founded on a thorough medical education, has brought to them perfected methods by which they can positively promise a cure.

Unlike Most Treatment

MINE IS FOR THE EXACT CAUSE AND STRIKES AT THE VERY CORE OF DISEASE

I can say with safety that there are few cases that will not respond to it under my personal care.

TWENTY YEARS AGO guessing was not more common than today; such methods, though, are the direct cause of chronic troubles for which a permanent cure is looked upon with doubt. Have you been treated by mail, by guess? Have you met with failure? The undisputed high standing of my treatment for men is in itself a recommendation. In functional derangement of the reproductive system it restores perfect physiological conditions. It is rare to find a case so chronic that it will not respond to my personal treatment.

Functional Weakness

My treatment for functional decline of "Weakness," as termed by some, is the result of twenty years' special work in functional disorders; the results I obtain are by direct methods and are not in common use. They are more satisfactory, more lasting and more certain than those obtained by common methods. My treatment is best given in person, for I can see and know that each application has the desired effect.

I cure Rectal, Kidney and Bladder Troubles, Varicocele, Stricture, Piles, Fistula and Blood Diseases, Wasting, Nervous and Chronic Conditions and Prostatic Disorders.

THROOP SENDS OUT ITS CLASS.

FASHIONABLE PASADENA DOES HONOR TO GRADUATES.

Commencement Exercises Last Evening Attended by All Who Could Get Into Opera-house — Burke Resigns as City Commissioner and is Going Abroad.

PASADENA, Office of The Times, 24 M South Raymond Avenue, June 9.—Of exceptional interest were the eleventh annual commencement exercises of Throop Polytechnic Institute, held this evening in the Lowe Operahouse. The audience that tazed the capacity of the house assembled to honor the graduates and to listen to the excellent programme.

Chiefly the feature of the evening was the address of Seward Simons of Ithaca, N. Y., an educator of note. Getting away from the usual hackneyed style of speech, Mr. Simons exhorted the graduates that their education was not to be individual possession, but an asset of the whole community.

"Your education is of no use unless you do something for the betterment of humanity," said the speaker. "Be something, then. Be somebody. Remember that an education that is not backed by integrity of character falls short of its purpose. There are too many 'smart' people already. It used to be that a business man considered that a boy had to start in at the floor in order to gain a business education. But events have proved that training in a technical school like Throop has come to be recognized as a force by the world of commerce."

The musical interpolations of the programme consisted of music by the Throop Mandolin Club under Edward Ehrke; vocal solos by Revel L. Edwards; 'cello solo by Ralph Feuerstein and Throop Glee clubs. The invocation was delivered by the Rev. Dr. A. Haimes, pastor of the West Side Congregational Church. President Edwards presented the thirty-two graduates their diplomas, and addresses to the graduating classes were delivered by Dr. Norman Bridge, president of the Board of Trustees.

Following is the list of graduates:

Manual School—Manual training, Mabel Rush, James Collins Miller, Ida Rose, Harry Murton Snell; domestic economy, Lillian Frost, Laura Rose Rees, Mary Stratton Mosher, Ruth Estella Story, Lulu Arnold Hall.

Academy—Eugene Bettanjer, Roderick Burnham, Dora Mabel Clark, Florence Dain Coonradt, Kathryn Leonard Fleming, Clarence Harlow Frink, Ruth Goodspeed, Mary Lou Hall, Mary Bonnell Hyde, Mabel Marsh, Ralph Rudd, Robert Alden Painter, Ruth Phelps, Arthur Wells Reeves, Mae Swerdfeger, Ruth Swigart.

Normal School—Vivian Mabel Bell, Delbert Samuel Beals, Ruth Bowman Crowley, Clarence Frink, James Henry Gillmor, Ruth Goodspeed, Anna Belle Hall, Ellis Agnes Nichols, Birdie Pratt, Franklin Jason Russell, Nellie Saunders Ward, Neta Guirado.

BURDETTE WILL RESIGN.

Robert J. Burdette yesterday sent a letter to Mayor Waterhouse tendering his resignation as a member of the Board of Police, Fire and Park commissioners. Notwithstanding the differences between the two regarding administration of the police department Mr. Burdette stated emphatically last night that the resignation was caused by his leaving the city for an extended period, and that he did not think it just for him to absorb the office as a "vacation."

"I can state officially as coming from me that I do not resign for politics," he said. "If I were going to stay at home I should hang on to the office for dear life. Seriously, it is a matter of regret that I take this step, and I insist that there has always been the pleasantest of feeling between myself and the rest of the commissioners. However, I shall be gone from the city for three months, and I think that is too long to ask for a vacation."

Mr. and Mrs. Burdette expect to leave Monday for an extended tour abroad.

FOR MANUAL TRAINING.

Yesterday's meeting of the Board of Education petitions numerously signed were presented asking for the introduction of manual training in the grammar schools. While declaring unofficially in favor of it, the board decided to take definite action until after the election of the body next month. The plan, on foot is adopted, one or more schools in manual training will be established. A special committee will look into the advantages of the system and prepare an estimate of the cost of the latter to be presented to the board before the yearly budget for next year's school expenses is made up.

TABLE SOUTH BANQUET.

The business and professional men of South Pasadena gathered around the festal board at the Hotel Green last evening on the occasion of the annual banquet of the Progressive League. Guests were present from Pasadena, Alhambra and Los Angeles, the affair was largely of the nature of a meeting of friendly interests among the towns and cities represented. L. Oliver was toastmaster and Mayor Waterhouse, Carson, O. R. Dougherty and Walcott were among the list of speakers.

ALUMNI BANQUET PLANS.

The meeting of the Pasadena High School alumni yesterday, called by President Benjamin E. Page, chairman of the executive committee, arrangements were made for the annual banquet, which will be held on the evening of June 23, probably at the Casa Grande hotel. The following committees in charge: Arrangements, Miss Sickle, Miss Marie Markham, Miss Briggs; reception, Miss Ruth Beach, Miss Mary Mosher, Miss Ethel Wood, Miss Fordyce Grinnell, Miss Lois Baldridge, Miss Edith Rose, Miss June Chapin, Miss Emma Lee, Miss Alice Johnson, Mrs. Pratt, Miss Lucas Seyery, Louis Angier, Miss Weight, Harry Ross, Volney Kellogg; programme, Miss York, Miss Marion Craig, Miss Reynolds, Miss Marie Bell and Miss Rose Higley were appointed to assist the secretary, Miss Beach.

MUCH IN LITTLE.

The Raymond Hotel will close on October 1, in order to facilitate construction of the proposed new west wing.

Dr. Pierce, of Pasadena's Chinese colony, has gone into a flutter yesterday over the visit of Inspector Tuttle, who is taking the annual census of the foreigners.

Rev. J. E. Wishart, pastor of the United Presbyterian Church, has accepted a call to a chair of theology in the Xenia, Ohio, Theological Seminary.

The aggregate of building permits for the first six working days of June in Pasadena was $65,000.

The annual exhibition of work of pupils of Throop Institute takes place today, from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m., in East and West halls and in Stickney Memorial building.

OCEAN PARK.

NOTES FROM THE BEACH.

OCEAN PARK, June 8.—The "Welcome" arch that involved Ocean Park and Santa Monica in a bloodless battle, causing the older city's Mayor to resign and later to change his mind, was all but erected on Pier avenue again today when a change came over the spirit of its dreams. The Business Men's Association has determined to discard it entirely and erect in its stead a steel arch of graceful design.

The Navy Department reports that no warship will be available on July 4 to participate in the celebration on this beach.

Efforts are being made to organize a Good Roads club here to work in harmony with El Camino Real Association.

When the Community League held its regular meeting last night W. S. Vawter, who had the week before been elected to the presidency for the ensuing year, tendered his resignation. M. R. King was elected to the vacant position.

The Golden Bay Land Company has perfected organization by the election of T. H. Dudley to the presidency, J. W. Evans is the secretary and Wilmot Griffiss, treasurer. The corporation is capitalized for $100,000.

The statement is given out that the Los Angeles-Pacific electric line will build another double track from Venice to Vineyard, thus giving four lines from the city to the beach.

A freight depot is being built at Venice by the electric road for the accommodation of the rapidly developing traffic.

A grand chorus of 1000 children's voices is one of the attractions promised by the musical department of Venice for the approaching assembly.

Great preparations are being made for the Columbian ball in the Auditorium tomorrow night. It is being given for the pleasure of the delegates to the Knights of Columbus convention.

J. D. Mercereau is the contractor for the repair of the Los Angeles outfall sewer at Hyperion. The price is $4416. This pier was damaged by the stormy seas of early spring.

MONROVIA.

LIBRARY SITE RIVALRY.

MONROVIA, June 6.—The Carnegie Library promised Monrovia is not to be hid under a bushel if present plans of the library trustees and several patriotic citizens are carried out. As the building is to be a $10,000 gift, and the city will pay $2000 for a site, the libraries trustees are cooperating with Capt. A. H. Johnson to secure sixteen city lots in almost the center of Monrovia through donations.

A block on Primrose avenue, between Palm and Lime, is the site which the library trustees hope to obtain. The plan is to place the library in the center of this and have grounds for a park place in the city. The value of the land is estimated to be $7000, if bought for this purpose. It is the only plat of this size close in and has been held for high prices by the owners, who are willing to accept a lower figure for the Carnegie project.

At last night's meeting of the Board of Trustees, they agreed to postpone consideration of bids for the library site, in order that the ladies of the library board might complete their plans.

Another element in the city is pulling to get the building on Myrtle avenue, the show street. The library trustees are made up of members of the Saturday Afternoon Club, which founded the library. They are Mmes. W. F. Marshall, G. W. Black, M. H. Chamberlain, A. E. Cronenwett and A. Marian Shrode and Miss Harriet Hutchin.

Five hundred volumes, many of them rare and valuable, have been added to the library through the administrator of the Jennie Kendall Stickney estate, according to the late Mrs. Stickney's bequest. The library trustees also have made arrangements for fifty volumes of late fiction to be placed at the library for rental. It is of a character, which they do not feel justified in buying, but which is demanded by many readers.

GOOD WATER FLOW.

The gratifying announcement that from the cañons alone, Monrovia is drawing at this late season 73 1-5 inches of water, indicates the benefit that has accrued from the winter's rains. This course supplies in all 91½ inches, but a part of the flow is diverted to the Bradbury lands adjoining the city. The city has systematically repaired cañon pipe lines the past few weeks, and the saving of water has been noticeable. Few ranchmen have yet commenced to irrigate and no water has been pumped from Chapman wells for the use of the mountain irrigating system.

BONDS FOR SALE.

The City Trustees advertise for sale this week two series of city bonds. One series is for $2000, par value of each share $200, and interest 5 per cent. These are to buy the site for the Carnegie Library. The second series is of the same denomination and interest, but amounts to $6000, in the aggregate and will be devoted to the purchase of iron pipe for laying within the city of Monrovia.

SOLDIERS' HOME.

SUCCESSFUL REVIVAL.

SOLDIERS' HOME, June 8.—The daily revival services conducted in the Home Chapel, by Evangelist G. W. Wilson of Chicago, are meeting with good results. The attendance from the opening meeting on Sunday has been fully up to the expectation of Mrs. D. F. Hill, under whose direction all evangelical meetings here are conducted. Dr. Wilson's discourses are interspersed with illustrations and catchy anecdotes, which interest his hearers, and make plain the moral they are intended to convey. Mrs. Edith O. Hester of Los Angeles, who is possessed of a pleasing soprano voice, assists in the music.

HOLLYWOOD.

HARDAWAY-JONES NUPTIALS.

HOLLYWOOD, June 8.—The wedding of Miss Mary Carroll Jones and John C. Hardaway took place in Los Angeles last evening at the residence of the bride's aunt, Mrs. W. B. Percival at No. 1003 Westlake avenue. About twenty friends were present. Mr. and Mrs. Hardaway will live in Hollywood on Selma avenue near Hudson.

TRIED TO LEAP TO HIS DEATH.

DRUG-CRAZED PRISONER SAVED BY AN OFFICER.

Was Caught on Step of Rapidly Moving Car Just as He Was in Act of Jumping Off—Mysterious Woman Placed Under Guard All Night.

LONG BEACH, June 9.—Deputy Marshal Al. Stevens had an exciting experience today, on a Pacific Electric car, with Albert Sollender, whom he was taking to the County Jail to await trial for vagrancy. Sollender is a cocaine fiend and had been without the drug for two days and was nearly crazy. Stevens placed his man inside the car, remaining outside, but keeping an eye on the prisoner. Just beyond Compton, Sollender started for the front of the car. Stevens was after him like a cat, and reached the platform just as Sollender, on the lower step, attempted to leap from the car, which was speeding along at forty miles an hour. Stevens got a grip on Sollender and jerked him back from certain death. Sollender declared that his craving for the drug was such that he was willing to take chances to escape. He was landed safely in jail.

WHO IS SHE?

Last night Officer Folsom found a woman stowing away her baggage in one of the telephone booths in the depot pavilion, and evidently preparing for bed. She said she had no money. Folsom attempted to reason with her, but she gave no coherent answer and said her name was "Sister Clara." Quarters were found for her at a rooming house, but a few moments later she made a rush down the street, bareheaded, ran to Ocean avenue and attempted to board a passing freight train. She was taken back to her room and kept under guard. This morning Folsom took her to Los Angeles to try to find her friends. The woman has been here a few days, staying at various lodging houses, where she gave the name of Mrs. Hilion. She says she is a physician and surgeon. To the officer she said she was one of the Knights of Columbus excursionists.

DID AS HIS BROTHER.

Three months ago, at the Artesia home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pierce, their daughter, Lulu, was married to Timothy Todd of Tropico. Last evening the remaining daughter, Ella, married George Todd, brother of Timothy. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Wesley K. Beans of Long Beach. Many guests were present from Los Angeles, Long Beach and Artesia.

HAS BARRETT SKIPPED?

J. S. Barrett, the contractor who brutally horsewhipped Charles W. Stewart, a real estate man, some weeks ago, and was fined $500 and thirty days in jail by Justice Young, but released on $1000 bond pending an appeal has not been seen for a few days and the rumor is current that he has left for parts unknown, to avoid not only his sentence but to escape a damage suit to be instituted by Stewart. Barrett's friends deny this, however, and say that he has gone away by advice of his physician.

LONG BEACH BREVITIES.

While Wharfinger John C. Baker was raising the heavy swinging doors of the sun pavilion this morning, one of them fell, and cutting his helmet in two, made a scalp wound and lacerated his arm.

Miss Esther Armstrong, who was injured by falling from an electric car Sunday night shows but little improvement.

At a meeting of the City Trustees today a contract was agreed to between the city and George Beard to build the superstructure of the pavilion auditorium for $24,000, with E. M. John, A. M. Goodhue, Timothy Stephens and Richard Laynes, sureties on the bond. The work is to be completed in 100 days.

City Treasurer Charles H. Heartwell has been granted three weeks leave of absence. W. A. Kennedy will act as deputy City Treasurer during his absence.

POMONA.

AFTER TELEPHONE COMPANY.

POMONA, June 8.—The city administration is after the Sunset Telephone Company on the question of a franchise for operating in this town. Several years ago the Sunset did not renew its franchise and it is represented that by so doing the company evaded the payment of 2 per cent. of its gross receipts into the city treasury.

The Home Telephone Company is paying 2 per cent. of its earnings into the municipal strong box and the City Trustees argue that the Sunset should also do so. That company argues that it does not have to take out a franchise.

The trustees have asked the Sunset Company to have a representative appear before the board on the 15th inst. It is said that if the company does not renew its franchise the city fathers will proceed to declare the company's poles and wires now in the streets a public nuisance, and fight the question out on that point. City Attorney Loucks thinks the company can be compelled to take out a franchise.

The 4-year-old son of Azra Crabbs met with a serious accident yesterday, while climbing in the pantry at his home on North Garey avenue. The little fellow fell, striking on his head and causing concussion of the brain and total blindness. The attending physicians hope the blindness will be only temporary.

The traveling section of the Ebell Club of this city has elected the following officers for the new year: Curators, Mrs. W. H. Poston and Mrs. L. B. Suiter; secretaries, Mrs. Ferdinand Davis and Miss Clara Furner.

The Menceley Quartette of Chicago gave a concert tonight in the operahouse, under the auspices of the local W.C.T.U.

Mrs. Carlton Leaver entertained the Shakespeare Club and friends this afternoon at her home on Holt avenue.

Arthur McDonald Dole and wife are on their return trip home. They are now voyaging from Aukland, New Zealand, to Honolulu and will reach Pomona, some time during July.

EL MONTE.

FOOTHILL PARAGRAPHS.

EL MONTE, June 8.—El Monte is to have a local paper, known as the El Monte Gazette. The first issue will appear Saturday. H. G. Comfort, a recent arrival from Canada, is the editor.

A Fraternal Brotherhood lodge was organized last night at Cave's Hall, with ten members.

The closing exercises of the Mountain View school will be held Friday evening. The graduates are Irene Cogswell, Neva Moses, Jennie Mills and Harold Cogswell.

The new Methodist church is nearly completed and the opening service will be held June 25th.

J. Brewster of Pasadena bought of H. F. Coffin twenty-six acres in Walnut Place, for a consideration of $4550.

SANTA MONICA.

TEN WILL BE GRADULATED.

SANTA MONICA, June 8.—There will be graduated from the Santa Monica High School tomorrow night a class of ten—nine of whom are young ladies. The salutatory, "The Real Value in an Education," will be delivered by Ethel Shanks, and the valedictory, "Russia's Part in the Early Settlement of the American Coast," will be by Bonnie Barrow. The address to the graduates will be made by Lee C. Gates, the presentation of the class by Nellie Barnhart, and the presentation of diplomas by W. E. Devore. The music will be by the High School orchestra and the Euterpean quartette.

A companion court of the Independent Order of Foresters was instituted at Columbia Hall this evening. The officers were installed by high officers and a degree team from Los Angeles.

SAWTELLE.

RUSHING HOME TROLLEY.

SAWTELLE, June 8.—The Los Angeles-Pacific electric line has established material yards here for the distribution of ties and rails for the extensions now building to the Soldiers' Home and Santa Monica, via Westgate. The laying of steel was commenced today between Sawtelle and the home and ties are being distributed all along the route.

H. K. Laird, for six years deputy constable at this settlement under H. I. Pritchard, has tendered his resignation. No appointment of a successor has yet been made.

The Pacific Land Company's new one hundred acre Nevada avenue subdivision, lying between Sawtelle and Santa Monica, has been named "Fairmount Villas," and is being surveyed and platted.

DAILY REPORT OF THE ORANGE MARKET.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] California oranges tend upward at auction sales, and even though sales are moderately heavy, the outlook favors steadily increasing prices on sound fruit of all grades. Fancy navels are becoming scarce, and buyers are willing to pay good prices for them. Wholesalers say that business is good, but that purchasers are taking only small lots. Retailers find their business restricted somewhat by competition of other and cheaper varieties of fruits. Foreign lemons have advanced 40 to 50 cents a box during the past three or four days.

NEW YORK CITY, June 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Twenty-eight cars sold at auction today.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

The produce market was more active yesterday and prices were well maintained, except where the receipts were unusually heavy and the demand moderate.

The arrivals of strawberries were 700 crates of Monetas and 2500 trays of Tropicos, the former weak at 4 cents, and the latter 4 to 5 cents. The Monetas were jobbing at 1.10 to 1.20 a crate; blackberries and loganberries, 1.00 to 1.10. English gooseberries, 1.25 to 1.40 or 8 cents a pound; Northern currants, 8 to 10; local, 12; red currants, 50 to 60 cents.

Cantaloupes were jobbing at 1.50 to 1.75. Peaches were inclined to go off on liberal receipts, jobbing at 75 to 1.00.

Pineapples were moving at 60 cents a dozen.

Apricots were abundants and jobbed at 45 to 60 cents.

The arrivals of cherries were 275 crates, but much of the stock, which came from Santa Cruz, was in poor condition. The demand, however, was active, and Black Tartarians jobbed at 1.10 to 1.25; bulk, 90 to 1.00.

The Northern crop of apples, it is reported, will be the largest in the history of the section. A small shipment came in and sold at 1.00 a 20-lb. box, northern.

Mexican watermelons are jobbing at 3 cents a pound, and the first car of the season of the Cuillan product arrived and met a good buying interest at 3 to 3½ cents.

Tragedy plums from Vacaville jobbed at 1.50 4-basket crate; Clymans, 75 to 1.00; and Mikados, 1.00.

Figs were steady at 5 to 6 cents; beans weak at 5 to 6, and cabbage hardened 1 to 50 cents. Cucumbers were steady at 1.50 to 1.75 for desert; tomatoes, 1.25 to 1.75 for local; asparagus, 10; and summer squash, 25. Old potatoes were jobbing at 1 a hundred, but Colorados were selling at 1.40 to 1.50; Wisconsins, 1.65; new potatoes, 1.50 to 1.75.

Two or three cars of Eastern cheese, twins and daisies, are expected to arrive in a few days, and will be placed on the market, probably at 18 cents. The cheese market is firm on Eastern, there being at present very little for sale.

Butter was in improved demand at the advanced price, and very little was put in storage.

The egg committee's prices are 20 and 23 cents; but few dealers are selling higher than 22.

The Produce Exchange reported receipts for June 7 as follows: Beans, 219 cases; butter, 18,563 pounds; cheese, none; fruit, potatoes, 131 sacks; sweet potatoes, none; onions and beans, none.

Fish receipts were light, except in bonita, Northern receipts were liberal, and crabs were in plenty.

NEW YORK MARKETS.
SHARES AND MONEY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, June 8.—There was an abortive effort to stir up activity in the stock market in the first hours of today's session, which resulted in lifting a few stocks to a considerably higher range of prices prevailing at the close. The movement flattened out completely, and subsequently settling of prices to a lower basis was due as much to inaction in the market as to any actually adverse influence. The opening advance had its incentive in the higher level for London prices, based on the belief in a more hopeful outlook for peace. Although the prospect for peace is ascribed to the initiative of the American government, the interest manifested in the matter by the stock market is of the most languid character. The split in peace views is purely sympathetic with London, and the actual transactions for foreign account here were insignificant in amount. The small selling attracted by the higher range of prices, however, united some additional attempt to move the market upwards. The efforts centered on a handful of stocks, amongst the coalers and Southern railways, and including Amalgamated Copper. The operations in the Southern group were attributed to a newly-formed pool, or a revival of an old pool. Very favorable showing of gross earnings being made by the railroads in that region were made the basis of the movement. The large production of anthracite is a favorable factor for the coalers. The movements attracted no important following. Very favorable conditions in the growing crops were reported, but a sufficient period of uncertainty remains before the harvest to prompt a delay in forming definite conclusion on the outcome. The inertia of the United States Steel stocks was almost complete, influenced by the absence of any indications of revived activity in the iron markets. This proved a burden on sentiment towards the whole market. The slow fight which is being dragged out in the Equitable Life still exercises a repressive influence on the stock market, and causes a dread of possible unfavorable results of a far-reaching character in the investment demand for securities in the futures. The rise in call money rates was attributed to the re-distribution of funds on deposit, which are the proceeds of the Japanese loan subscription among various financial institutions, and the intimation was conveyed that these funds are likely to be left on deposit here for an indefinite period. Discount rates declined in London, and foreign banking houses were reported as placing loans in this market. Stock commission houses also have funds to lend, owing to the extreme dullness of the stock market. The hardening of the call-money rate was regarded as purely temporary. Only a remnant of the day's gains was preserved, and the average level of prices was insignificantly changed from last night. The peace rumors made the Japanese bonds strong. The bond market generally was dull and steady. Total sales, par value, $2,730,000. United States 2s registered advanced ¼ per cent. on call.

PORT ITEMS.

WEATHER: Clear at 5 p.m.; wind southwest, velocity 16 miles.

Demand for lumber vessels continues brisk and even at the present high rate it is hard to secure vessels. The Dollar Steamship line has canceled the Nome charter and the steamer Robert Dollar, and she will be in the San Pedro lumber trade.

Captain Bulger, master of the steamer Prosper, has been censured by Capts. Bulger and Dalton, United States inspectors of boilers, for crossing the bows of the steamer Endeavor at a distance which threatened the safety of both vessels on April 29 last. The captain says that they found that he passed much closer than was prudent. Capt. Bulger is blamed, as he had the whole channel to pass by.

Captain Frank M. Berg has replaced Peter Williams as master of the schooner Monterey. Mr. Williams has been succeeded as master of the schooner Adeline by Thomas H. Bell. L. L. Meyer has been enrolled as master of the schooner Commerce, and Andrew Nelson of the steamer Celia.
